MY UPSIDE
PRAYER

I'll never forget the first time I saw a harp. I was walking by a music store with my mother and it was there in the window, tall and golden. I knew, then and there, that I wanted to be a harpist.

But, my heart sank, for I knew my parents could afford neither the instrument nor the lessons. I started to pray every night to God to send me a harp.

Nothing happened. My small spirit rebelled, and I blurted out to my Sunday School teacher that my prayer hadn't been answered. My teacher was a wonderful woman. She just said, "You've been going about this in the wrong way, Ann. You've been demanding something of God. Don't you think it would be better if you asked Him?

Her quiet words made an impression. The tenor of my prayers changed. And the teachings of the Church meant more to me than ever.

Well.— in time, I did become a harpist. Recently, I played my first concert. And as the great, golden instrument came to life beneath my fingers I hoped that the angels, too, were smiling.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Valley Farmer and Homemaker Dinner Set at RRV Shows

One of the topmost events highlighting the 1964 Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston, February 22 - March 1, will be the 26th annual Valley Farmer and Homemaker "recognition" banquet.

The annual event, honoring sixteen farm families—one from each of the Red River Valley counties—will be held on Thursday, February 27, at 6:00 p.m. in the dining hall of the Northwest School and Experiment Station.

A number of leading citizens of the Valley gather to honor the sixteen farm couples who have been selected, by special county committees, for their proficiency in farming and for their record of community citizenship.

Stanley J. Wenberg, vice president of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, will be the speaker. The "recognition award" plaques will be presented by Olaf C. Solne, president of the Red River Valley Developement Association.

Pennington ARC Aids in Entertainment Program

Thrills and delights of the circus—from the high wire acts to the clowns—will be shared this month by more than 700 children and adults from Minnesota's institutions for the mentally retarded.

Residents from the Cambridge and Faribault State Schools and Hospitals and the Owatonna State School, many of whom have not been outside an institution in years, will attend the Shrine Circus in the Twin Cities February 27-March 4, compliments of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children (ARC) and Minneapolis and St. Paul Shriners.

In answer to questions from taxpayers in the Grygla school district, a statement has been issued by the Grygla board of education, according to Kenneth Rusten, principal at the school. The official statement is as follows:

"To clarify a statement in regard to a Goodridge-Grygla reorganization proposal, the Grygla board of education states that they have not been approached, do not approve, and do not know about a Goodridge-Grygla reorganization proposal that taxpayers of the area have been questioning."

Last Tuesday the executive secretaries of the Marshall, Roseau and Beltrami county survey committees met in Thief River Falls to review the contents of preliminary reports from the three counties on the Grygla-Gatzke-Skime school reorganization proposal.

The three reports were in agreement recommending the proposal, Rusten said, and will be made into one report to be presented to the advisory committee on school reorganization in the State Department of Education.

WINNER of the Homemaker of Tomorrow award at the Goodridge high school is Miss Faye Stucy, daughter of the Malcolm Stucys of that community. Her entry will now go into state competition.

Thief River Falls Chapter of the Future Farmers of America will observe National FFA week in several ways this week. The national observance is being held February 15-22.

Window displays have been arranged at Northern and Union State Banks as well as in display cases at the high school building. A radio program has been planned and a two-page advertisement sponsored by cooperating merchants is published elsewhere in today's issue of the Times.

Theme for the annual event this year is, "Agriculture"—Dynamic..Challenging". A basic requirement for membership in the FFA is that a boy must be a student of vocational agriculture in high school, although he is permitted to retain his membership for three years following graduation.

Vocational agriculture students study the techniques and science of agricultural production, receive training in marketing and other phases of farm management, study soil conservation and improvement, learn about farm mechanics and the selection, care, maintenance and operation of modern farm machinery.

The FFA is the national organization of farm boys studying vocational agriculture in public secondary schools. It is voluntary and is designed to develop agricultural leadership, character, thrift, scholarship, cooperation, citizenship and patriotism.

Paul Brown is advisor for the Thief River Falls FFA chapter and the vocational agriculture instructor at Lincoln high school. Present for the double-ring ceremony were about 125 guests. White gladioli and red carnations in floor baskets, and in altar arrangements, white candles in candelabra, and red roses with white ribbons on the pews decorated the church for the ceremony. Mrs. Leland Steen served as organist, playing Lohengrin's Wedding March, and accompanying vocal soloist Mrs. E. T. Gorman, Excelsior, sister of the groom, in her rendition of "Song of Ruth" prior to the service. "We Three Are One," by Saterer, as the couple knelt at the altar, and "The Lord's Prayer". The recessional was by Mendelssohn.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was attired in a gown of white satin designed with a fitted bodice with neckline and skirt front applique. The full skirt flowed into a chapel train. The shoulder-length illusion veil fell from a crown of tiny crystals and seed pearls. Her cascade bouquet was of small cranberry red roses and white mums, with accents of ivy.

Her matron of honor, a sister, Mrs. Donald Jorstad of Williston, N.D., and bridesmaids, Miss Cheri Ann Odegaard of Devil's Lake, N. D. and Miss Karen Flegel of Minneapolis, wore street-length dresses of cranberry red satin brocade. Their headpieces were of matching brocade topped with red brocade roses and red net veils. They wore white satin shoes and carried bouquets of small red roses and white mums in cascade arrangement similar to that carried by the bride.

Robert Johnsrud of Minneapolis, a friend of the groom, attended as best man, while the groomsmen were Anthony Beyer and Robert Lindberg of Minneapolis. Ushering duties were shared by Wayne Oberg and Walter Odegaard Jr.

The bride's mother was in a blue knit dress with silver colored accessories, and a black hat. Mrs. Schlechter wore a knit suit of cranberry red and a matching hat and accessories. Their corsages were of white mums.

A wedding dinner was given for the bride and her party at her home and for the groom and his party at his home, and the reception, given by the bride's parents, was served by Mmes. J.O. Botten, Wesley Johnson, Rudolph Sagmoen, Tom Belland, Clifford Larson, and Carl Green. The four-tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Gil Sannes, was iced in white and trimmed with cranberry red roses, with a golden Christogram at its tip. Decorations for the reception carried out the red and white Valentine theme. There were 125 guests, and they were registered from Thief River Falls, Minn., and from Devils Lake, Grand Forks, Fargo, Minot, Dahlen, all in North Dakota; Minneapolis, St. Paul, South St. Paul, Red Lake Falls, and Bemidji, Minn.

For their wedding trip to Canada and North Dakota, the bride chose a blue knitted sheath dress with accessories in a silver color. They are at home at 1916 Columbus Ave. South in Minneapolis, as of Feb. 15.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, and on January 25 received her Bachelor of Science degree in elementary education from the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks. Medical Mirror

AGE AND HEIGHT

Q. People seem to get shorter as they age. Why?

A. Between each bone in the spine there are moist, spongy discs (intervertebral discs) that act as shock absorbers. In later life these discs tend to lose water and shrink. Since there are 23 such discs in the vertebral column, very slight shrinkage of each disc would cause loss of an inch or more in height. There is also a tendency for the shoulders to bend forward so that the elderly person becomes round-shouldered. This tends to accentuate the actual loss in height.

SPRAINS

Q. Which is better for a sprain — hot or cold applications?

A. Cold for the first 24 to 48 hours, then hot. Just after a sprain, the tissue in and around the joint has a tendency to bleed and become swollen. Cold applications help reduce bleeding and swelling. After a day or two, hot applications can be used to help soothe the pain. If there is much swelling and pain, see your doctor. He may want to x-ray the joint.

The real "miracle" of today's medicine is that so much cure costs so little.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. S. E. POLLMAN

Are meatless meals synonymous with Lent at your house? A good many homemakers are looking for something new in that category during this season, and in today's and several forthcoming columns we plan to feature several of these ideas. This series was contributed by ladies of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Our homemaker's name is undoubtedly familiar to most of our readers, her husband being one of our community's esteemed doctors. They are "spaghetti eaters," according to Mrs. Pollman, and this unusual dish finds particular favor at their table.

LENTEN "MEAT" Balls

1 cup ground walnuts
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
½ medium onion, chopped fine
1 cup dried bread crumbs
1 clove garlic, chopped fine
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
3 eggs

Mix all ingredients well. Form into balls, and brown in hot fat. Place in heavy saucepan, and cover with tomato sauce made by combining 1 large can tomato juice and 1 can tomato soup. Simmer ½ hour, and serve over spaghetti. More sauce may be needed, depending on the amount of spaghetti needed to serve your family.

The Pollmans came here from Nebraska in 1959, when, with Dr. Herber, Dr. Pollman established a clinic here.

Mrs. Pollman sings in the church choir and plays the piano. She is active in the Dorcas society, serving her third year as president of the local group, and was elected this fall as president of the Northwest Federation. She gardens in the summertime, especially since they have moved to a country place several miles south of town.

They all enjoy camping at some isolated spot, using tents and sleeping bags. On a trip to Glacier National Park two years ago, they toted baby Michael (then about six months of age) on their backs, in a papoose carrier made to their specifications by a local canvas shop. It served the purpose admirably, Mr. Pollman states. Their daughters, Amy, 8, and Lorie, 7, are never reluctant to camp out; in fact, they love fishing too, and take swimming lessons at the park pool in the summer.

Moccasin Club Names Incumbent Leaders

Mrs. Alvin Burstad, president of the Moccasin Garden club, entertained at its January 23 meeting. All incumbent officers were elected to serve for another term. A letter from the district secretary, Mrs. Norma Hanson, informed the club of the spring flower show to be held in Thief River Falls and the August flower show to be held in Oklee.

Members spent the evening planning the program for 1964 and viewing movies shown by Mrs. Adam Lendobeja. Lunch was served by Mrs. Burstad.

The February meeting will be held February 27, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Vivian McCrum with Mrs. Norton Nelson as program chairman. The topic is "House Plants" and roll call "A New Variety I Plan to Grow."

Welfare to Be Topic of BPW Program Feb. 18

VOTERS in the Goodridge school district turned out in record numbers Thursday and approved a bond issue of $228,000 for a school addition project by a vote of 290 to 167. The building program will consist of a new gymnasium-auditorium and the addition of six classrooms to the secondary school—enabling the school to discontinue use of three temporary classrooms now in use. Supt. David Brown has contacted the school's architectural firm, Wells, Denbrook and Associates of Grand Forks, and informed them of the election results. The school's plans have been put on the schedule of the firm's work for the future. No date for the start of construction has been set, nor has the sale of bonds been planned. The additions are shown in shaded portions of the above illustration.

Firestone Store Has Farmers Days

Promotion Is Scheduled Tuesday Thru Saturday

Farmer Days will be held Tuesday through Saturday of this week at the new Firestone store in Thief River Falls. The store is located at 220 Horace ave. N. in the former Forkenbrock Motors building. The store will be open until 9 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and until 6 p.m. Saturday.

"We will be holding a grand opening for our store later this spring," stated Veto Chepulis, manager of the store. "We wanted to give a special introduction of our merchandise and services to farmers, however, before they become too involved in spring work schedules."

Free coffee and doughnuts will be served each day. As a special item of interest, a pig will be on display at the store and farmers will be encouraged to guess the weight in pounds and ounces. The person with the closest guess wins the hog.

Ballpoint pens, yardsticks and other items will be given away to farmers calling at the store during Farmer Days and a factory representative will be at the store to discuss problems with farmers. Further details and a listing of merchandise specials are contained in an advertisement in today's Times.

Honey Display Set at Valley Shows

Local Beekeepers Asked to Submit Exhibits

Beekeepers in the area are urged to bring honey displays to the Winter Shows according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. The extracted honey is to be shown in clean jars with 12 one-pound jars to an exhibit. No identifying labels will be permitted until after the honey is judged.

All entries must be in place by noon Friday, February 21.

In addition to exhibits at the Winter Shows a beekeepers management short course is set for Thursday and Friday, February 27 and 28. Among topics covered in the short course are: Starting with bees; balanced diets; value of bees to agriculture; spring and summer managemnt; preparation for honey flow and taking care of the honey crop.

On Friday, February 28, some of the topics to be covered are: Preparing honey for market and marketing; wintering bees; brood diseases of bees; the State and the beekeepers; adult bee diseases and enemies.

Editorials . . .

"The sedentary person who has a stupid notion that a white collar occupation uses up "nerve energy" ought to review elementary physiology and learn that half of a peanut will supply all the energy required for two hours of brain work."

—Dr. William Brady

Rolls of Red Tape

Government regulation in many fields is generally considered to be necessary, but on too frequent occasions the regulation procedure seems to be a bit ridiculous. Take recent action by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) as a for instance.

The FPC has presented 114 domestic natural gas producers with a questionnaire weighing almost 10 pounds and which must be filled out in quadruplicate. It is believed to be the most detailed and extensive ever drawn by a government agency, and the FPC says it is necessary to enable it to fix the prices for natural gas.

To fill out the questionnaire, it has been estimated that each company would require 17,000 man-hours of work by specialized accountants at a cost in salaries alone of about $85,000 per company.

While this cost and effort by the companies concerned is bad enough, consider the public cost for preparation of the questionnaires. analysis (as well as 110 10-pound questionnaires can be analyzed) and resultant hearings and action. Taxpayers are paying a premium price when they buy their federal regulations by the pound.

Why Capitalism Works

Diametrically opposed in principle, communism and capitalism are facing each other in the quest for a better world. As the major proponent of communism, Premier Khrushchev of the Soviet Union has promised that communism would bury us.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, presented a far different view during an interview with Premier Khrushchev in Russia recently. What he had to say should be of interest to all Americans:

"Mr. Chaiarmn, contrary to what you have said, we businessmen believe that capitalism is going to defeat communism. Capitalism recognizes the all-powerful force of individual incentive and, therefore, is consistent with human nature. Commtnism seeks vainly to suppress that force.

"Capitalism recognizes that people will work hardest only when they know that they will reap directly some of the benefits of their work, and can pass on those benefits to those who are closest to them. Moreover, in America, anyone can own shares of almost any public corporation. Eventually, as individual ownership broadens and grows stronger, our industrial enterprises will be owned by the mass of our people.

"This system works because it is consistent with human nature. On the other hand, your system, which does not reward everyone in connection with his individual contribution, must fail, because of the lack of adequate individual incentives. This is the root of the trouble you, in Russia, are having now with your agricultural program."

To preserve our heritage of capitalism requires practice of the well-worn term, "eternal vigilance". We must be alert to legislation leaning toward government encroachment on private enterprise. Ownership of industry by the people through voluntary investment, and the freedom to operate on a competitive basis with other private industry, are the surest ways to defeat the menace of socialism and communism facing our nation.

Generally Speaking . . .

In spite of warnings brought forth from many intelligent people with considerable foresight, it appears that the Civil Rights Bill will become law. The bill has passed through the House of Representatives and is now lodged in the Senate. Opponents call the emotional favoritism of the bill "...the result of the most skillfully planned and executed propaganda campaign of this age."

Proponents emphasize that the bill is aimed at preventing "racial and religious discrimination." It apparently makes no difference that the words "race", "religion" and "discrimination" are not defined in the bill. We would say that it should make a great deal of difference, since the penalties provided for in the bill are for violations which are not defined in the proposed law.

We have criticized the Civil Rights bill in several previous editorials. We hope that the public will take it upon themselves to become informed on what federal powers the bill provides, and that the public will equalize the pressure applied by lobbying groups through letters to legislators.

Minnesotans are at a disadvantage in making their voices heard in opposition to the bill in the Senate. Both Sen. Humphrey and Sen. McCarthy would find it politically inconvenient to oppose the legislation which originated in the power-hungry Kennedy adminstration and has support pledged to it by President Johnson. Both are seeking favor in the eyes of the President and would not dare to appear unruly at this time.

We agree that there is discrimination, both racial and religious, in our nation, and that discrimination is morally and spiritually wrong. Discrimination is taught in the home and in the streets. It is an affair of the heart and mind rather than the government and laws. You can not legislate tolerance and good will. Quite on the contrary — restrictive legislation can serve only to compound the real problem, and that is the acceptance of fellow man at face value on an individual basis.

It should be noted that there is a difference between forbidding segregation and forcing integration. When integration is forced, such as it would be if the Civil Rights bill becomes law, then integration actually becomes discrimination. The right of any man to be free should not be questioned, but that right should not be expanded to restrict the freedom of others.

We doubt that the do-gooders pushing passage of the bill realize that they may do more to hurt their cause than they will to help it. At any rate, they are doing a great disservice to their country.

Income Tax and the Axe

Chopping of some $11 billion from the income tax bills of United States individuals and corporations through a federal tax cut is now expected to be a virtual certainty. It should be welcomed with open pocketbooks by the nation's taxpayers, at least for a couple of years, depending upon how long transplanted economists can continue to sway Congressional opinion.

If the bill passes, there will be a reduction in the withholding tax from 18 to 14 per cent, beginning April 1. People with weekly pay of $100 will have $2 more in take-home pay, according to the U.S. News and World Report. A married couple with two children, now paying $420 in income taxes and in the $5,000 bracket, will pay $325 in 1964 and $290 in 1965.

A number of other provisions are also included in the bill—supposedly designed to spur individual and corporate spending. Corporation taxes will also be reduced to a moderate extent.

We hope that the plan devised by the economists will work. They believe that tax reduction will start a chain of corporation expansion, more employment, more people paying taxes and more tax money received to offset the decreased percentage. It sounds good. Of course, reduced government spending to coincide with the tax reduction would help, but the government is quite adept at doing more spending with less money.

National FFA Week

Among the many national weeks designated throughout the year, one of the most significant to this area should be National Future Farmers of America Week. This annual observance began Saturday and continues through February 22.

In our predominantly agricultural area, the value of farmers trained in the latest and most profitable techniques is readily known. A good farmer is a good citizen, and our area has been blessed with many of them. More credit for this than is realized must go to the vocational agriculture programs in our schools and to the Future Farmers of America organization.

While vocational agriculture students are learning how to meet the many challenges of profitable farming, the FFA organization is teaching them how to be better citizens. The FFA teaches them to take part in meetings, to follow parliamentary procedure, to speak in public and to cooperate with their fellow students in programs for individual and community betterment.

Local chapters of the FFA sponsor recreational activities, organize educational tours, conduct safety and home improvement campaigns and hold parent-son banquets. Advancement through degrees in the organization is based largely on achievement in farming, showing that many FFA activities are designed to stimulate members to do better work in vocational agriculture.

We are moving toward a period of time, barring international disaster, when the production of food will be a far greater challenge to our nation's farmers than it is today. We are proud of our Future Farmers as they strive to live up to their motto: "Learning to Do, Doing to Learn; Earning to Live, Living to Serve."

On Changing Horses

So we read summaries of the report by the federal committee on smoking with an objective mind, bearing no malice and generally expecting to read what we did read. We noted that definite favoritism in the report was directed toward pipe smokers.

Believing that the government was merely bending over backward as usual to favor another minority group, we paid little heed to the subversive undercurrent surrounding the pipe smokers. In fact, for a change of pace more than anything else, we invested a very modest sum in one of the tobacco-burners-on-a-stick. It was then the full impact of the federal report began to dawn. On the basis of thoroughly unsubstantiated hearsay and personal, biased opinion, we have reached the following conclusions:

(1) That a majority of the committee members own considerable stock in pipe manufacturing companies and attempted to sway public opinion for their own financial benefit;

(2) That those committee members not owning pipe companies are engaged in the import-export business and plan to capitalize on the import of costly foreign pipe tobaccos and export of cheap, surplus cigarette tobacco;

(3) That the report is further a subversive move to destroy our balance of payments on the common market, thereby contributing to economic decay of the American way of life;

(4) That part of the subversion plan is to have a pipe-smoking public too busy keeping pipes lit to worry about government affairs and too relaxed to care;

(5) And that dentists probably exerted pressure on the committee because they believed the medical profession was receiving the major benefits accruing from tobacco-caused maladies.

If it didn't cost so much public money and we weren't so afraid of being proved wrong, we would suggest an investigation by Congress. As it is, we will be content to merely huff and puff—on imported tobacco.

Side Line Observations

Side Line Observations
By Bill Dahlquist

A two-day layover in St. Paul in my journey to Mexico gave me time to check with government officials the problem of the Thief River Falls Foundation in its efforts to secure recognition as a tax-exempt organization. In such matters technicalities are tremendously important.

When the Foundation was organized some seven years ago the organizing committee adopted articles of incorporation and by-laws based on the Minneapolis Foundation corporation as a pattern. The Minneapolis Foundation was organized many years ago and since that time there have been many changes in Federal rules and regulations. During that period of time, Foundation secretary Bob Lund has had an extensive exchange of letters with Washington officials. But articles and by-laws had a few notable shortcomings according to present rules and regulations, but what to do about it has never been made clear.

Our problem was further complicated by a recent request by an old friend of the Thief River Falls community, former superintendent of schools, Morris Bye, who is returning after a sustaining record of service in that capacity at Anoka. A wealthy citizen of that community made a very substantial contribution to a student grant program.

Morris Bye had heard of our Foundation program at Thief River Falls. The defective Thief River Falls pattern was used in the base for the Anoka program. And so, due to the unfortunate errors in legal technicalities, I was given the privelege of spending a few pleasant hours with Morris in St. Paul, during which we reviewed many of the errors of past years, along with many recollections of noteworthy community achievement. We agreed that in some ways Thief River Falls was a better and a more progressive community when we all were poor.

And I am happy to report that there is nothing wrong with the Thief River Falls Foundation. A few simple and reasonable amendments to its articles of incorporation will bring it up to date with present state and federal rules and regulations. The Foundation already has an excellent performance record, which is recognized by the federal officials who are trying to be helpful in bringing our corporate structure up to date.

The Foundation already has more than $20,000 in circulation for worthy purposes, in accumulation, gifts, memorials and bequests. There is reasonable assurance that in a few years this fund will grow to well over the $50,000 mark and there is no good reason why it should not keep on growing throughout future years. Bob Lund deserves much credit for the good management it has had during the early years of its operation.

On Thursday morning I hope to be on my way to Mexico, scheduled to arrive in Mexico City in the middle of the afternoon. Getting permission to visit a foreign country is sometimes a complicated procedure, which is understandable. Among other things I was suddenly required to produce a birth certificate proving that I am an American citizen. Fortunately, having been born in Ramsey county, it was not necessary for me to forge such a certificate.

At this writing I am hopeful of succeeding in getting out of our country and of course I am even more hopeful of returning safely at a later date.

As the Spaniards say, "So Long"!

Easter Seals to Be Distributed

Distribution of 1964 Easter Seals to 40 million American families began February 12 as the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults prepared to launch its annual appeal, March 1 to March 29, Easter Sunday.

Funds stimulated by the Easter Seal Campaigns enable the National Society to care for more than 250,000 crippled children and adults every year. Their handicaps include scores of physical and mental problems that for some of them make schooling, employment or even housekeeping impossible without extensive rehabilitation.

Homemakers Plan Achievement Day

Home Council Meets and Makes Valentine Favors

Making of 180 Valentine favors for the people in the rest home was the project carried by the home councilors on Tuesday. Favors consisted of dates, prunes, raisins and candy hearts and were delivered following the meeting, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

The women's role, as a homemaker, in the junior college was discussed.

Homemaker's achievement day was discussed and committees were arranged. They are as follows: Program —St. Hilaire, Town and Country; Tea — Smiley II, Chat and Chew, Numedal; Clean-up — Reiner, Star, A.S.T.; Exhibits — Black River, Wyandotte, Rosewood; Reception—Rocksbury, Smiley I, Helperettes.

Two women from each of the clubs will work on each committee and plan the Achievement Day.

Articles for the informational brochure were handed in by the various homemakers groups. The information will now be compiled in a brochure.

Program planning for 1965 was discussed. Much further work on the program will be done at the April meeting.

The first use of "Future Farmers" as the name of an organization of vocational agriculture students was by the "Future Farmers of Virginia," in 1926.

Local Grapplers Win 2 Matches Past Week

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestling squad, scoring a pair of match victories the past week, boosted their season's mark to 11 wins and two losses, and extended their winning streak to eight matches. On Wednesday, in a match held at Crookston, the Prowlers defeated the Crookston Aggies, 30 to 12; and on Saturday night, in a match held at Warren, the Prowlers defeated the Ponies, 26 to 18.

The 1963-64 wrestling schedule will be concluded on Wednesday night, Feb. 19, when the Greenbush Tigers from District 32 meet the Prowlers in the Lincoln high school gymnasium. The Prowlers will enter Region Eight tournament competition at Bemidji on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21-22.

Wednesday night's match at Crookston found the Prowlers avenging one of the two losses on their season's record. In a schedule-opening match held here in mid-December, the Aggies, by a 29 to 21 score, defeated the locals. In Wednesday's return match, coach Shaff's squad, showing strength in heavier weights, picking up 14 points in the final four events, pulled away from the Aggies to win by a 30 to 12 score.

In a match held at Warren on Saturday night, a district conference competition, the Prowlers trailed the Ponies, 18 to 8 as they entered the 154-lb. class wrestling. The Prowlers' Terry Nelson pinned Warren's Rick Bro; and Joe Taylor followed with a pin of the Ponies' Don Anderson in the 165-lb. class. Dean Kaushagen scored a decision win over Warren's Chuck Graham in the 175-lb. class; and Prowler heavyweight Ellsworth Senum pinned Warren's Wayne Mareck, giving the locals a 26 to 18 win.

In B squad competition, coach Dale Folger's Prowlers defeated the Crookston AC B's, 42 to 10; and then, on Saturday night, defeated the Warren B squad, 39 to 7.

Prowler Quint Trims Warren; Loses to EGF

It was a loss and a win for coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers in District 31 competition this past week. After losing to coach Larry Selk's East Grand Forks Green Wave, 65 to 57, at East Grand Forks on Friday night, the Prowlers rebounded to roll up a 97 to 63 win over the Warren Ponies in a game played on the local court on Saturday night.

The Prowlers will conclude their District 31 schedule, and make their final home appearance, on Friday night, Feb. 22, when they meet the Climax Vikings on the Lincoln high school court. The Prowlers, holding a five wins and two losses mark are in second place in the district standings.

Friday night's game at East Grand Forks saw the hustling East Side team take advantage of numerous errors by the Prowlers, and loose defensive play that occasioned many fouls, to score a 65 to 57 win. Guard Louie Lopez, who turned in a standout floor game in addition to scoring 21 points, and center Rich Hangsleben, also with 21 points, were the sparks that ignited the East Grand Forks victory. The Prowlers held a one-goal edge from the field, 21 to 20, but the East Siders racked up 25 free-throw points in 32 tries. The Prowlers committed 22 personal fouls, while East Grand Forks was assessed 14 fouls.

On Saturday night, on the local court, it was a relaxed Prowler squad that scorched the basket nets in racking up a 97 to 63 win over the Warren Ponies. The trend of the game was set in the opening period when the Prowlers rolled 30 points into the east basket, with Kenny Larson pacing the first-period splurge with five field goals and a free throw.

The Prowlers had three players hitting the 20-point mark, with Larson having 21 points, and Rich Nelson and Bob Olson scoring 20 points apiece. The game's scoring honors, though, were won by Warren's nifty guard, Paul Knutson, with the southpaw scoring nine field goals and five throws for a 23-point effort.

Jon Larson Rink Wins Bonspiel Here Sunday

It was an All-American finals in the Hartz Wholesale event (the first event) in the eighth annual States-Dominion bonspiel that was concluded here Sunday evening. And the Jon Larson rink, of the local club, won the championship by scoring a 9 to 6 win over the Art Ferguson rink of Park River, North Dakota. It marked the second time in the eight years of the bonspiel that a local rink has won the premier event, the Ardell Liden rink won the top honors two years ago.

The Don Pottinger rink of Grand Forks won the Bridgeman's event (the second event) by defeating the Ed Picard rink of Winnipeg in the event finals. The Picard rink was skipped by Gord Lowery, one of Winnipeg's topflight curlers.

And in the Border Drugs event, (the third event), the Ardell Liden rink, by a 7 to 4 score, defeated the Charles Woods rink of Winnipeg in the finals.

The Jon Larson foursome—Jon Larson, skip; Shorty Perkins, third; Bob Ekeren, second; and Rich Jorde, lead—defeated the Dick Boyd rink of Winnipeg in a first-round match. The Larson rink continued through the Hartz Wholesale event by defeating the Greg Midway rink of Winnipeg, the local club's Harold Halvorson rink, and the defending champion Hank Monson rink of Grafton, before meeting the Ferguson rink on the 3:00 P. M. draw on Sunday.

Larson	200	110	310	1—9
Ferguson	021	001	002	0—6

The Don Pottinger rink of Grand Forks, with Pottinger as skip, Reny Gibson at third, Wayne Matthewson at second, and Brian Dowler at lead, defeated the veteran Ed Picard to win the Bridgeman's event, winning by an 8 to 6 score.

And it was in an eight-end match that was not concluded until 7:30 p. m. on Sunday that the Liden foursome scored their Border Drugs event win.

Thirty-two rinks participated in the bonspiel.

Roseau Bantams Win State Title from TRF VFW Six

Defeat Local Team 4-1 in Championship Round of Tourney Saturday

Roseau VFW Bantams, scoring three goals in the opening period, defeated coach Morris Efteland's Thief River Falls VFW Bantams, 4 to 1, in the finals of the state VFW Bantam hockey tournament held at Roseau on Saturday and Sunday.

In tournament first-round play on Saturday, Roseau scored a 5 to 1 win over the Joe Erwin Post of St. Paul. The Rochester Bantams defeated the Baudette club, 4 to 2; Minneapolis Woodrow Wilson Post defeated Gilbert, Minnesota, 6 to 0; and Thief River Falls, with Rich Holmes scoring three goals, defeated the Star Spangled Post of Minneapolis.

In semifinals games on Saturday night, coach Efteland's Thief River Falls club scored a 2 to 1 win over the Woodrow Wilson club; and the Roseau VFW team eliminated the Rochester BFW Bantams.

In Sunday's championship finals, Roseau's Kjaer, with Lunbolhm assisting, scored at the 1:31 mark to give the host club an early lead. Markstrom, assisted by Anderson, scored at 5:20; and Anderson, with Monkman and Isaacson being credited with assists, tallied at the 8:20 mark to give Roseau a commanding 3 to 0 lead.

Rich Holmes, assisted by LeMoine and Droppo, scored at the 116 mark of the second period to avert the shutout.

Roseau's Steve Haselrud, late in the third period, drove the puck into an empty net at the 8:03 mark. The locals, in an attempt to get back into the game, had pulled their goalie Scott Dowers in the final minutes.

The Season's Hockey Feature

What should be the season's "top" hockey game on the local scene is scheduled for the Arena rink on Tuesday evening when, with the faceoff slated for 7:30 p. m., coach Bob Peters' North Dakota University freshman squad meets the senior hockey Thieves.

The Sioux freshman squad, with a blend of American and Canadian hockey players (and several of the Americans are former Roseau Rams stars) has been compiling an excellent record. They are a skating club, of that you can be sure.

I can recall some years ago when the North Dakota freshman, with such boys as Joey Poole, Art Miller, Eddie Thomlinson, and others of this caliber in the lineup, came over here for a game against the Thieves. And did those boys fly? It is doubtful if this season's North Dakota freshman squad can match the blazing speed of that club, but they should provide an evening of fine hockey.

And the Thieves will be bolstered for the game, with a couple of Grand Forks Warriors and several Crookston Pirates on the roster. From coach Fido Purpur's Grand Forks club, defenseman Ron Geatz and center Jerry Wentz will be here. From Bud Salem's Crookston club, defenseman Jerry Abelson and wings Ed Derosier and Tony Schmitz will join the Thieves. These players, it is expected, will play with the Thieves in the state amateur hockey tournament.

According to player-coach Dale Wennberg, the Thieves will have Geatz and Abelson as one defense duo, and Jerry Westby and Cal Offerdahl as the other blue-line set. Wentz will center Schmitz and Derosier as one forward unit. Del-Ray Offerdahl, Gus Holmes, and Chip Strand will make up another line; and Larry Poole will center for Tony Poole and Wayne Loeffler. Dick Johnson and Wennberg will be used as spares.

Very Impressive

The hockey fans who were in attendance at the Region Eight tournament games at Roseau must have been impressed by the performance of coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams. In their opening game, against a well-rated Baudette Bears squad, the Rams exploded for five goals in the first period and then went on to win by a 10 to 0 margin.

In the finals, against an aggressive Warroad club, the Rams faced tougher opposition, but coach Almquist's well-balanced squad scored a convincing 3 to 1 win.

In winning their 4th successive Region Eight title, and their eleventh in the twenty years that hockey has been a competitive sport in Region Eight, the Rams served notice that they will be a factor in this week's state high school tournament.

Roseau will meet Richfield in a first-round game on Thursday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. The Rams should win this game and move into the semi-finals against the winner of the International Falls vs. Duluth East game. And this semi-finals game should be a dandy. The Falls and East have both scored victories over the Rams, but these Roseau losses were taken during the Rams mid-season "slump". The team that won the Region Eight title on Friday night is a greatly-improved club from the Rams squad of mid-season. Coach Almquist has deftly used the "needle" on his boys, and the Rams are "hungry".

Don't Forget the Wrestlers

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestlers will be making their final appearance before the home fans on Wednesday night when they meet the Greenbush Tigers in the Lincoln high school gymnasium.

On Friday and Saturday the Prowlers will be participating in the Region Eight tournament at Bemidji, and coach Shaff's squad has been rated as one of the favorites for the regional title.

Wednesday matches here will be the career wrestling for each team are co-captains Terry Nelson and Gary Nerpiud, and heavyweight Ellsworth [illegible].

Local 'B' Quint Splits Two Games

Lose to E. G. Forks 59-58, and Defeat Warren 52-41

Coach Bob Gaarder's Prowler B team cagers, after losing to coach Ron Thompson's East Grand Forks B squad, 59 to 58, on Dick Anderson's two points on a one and one free throw attempt at the game's end at East Grand Forks on Friday night, came back on Saturday night to score a 52 to 41 win over coach Howie Emerson's Warren B squad.

With the Prowlers B's leading East Grand Forks, 58 to 57, with less than a second to play, a foul was committed in midcourt, and the East Sider's Dick Anderson dropped in a free throw to tie the game, and then added the other free throw point on his "bonus" attempt, giving the East Siders their 59 to 58 win.

Roseau Six Plays in State Tourney

Coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams made a successful defense of their Region Eight high school hockey title when, in the championship finals of the tourney played at Roseau, the Rams defeated the Warroad Warriors, 3 to 1.

Roseau will represent Region Eight in the state high school hockey tournament that begins play in the St. Paul Auditorium on Thursday, Feb. 20. The first round pairings will find International Falls, representing Region Seven, playing Duluth East, representing Region Three, at 1:30 p. m. At 3:00 p. m., the Roseau Rams of Region Eight will meet Richfield of Region One.

Thursday evening's pairings will have Minneapolis Patrick Henry playing Bloomington at 7:00 p. m., and the defending state champion St. Paul Johnson meeting St. Paul's Alexander Ramsey at 8:30 p. m. The semi-finals are slated for Friday evening, with the championship finals due to face-off at 9:00 p. m. on Saturday night.

In Region Eight tournament play at Roseau on Thursday evening, the Roseau squad, with a remarkable exhibition of all-round class, trounced the Baudette Bears, 10 to 0, in a first-round game. In the second game of the semi-finals, coach Myron Grafstrom's Warroad Warriors edged out the Prowlers, 2 to 0.

The Warriors picked up a goal in the opening minutes when Charles Marvin, with Gordy Marshall assisting, drove a close-in shot into the west net at the 3:18 mark. The Warriors, although pressed a number of times by the ever-trying Prowlers, made that single goal hold up. And it was in the final minute of play, when the Prowlers had "pulled" their goalie to ice another forward, that the Warriors clinched the game, with Marvin sending the puck into the open net.

In a consolation game played after the championship tilt on Friday night, the Baudette Bears scored a 3 to 0 win over the Prowlers. In this game the Prowlers utilized a squad made up entirely of players who will be returning for next season's play.

National FFA Week Is Being Observed Here

Future Farmers of America note their national week February 15-22 and the Thief River Falls chapter is joining in the national observance. National FFA Week is designed to focus attention on the purposes and objectives of the organization and inform the public of the value of the program to rural America.

In observance of the national week, a two-page promotional effort is published in today's issue of the Times. Business firms providing rural services are cooperating in sponsorship of the observance.

Organized in 1928

The National FFA organization was launched at Kansas City, Mo., in November of 1928, following many years of development of vocational agriculture student organizations in the states and local communities. Originally incorporated under the laws of the state of Verginia, the FFA was granted a charter of incorporation by an Act of Congress in 1950.

Establishment the Aim

In addition to his study in school each student is required to conduct a "supervised farming program" where he puts into actual practice the farming knowledge gained in the classroom. The teacher makes frequent visits to the boy's home farm, supervising and helping with the development of his program.

Boys usually start as freshmen with small enterprises, such as a few pigs, a brood sow, some calves and an acre or two of crops. As they advance in their work, they are encouraged to expand their farming programs so that by the time they have completed high school they will have built up an investment in farming large enough to permit them to farm on a full-time basis, or, as is frequently the case, to permit them to enter upon a sound partnership agreement with their parents.

Learn By Doing

Through participating experiences in the Future Farmers of America, members learn how to take part in meetings, to follow parliamentary procedure, to speak in public and to cooperate with their fellow students in programs for individual and community betterment.

Local chapters sponsor recreational activities, organize educational tours, conduct safety and home improvement campaigns and hold parent-son banquets. They have been known to organize and manage a community fair. Many FFA activities are designed to stimulate the boys to do better work in vocational agriculture.

FFA Motto

The FFA motto is: "Learning to do, doing to learn; Earning to Live, Living to Serve."

The specific purposes for which the FFA was formed are as follows:

1. To develop competent, aggressive, rural and agricultural leadership;
2. To create and nuture a love of country life;
3. To strenghten the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work;
4. To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations;
5. To encourage members in the developement of individual farming programs and establishment in farming;
6. To encourage members to improve the farm home and its surroundings;
7. To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture;
8. To develop character, train for useful citizenship and foster patriotism;
9. To participate in cooperative effort;
10. To encourage and practice thrift;
11. To encourage improvement in scholarship; and
12. To provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.

Chicken, Pork and Beef Good Values

Marketing Specialist Offers Tips to Buyers

Beef, pork and chicken will be good values for the money-wise shipper this month.

Beef and pork are being featured at many stores this week, and shippers can look for good buys on both meats during the rest of February, according to Mary Ryan, specialist at the University of Minnesota. Higher prices on pork will probably start showing up at retail counters in March.

Most attractive prices for pork are in the larger cuts. Often it's possible to make substantial savings by buying a whole or half pork loin and having it cut into pork roasts and chops, if you have sufficient freezer space, Miss Ryan says. Pork shoulders can be cut into roasts and steaks.

Featured beef cuts this week are T-bone, sirloin, round and porterhouse steaks and some roasts, especially chuck.

Broiler-fryer chickens, which head the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for February, will be featured at meat counters often during the next few weeks. Frying chickens have dropped steadily in price for the past 10 years, Miss Ryan reports.

Broiler-fryers range in size from 1½ to 3½ pounds. They can be roasted, barbecued, fried, broiled or stewed. The heavier birds—2½ to 3½ pounds long are especially adapted to stewing. Because they are young and tender, cooking time is much shorter than for the more mature, fully developed stewing hens.

Guides to shoppers in buying poultry are the USDA inspection mark—a round circle with the words "inspected for wholesomeness"—and the shield indicating grade. USDA Grade A means top quality.

Potatoes and canned corn, most plentiful vegetables, will be good buys all month.

Warehouse Blaze in Erskine Causes Damage Tuesday

A fire which broke out in late afternoon Tuesday heavily damaged a warehouse building at Erskine before it was extinguished. Two apartments in the front area of the building were damaged by smoke and water.

Also damaged was a quantity of sporting goods stored in the structure.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, according to Erskine volunteer firemen.

Valley Horse Show to Open Friday, Feb. 28th

The 1964 Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston introduces a new addition for 4-H members interested in horsemanship and in horses. In recent years, the interest and the number of 4-H horse projects has been growing in leaps and bounds. A complete section for 4-H competition in the 1964 horse show was arranged after a number of inquiries about youth competition.

The 4-H show will be run with classes and events similar to the professional shows and in line with rules and standards developed by horse breeders across the nation.

4-H members must be carrying a horse project at present. Show entries in the 4-H division must be signed by the county agricultural agent, under whose direction the club member is working, to be eligible for the 1964 Red River Valley Winter Shows 4-H division. The horse show dates are February 28, 29, and March 1.

Manager of the horse shows this year is E. C. Miller, and superintendent of the division is Diedrich Reimer. Both are staff members of the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston.

Number Employed in State Fell in January

Minnesota's nonfarm wage and salary employment, at 975,100 in January, was 33,600 lower than the December figure of 1,008,700 but 16,900 higher than the 958,200 employed a year ago, according to the monthly report on Minnesota labor market trends released by

Every major industry showed the expected seasonal decline, Starkey said, with the largest employment reduction (14,500) occurring in retail trade. A drop of this magnitude is quite usual after the Christmas season. Manufacturing employment declined slightly more than usual because of higher than usual losses in durable goods. Mining employment was 1,100 higher in January 1964 than it was in January 1963. This is due largely to a temporary layoff last year at a large establishment.

Total unemployment in Minnesota increased from 75,600 in December to 110,100 in January, according to Starkey, an increase of 34,500. However, there were 1,600 fewer unemployed last month than in January 1963. Just as employment shows its largest seasonal drop between December and January, unemployment shows its largest seasonal gain. The unemployment rate increased (from 5.3 percent in December) to 7.7 percent in January, compared to 8.0 percent a year ago. The number of people receiving unemployment insurance benefits is also down from last year. Total benefits paid this January were down 4.5 percent from the total paid in January 1963 he added.

Starkey reported that production workers in Minnesota's manufacturing industries earned an average of $106.94 per week in January by working 40.8 hours at an hourly rate of $2.62. This compares to $107.38, 41.1 and $2.61 last December and $103.58, 40.4 and $2.56 during January 1963.

Cadillac

IF IT'S TOO QUIET—TURN ON THE RADIO

Some of the finest comments that come to us from owners of 1964 Cadillacs concern the car's extraordinary quietness of operation.

A Cadillac owner remains comfortably insulated from the distraction and din of the heaviest midtown traffic.

And we think that this remarkable characteristic tells a great deal about the quality and goodness of this extraordinary new Cadillac creation.

First of all, it indicates the car's high level of craftsmanship. Every 1964 Cadillac, in fact, now undergoes more than 1400 separate inspections.

It indicates, too, how Cadillac's combination of functional styling, scientific soundproofing and advanced new suspension have reduced to an almost unbelievable degree the sounds normally associated with travel.

And, even more importantly, it speaks of the car's great engineering. Cadillac's dynamic new engine operates with flawless precision, despite its record power. Its new transmissions, both the Hydra-Matic and the Turbo Hydra-Matic, translate that power into smooth, hushed response . . . and combined with exclusive True-Center drive line, virtually eliminate vibration.

If you have not yet driven a 1964 Cadillac, you will find it a most revealing experience. Your dealer will have one ready any time that's convenient. Just let the car's amazing quiet do the talking.

Pennington-R. L. Retarded Ass'n. Seeks Members

Mrs. Ted Booth Heads Membership Drive To Be Held During February

Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children (ARC) will make an all-out effort to enlist new members during February, its "membership month." This is a drive to increase membership and is not a fund-raising campaign, said Mrs. Morris Odegaard, association president.

The local association is one of 61 local chapters of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children. Goal for the statewide organization is 1,000 new members to bring total membership to 5,000.

"Mental retardation is everybody's problem," said Mrs. Odegaard. "Retardation is recognized as a major health problem which must be attacked at national, state, and local levels."

Mrs. Ted Booth, Thief River Falls, has been named chairman of the Pennington-Red Lake ARC membership drive.

The association, according to Mrs. Booth is making a bid for new members among such groups as special teachers, doctors, social workers, clergy and citizens concerned with the welfare of all residents of his area.

"One of the quickest ways to transform an apathetic citizen into an enthusiastic worker," she said, "is to persuade him to become an active member of an association."

Associations for retarded children are devoted to increasing public understranding of mental retardation, to developing and improving the quality of services for the mentally retarded, and to supporting research into causes and prevention.

"Results of the Association's work are reflected in the increasing number of programs available to the retarded and in the greater public awareness of the size of the problem." Mrs. Odegaard said. "We need and welcome the support of all interested citizens. Anyone wishing to join our association should contact Mrs. Ted Booth, Box 134, Thief River Falls, or phone 681-3459."

Kloubec Explains Soils District To Rotary Club

Conservationist Speaks Monday; Reviews Work Accomplished Since 1949

Review of accomplishments of the Pennington County Soil Conservation district was presented to the Thief River Falls Rotary club Monday noon by Robert Kloubec, work unit conservationist for the local district.

Kloubec noted that the district was started in only a few townships in 1949 but now includes the entire county. Thief River Falls is the home of two offices of the Soil Conservation service, he noted. The district office is located in the county courthouse while the area office is located on the second floor of the Wilson Bros. building on Atlantic av. N.

Soil scientists and soils engineers serving northwestern Minnesota operate out of the area office, Kloubec noted. These men assist in soil mapping and watershed planning and engineering among other duties.

Since the county district was formed in 1949, there have been 1,200 miles of drainage ditches built and 230 stock water pits constructed. Surface drainage is necessary for good crop production, the conservationist said, and the use of stock water pits should provide a stronger livestock program in the county, benefitting the area economy.

Federal, state and county funds are used in operation of the district, he said. The district urges soil testing and use of fertilizer, spends the summer in work on actual projects and the winter in providing assistance to cooperators in the program.

The district has about 400 members with about 200 having basic farm plans prepared as an outline for their farming operations.

Vocational School Is Topic of Lions

Arnt Aune, director of the Thief River Falls area vocational school, provided the program at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Introduced by Clarence Mattson, program chairman, Aune presented statistics on enrollment at the local school, and also showed slides depicting the various classes, which are used in recruiting students from high schools in this section of the state.

Aune stated that 219 students were enrolled in the local school on January 31, and that the farm management course had an enrollment of 175, while 158 were attending evening school.

He added that of 232 students enrolled as of December 1, only 37 were from Thief River Falls, while 35 were from points five to 25 miles distant, 43 from 25 to 50 miles, 18 from 50 to 65 miles, 70 from over 65 miles and 15 from outside the state. During the school year July 1, 1962 to July 1, 1963, 94 per cent of the graduates were placed in jobs, he said.

Aune expressed the opinion that the enrollment in the vocational school is an indication that an adequate number of students would be available for a junior college, if one should be established in this city.

Approves Assessment Roll, Sells House and Hears Committees

Thief River Falls city council waded through considerable discussion Tuesday evening, much of it on committee reports, but failed to complete one of the most lengthy agendas in recent months. An adjourned meeting has been called for Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the council chambers.

Council members met for the first time in the new council room adjoining the city clerk's office which has been transferred to the basement of the city auditorium. Approval was given to the assessment rolls for Brooks, Spruce and Oak avenue projects.

Opening of bids was held on the Weeks house owned by the city at Tindolph park and Ed Leyden was awarded the house for a bid of $457.

Four men were hired by the council at the meeting. Christ Haugen was named to replace Alvin Moeller in the street department, Russell Lane was employed as bartender at the liquor store, Ernest Berry was approved as employee at the sewage disposal plant and Frank Clinton was hired as full-time custodian for the library and auditorium.

Dr. Herber Visits Central America

Helps Evaluate Medical Mission Plan of Church

Evaluation of the medical missionary program of the Seventh Day Adventist church in Central America was recently conducted by Dr. Leo Herber of Thief River Falls and Dr. M. E. Beltz of Wahpeton, N.D. The two men traveled more than 8,000 miles in a private aircraft to conduct the visit.

Recommendations had been sought by medical missionaries for the intensification and expansion of the medical mission program in the Inter-American division of the church. The division has 172,000 members in 1,349 churches and operates 310 schools, six junior colleges and two senior colleges.

At present the church has four medical missionaries in Mexico, three in Honduras, two in Nicaragua, one in El Salvador, two in Guatemala and three in Panama with 187 in world work of the church.

Dr. Herber and Dr. Beltz visited Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica on their tour, and were impressed by the hospital at Menagua, Nicaragua. While El Salvador is the most densely populated and poorest country in Central America, the capitol of San Salvador is one of the most beautiful cities in Central America, Dr. Herber said.

At San Jose, Costa Rica, the two men viewed a volcano which has been erupting for about a year, spewing volcanic ash into the air. Trade winds have carried an estimated 150,000 tons of volcanic ash into the city of San Jose, causing untold damage to vegetation, property and agricultural enterprises.

One of the highlights of the trip was a brief attendance at the International Cancer conference in Mexico city where Mexican President Mateos made an appearance. The men also had an interesting experience when bad weather caused a forced landing on a government landing strip in Costa Rica. They received extremely cordial treatment from people doing survey work in the area.

As a result of the visit, and noting the extreme poverty and primitive conditions of the inland people, Drs. Herber and Beltz will be working to secure easier licensing of medical men in the Central American countries. There is also a possibility, if more liberal licensing can be arranged, that medical clinics in Thief River Falls and Wahpeton may arrange a medical mission in Central America on a rotation-of-doctors basis.

School Board Favors Refinancing Proposal

BONNEY Sisters, claimed to have the musical styling of the Lennon Sisters of Lawrence Welk television fame, will appear in Thief River Falls Saturday evening. Their act will be part of the half-time ceremonies at the Prowler-Climax basketball game. Entertainment is being provided by the Orioles Community club of Winnipeg, Manitoba.

New Law Permits Expected Saving of $33,000 Here

As a result of legislation enacted by the state legislature in 1963 and action taken by the Thief River Falls board of education Tuesday evening, residents of the local school district could save approximately $33,000 in interest costs over the next few years.

The advance refunding law passed by the legislature permits the school district to issue new bonds at a lower rate of interest than previous issues, establish an escrow account to meet obligations of previous bonds and take advantage of the reduced interest payments.

Dunne C. Shuck, representative of the municipal finance consulting firm of T. G. Evensen and Associates, met with the board Tuesday evening. Previous issues in question were sold in the amount of $400,000 in January of 1957 at an interest rate of 3.98 per cent and in the amount of $300,000 in July of 1957 at an interest rate of 4.62 per cent.

With a more favorable bond market now prevailing, the board has called for bids on $550,000 in bonds for Wednesday, March 18, at 11 a. m. at the school. It is anticipated that bids will be in the neighborhood of 3.5 per cent interest—providing a considerable saving from the present rate being paid.

Interest remaining to be paid on the two issues totals $242,515 and the board anticipates the refinancing would permit a reduction in interest cost to $189,227—a saving of $53,288. Costs of the refinancing would be approximately $20,000 and would leave the district an estimated net saving of $33,000.

Under the law, the money received through the sale of new bonds would be placed in an escrow account and draw interest in addition to being used to pay previous bonds as they come due. The program is scheduled to retire the 1957 bonds within nine years from the present time.

Shuck told the board Tuesday that the saving is not something that would be felt immediately by the district, but noted that the saving over a period of time would be of substantial benefit to the district. He also noted that issuing of the bonds would not bring the district closer to its legal debt ceiling, since the escrow account is considered the same as money in the bank for the district.

In Split Decision

Pennington Board Requests Library

Meeting in special session Tuesday, the Pennington county board of commissioners adopted a resolution requesting the Minnesota department of education to establish a demonstration library program in Pennington, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties.

The resolution called for the program to be in effect for one full year following organization of the program and the start of bookmobile service to the counties involved. Adoption of the resolution came on a 3-2 vote of the board with commissioners Donald L. Olson; Woodrow Almquist and Merle Lindberg voting in favor of the plan and commissioners Glenn Tasa and Odine Hanson opposed.

This program would be sponsored by the library division of the state department of education without cost to the counties, during the trial period of from one to two years. At the end of the trial period, the counties involved would consider continuation of the program but are not obligated to do so.

Pennington county approval of the program does not necessarily mean that it will go into effect as proposed. All counties participating in a multi-county program must be adjoining. Should Marshall county commissioners fail to request participation, Kittson and Roseau counties could not be included and a multi-county plan would be impossible. If either Kittson or Roseau county rejected the plan, that county would be excluded from the multi-county operation.

Trinity Church Father-and-Son Banquet Tuesday

Rev. Clayton C. Engen, pastor at Fisher, will be the guest speaker for the Trinity Lutheran church father and son banquet to be held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the church basement. Donald L. Olson will be master of ceremonies with Vernon and Terry Nelson giving the father and son tributes.

Bryant Ulseth will lead group singing and the meal will be served as a joint effort by church circles. Tickets will be available at the door at a price of $1.25 for fathers and $.75 for sons.

Rev. Engen is a graduate of Carleton college with a B.A. degree in 1935 and Luther Theological seminary in St. Paul in 1946. He served as pastor in Chippewa Falls Wis., from 1946 to 1955 and has been pastor at Fisher since 1955.

Weekend guests at Severt Bensons were Miss Clarice Medchill of Minneapolis and Miss Marilyn Froiland of Grand Forks, N. D.

Plan Meeting To Study Vegetable Production Here

Dr. Orrin C. Turnquist To Speak Friday About Commercial Possibility

To examine the possibilities of commercial vegetable production, a meeting for area farmers will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. Vegetables to be discussed include onions, cabbage, rutabagas, carrots and others.

Dr. Orrin C. Turnquist, horticulturist from the University of Minnesota, will present information on the topic. Commercial vegetable production can improve income possibilities on many of the area's smaller farms, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent.

Some of the topics to be covered will be the cost per acre for vegetable production, what varieties are best, how fertilizer is used, what weed control is most effective and what markets are available. It is expected that women will be especially interested in this phase of the farm business.

The Library Corner

BY Virginia Gjernes

What would they think? Should Washington and Lincoln return today..or tommorrow, just what would they think?..the country gentlemen and the country bumpkin who rose to such great heights? One headed this country in its infancy. The other during great tribulations. How would they act . . . and react? Would it be difficult for us moderns to look them square in the eye when we conversed with them? Would we be prone to study the flowers on the wallpaper when they asked us pointblank question regarding the state of affairs, or the affairs of state?

We've progressed since Mr Washington's time..or have we? We've progressed since Mr. Lincoln's time...haven't we?

To understand these two men you must know them intimately... and since it is impossible to visit personally, there is no better way, actually no other way, than by reading about them. Elswyth Thane, author of "Washington's Lady", has produced a new historical volume "Potomac Squire". Her words characterize Washington as a gentleman, husband, father..not so stiff and conventional as pictured previously. Douglas Southall Freeman, one of Washington's foremost biographers, takes six volumes to unfold the tapestry of the life of the aristocratic young man slated to become our democracy's first elected leader.

Lincoln, always pictured as the warm, friendly, poor-but-honest type, has had many volumes written about him...and because of him. None pictures him more clearly, nor more brilliantly than does Paul Horgan in "Citizen of New Salem". Another volume on the shelf in Carnegie Public Library is "Lincoln, As They Saw Him" written by Harbert Mitgang. This work permits you to see the man through the eyes of his friends, his enemies and his co-workers. This is not a new book, but one well worth reading by those who have "met the man, but are not too well acquainted."

Books, like our human friends, should be appreciated for what they are! Some are inspirational, some books are factual, all are educational, in one way or another. Lent, with its spiritual food, is an excellent time for you to read the inspirational volumes on the shelves of your library.

Have you ever taken time to read Kirby Page's "Living Joyously"? A lot of people have, and they have enjoyed it tremendously. Why not try it yourself? And there is "Yesterday, Today, and Forever" by Maria Augusta Trapp, who also authored "The story of the Trapp Family Singers."

There is "What Is Vital in Religion" by Harry Emerson Fosdick, among many other thought-provoking books on the same shelf. Mary Ellen Chase selected readings from the Bible and they've been edited and bound for your easy access.

Catherine Marshall edited sermons by which the young in spirit will benefit. They are written by her husband, Peter Marshall, and published under "John Doe, Disciple". There are, of course, other Marshall volumes on the shelf for your selection.

Have you read "Keys of the Kingdom" by Cronin...not new, but always good reading. Ousler's "Grehtest Story Ever Told" has lost none of its popularity. "The Robe" by Douglas is still checked out often.

There are many, many more books on the shelves of your library. Some of them old, some of them now—but there they are for one purpose only..your pleasure! Your library was originally established for you...it has been maintained for you and it has continued to expand...with you, as well as for you!

Enjoy your library, use it...you'll benefit by it more than anyone else!

The topic was "What is My Responsibility in Bettering Inter-racial and Inter-religious Understanding?". It was a hard topic, and they did an extremely good job. I am sure the judges will agree to that!

If ever there was an example of haste making waste, it's in the cutting of a garment. Unless a seamstress takes time to cut accurately, she'll have trouble later on in the sewing—and spend a lot more time adjusting for the careless cutting job.

Be sure the pattern is laid precisely on the straight of the goods. Otherwise, the garment will pull out of shape often during the sewing process.

For the woman who likes to cut several garments at once from the same pattern, laying out the pattern and cutting are the most important steps.

The layers of fabric must be laid perfectly straight and smooth. It might be a good idea to pin the edges together to keep the material from slipping. And, the seamstress must be sure she has all the necessary pieces. With so many single and double layers of fabric, it is easy to forget a second sleeve or collar facing.

Extra time will be needed for sections that must be laid on a lengthwise fold of material and for accurately marking the pattern.

It is also suggested that you do not try to cut more than six layers of a light weight material at one time. It is too hard to pin and cut with home equipment. Even six layers will require a pair of sturdy, bent-handle shears and a strong hand.

And here's a final hint. If you plan to cut several garments at once, select a pattern with simple, straight lines. You'll find it is easier to manage.

Be sure to take time in the cutting of your garment. You will be happier for it.

Many TRF People at Legion & Aux. Parley In East Grand Forks

A successful mid-winter 9th district conference of the American Legion and Auxiliary was held in East Grand Forks, Saturday, February 15., Dist. Commander Albert Olson and Dist. Pres. Mrs. Fred Seaberg were in charge of the meetings.

Mrs. E. O. Peterson, past department president, as one of the speakers stressed the abiding faith in America and God, and called for a rededication to keep America strong.

Tom Warner, Dept., Legion Jr. baseball director told of the work being done in this field over the past 38 years in Minnesota, and the grave responsibility of teaching the boys fair play for the future.

Charles Harding, Dept. child welfare chairman, stressed the idea that all children are created equal and should be treated as such regardless of color, faith or ancestry. Over $42,000 had been spent in the 9th district the past year for aid to children and for research in the fields of heart, mental health retardation, blindness, speech, etc.

Dept. Vice President, Mrs. James Walker explained the work being done in the Veterans hospitals by the Auxiliary, as well as the Gift Shop and the Poppy Work room.

Ass't Dept. Adjutant Frank Momson spoke of patriotism in the home and schools, and cited Boys State and Legionville as two examples to incourage this. Over 5,000 boys have attended Boys State in Minnesota in the past 15 years. Legionville, a camp for School Patrol boys and girls, where over a quarter of a million dollars has been invested, is filled to capacity every summer.

Dept. Commander Howard Lohman, discussed the American Legion Hospital association, which is the only one of its kind in the United States. He also advised all members to join a blood bank and to have their blood typed in case of necessity.

The main speaker of the day was Hennepin county Sheriff, Ed Ryan, whose theme was Americanism and history which he claims is an unpopular subject these days. He has been a law enforcement officer for 39 years and a Legionnaire for 43 having joined Paris Post No. 1.

Those attending from Thief River Falls, were: Commander and Mrs. Orville Hanson, Service Officer and Mrs. M. R. Levorson, Dist. Vice Commander Jim Smille, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Peterson, Mrs. Harold M. Johnson, past dist. President adjutant, Ellsworth Jorgenson, Charles Josephson, Vice commander, LeRoy Nabben, Nell Ryan, Mrs. Orville Feragen and the Chorus members: Messrs. Leroy Nabben, Rudolph Hanson, Melvin Ernst, John S. Jaranson, Walter Halvorson, Wallace Jordet, Joe Larson, L. P. Winters, R. C. Reeve, Wm. Collins, Mrs. Florence Myers, Misses Sandra Halvorson, Glynnis Ranum, accompanist Mrs. Frank Harger and conductor Mrs. Norman Peterson.

Public Opinion

Dear Editor:

On Feb. 13th the residents of Goodridge School District No. 561 voted on the question, "Should we bond the School district for the purpose of building an additional six class rooms and a new gymnasium?"

Approximately 90 per cent of the eligible voters of the district cast their ballots on the question. This is an enviable record of people accepting their responsibility and exercising their democratic privilege regardless of the election's outcome. This kind of interest renews confidence in the continued preservation of the heritage that is ours.

In view of this record, we in the Goodridge area can walk a little taller today and thrill with justifiable pride as we say: "This is my community; this is my country".

Marvin Lundin, Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dear Mr. Lundin:

I want to take this opportunity to make a few comments on the subject of a letter that was published in the Times last week. The letter raised the question of how much assistance Rep. Skaar and I were giving the proposal for a new Junior College in Thief River Falls.

Perhaps a little background is necessary to bring the story up to date. During the last session of the Legislature I was selected to be chairman of the House Appropriations committee which was the first time in over thirty years this post has gone to someone outside of the Twin Cities area. I had the opportunity to recommend to the Speaker membership on the committee and proposed Rep. Skaar. He was appointed and I named him a member of the sub-committee on education because I knew one of our most important considerations would be in the area of Junior Colleges.

During the past five sessions there has been Legislation dealing with the establishment of state-operated Junior Colleges, but they have always failed. During this session it appeared that this Legislation would again fail. The House leadership indicated to me that if there was to be Legislation this time I should take the lead in coming up with a bill that would be acceptable to the House. Senator Sinclair was one of the authors of a Junior College bill that had already passed the Senate. Rep. Skaar was an author of a bill that was in my committee.

Rep. Skaar and I agreed that any bill that passed should have in it the definite language that one of the proposed four new Junior Colleges should be located in Northwest Minnesota. Senators Sinclair and Maruska agreed and we had this language inserted in the law. It was because of our leadership that we now have the opportunity to be considered for one of the new Junior Colleges.

Included in the bill was the formation of a five member Junior College Board that will make recommendations to the next session of the Legislature for possible sites and priority of building the new buildings. Also included in the conference committee report that authorized this new program was adding the Junior College Board to membership on the Liason Committee that will recommend to the next session on all matters of higher education. I think that it is extremely important that under this arrangement our area of the state will have an excellent opportunity to gain recognition for aid in meeting the shortage of facilities for higher education in this area. Senator Sinclair, Senator Maruska and Rep. Skaar contributed powerful leadership in bringing all of this about.

Before closing I think I should comment a little on another factor that seems to be adding much confusion to this picture of education. The University of Minnesota is proposing that some changes be made at the Crookston School and Experiment Station. These changes have been recommended to follow along the lines of a Technical Institute patterned after the Wahpeton School of Science. Agriculture would be the main emphasis in a Liberal Arts program if the advice of many of the leaders of agriculture in the Red River Valley are successful. The Crookston school has dormitory facilities for over three hundred and fifty students, and if this proposed change is adopted it would operate as a branch of the University and would be considered much more than an area institution. The proposal at Thief River Falls is for a community Junior College which would not entail dormitories and would follow the pattern of all the existing Junior Colleges in Minnesota.

In my estimation, and in the thinking of my colleagues in this area who have worked so long to bring more facilities for higher education to our area, there is no conflict in these two proposals. There is no reason why a good case cannot be made for both ideas and I feel with the kind of effort that is now being made by people all over the Red River Valley this can be done. It would be most unforunate if the people in the Northwestern part of the state divided their efforts just at the time when success seems so near. Ever since I have been a member of the Legislature it has been one of my greatest dreams to see what is envisioned in these two proposals come into reality. Rep. Skaar certainly proved effective in his leadership for the Junior College cause during the last season.

Yours truly,
Richard W. Fitzsimons

Editor Times:

The Times has had several letters both for and against the bookmobile to be established by the state in these northwest counties. I, have seen the bookmobile in operation in Anoka county and the opportunity it affords the people to use this facility. I believe it would be a serious mistake if we did not take advantage of the offer now made by the state.

Editor Times:
Dear Sir:

It is with great interest that I have noted the developments in our area concerning the possibility of a junior college being located in our city.

With the increased emphasis placed on education today in order to train effective citizens with thinking abilities and the depth of understanding in solving today's problems I believe it is our responsibility to provide the facilities necessary in order that our young people may acquire the skills needed for the responsibilities of effective citizenship.

In the past many have been possessed with the idea that all that is necessary for those who really want an education is the determination to get one. However, in studies this statement has been proven very erroneous. In the study of groups of exceptional children, among them the gifted, we find that in years gone by as a group these have been sadly neglected greatly because if this ideology.

Finances, home conditions and other situations may make it impossible for some to attend institutions of higher learning when located at a considerable distance from the home community. Thus these human resources are wasted in our society. If our precious heritage of democracy is to be protected for ourselves and freedom extended throughout the world we need to give all our gifted every opportunity to become wise and capable leaders in our society.

We not only need effective leadership but also followers who are able to reflect and interpret the issues of the day. This will result in the election of officials who are intellectually and morally fit to conduct the affairs of our government.

To provide educational facilities of every type at every level is also proving to be a principle of economic efficiency. In the ranks of the unemployed we find the majority with little or no training or specific skills. These, then, become a burden to society when they should be productive citizens. Should not the ounce of prevention be worth the pound of cure?

While the opportunity is ours I believe the principle of "whatever we do should be done with all our might" should be applied in our combined efforts of securing an institution of higher learning in our community.

Mrs. Melvin Grinde

Dear Editor:

I would like not to have my name printed but since this new Junior High School is now becoming a reality, I would like to offer a suggestion for its name.

I think the name should be a monument to someone in our area who has worked hard to better the lives of children - the only one who rates at the top of the list is Lyda Batten. She has taught school 53 years. Three generations have been guided by her endeavors. She still remembers father and son by first names and I think her faithfulness should be rewarded. When our country is looking for youth that will be able to take over the jobs that we have made for them Miss Batten should be remembered. Miss Batten is now 80, or very close to it, and while she is still living and knows how much "her" town loves and appreciates her, we must take this opportunity before it's too late.

If the name Kennedy is used, let it be for the grade school. I too think his name has been overused as a memorial because of his misfortune. Can't our town be original? How many schools can ever be named Lyda Batten with personal love like ours could and should be?

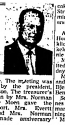
Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE



It sometimes takes 100 years to develop an idea. William Watts Folwell, the first president of the University of Minnesota, came to the state in 1869. In his inaugural address he set forth a breath-taking conception of a state university; included in his prophetic speech was a system of junior colleges.

Folwell later developed his proposal into what he called "The Minnesota Plan", and it was adopted by the board of regents in 1870. The junior college idea was so far ahead of its time, in fact, that it existed only on paper; regents themselves withdrew their support of the plan.

Now, nearly 100 years later, we are just beginning to develop a system of fully state-owned and state-operated junior colleges.

During the last session of the Legislature, several junior college bills were introduced. I co-authored one of the junior college bills, and was also a member of the education sub-committee of appropriations that wrote the education bill for this biennium.

Our committee spent a great deal of time, study and deliberation of the education bill, especially the junior college provision. The appropriations committee is all-powerful in that no appropriations bill can be amended on the floor of the House.

This decision to embark on a program of fully state-owned and state-operated junior colleges is one of the most important and far-reaching decisions made by the Legislature for many years. This will put educational opportunity within commuting distance for thousands of Minnesotans.

The present bill calls for a system of 15 junior colleges. I do not believe there is anything magic in the number 15, but the final number will be determined by the degree of public acceptance and the willingness of the taxpayers to pay the bill.

This system is to be governed by a five-man board, appointed for staggered terms by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. This board is organized and just recently hired an executive secretary.

The junior college board may take over an existing junior college after July 1, 1964, if the existing college wishes to come under state control. All of the 11 junior colleges now existing have indicated a desire to join the state system. The number to be taken into the state system this year will no doubt be determined by the amount of money available.

The bill further provides that three of the state junior colleges shall be situated within the counties of Ramsey, Anoka, Washington and Hennepin, and that consideration also be given to the needs for a state junior college in northwestern Minnesota. The more communities that will support us in our bid, the better our chances will be to have the college located in Thief River Falls. The state junior college board is to make its report to the next legislature, and the legislature shall make the final determination.

In the minds of many people, a great deal of confusion seems to exist concerning a junior college and future plans for the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. The Northwest school is a branch of the University of Minnesota, and as such is governed by the board of regents . . . an entirely different governing body from the junior college board.

The university will submit its plans for the Northwest school to the next session of the legislature, and it will be up to the legislators to determine what changes will be made and when they will be made.

Plans are to offer technical agriculture-related subjects—courses that will not conflict with the state college program or the junior college program. If and when the proposed changes are made, it will not alleviate the need for a liberal arts junior college in this area. They are two entirely different institutions in type and in purpose.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—As the widow of a veteran who died of service-connected disabilities, I receive a monthly compensation payment. I have been thinking of going back to work. A friend tells me that I will lose the compensation payments. Is this so?

A—No. Compensation payments are made without reference to your income. Your friend is thinking of VA pension payments, paid to widows of veterans who died of non-service-connected causes. Income limitations do apply in these cases.

CURLING NEWS

by Jon Larson

This past weekend was a busy one at the T. R. F. curling club, for spectators as well as participants. The 8th annual States-Dominion bonspiel was held over this past weekend with, as I've mentioned before, many Canadian entries. We want to thank the Granite curling club from Winnipeg for the many entries they sent down. Some of the more noted rinks from the Granite club were Dick Boyd, Jimmy Doyle, Frank Cancilla and Easson Miller. In my first game I had the privilege of curling against Dick Boyd who is employed by the McDonald Tobacco company, and the reason for my mentioning this is the fact that the McDonald Tobacco company has for years sponsored the Canadian Championship playoffs. We are glad Dick could make it down for our 'spiel and hope he can make it again next season.

We hope that everyone got a chance to watch the finals of the Manitoba playdowns which were televised on Friday and Saturday. This is an example of some of the finest curling you could ever see. During the telecast Jack Wells mentioned our bonspiel several times. Jack has curled in our bonspiel in the past and we want to thank him for mentioning it.

I think we should be proud of the fact that several of our local rinks made it to the eight's and went on to win two out of the three events. Harold Halvorson, one of the finest curlers in our club, was defeated after winning his first two games and Ardell Liden went on to win the third event.

Another highlight of the curling season will be the first annual International Legion bonspiel held on the curling club ice this weekend. Rinks from North Dakota, Minnesota, and Canada are expected for this 'spiel. Those who didn't have a chance to see the action last weekend should make it a point to take in the Legion 'spiel this weekend.

League playoffs will commence at the end of league play to determine the league winner. On the heels of this will be the city championship in which all rinks will participate for city champion.

League play will go into another round until spring weather takes our ice. This will be a fun league and all rinks interested should sign their names on the bulletin board.

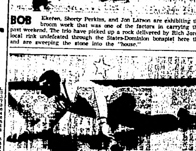
BOB Ekeren, Shorty Perkins, and Jon Larson are exhibiting the broom work that was one of the factors in carrying the local rink undefeated through the States-Dominion bonspiel here the past weekend. The trio have picked up a rock delivered by Rich Jorde and are sweeping the stone into the "house."



JON Larson intently watches the progress of his final skip rock in the sixth end of the championship finals of the Hartz Wholesale event in the States-Dominion bonspiel held here last weekend. Larson's rock, which froze against an opponent's stone in the four-foot ring, cut out a "big end" for the Art Ferguson rink of Park River, N. D. The Larson rink won the match, 9 to 6.

FISHING on Lake of the Woods Monday, Elmer Thompson of Middle River caught this 18-pound, 14-ounce northern which measured 41 inches in length. Thompson was fishing for walleyes with a bucktail jig as bait when the big fish took the lure.

Thieves Six Bows to UND Freshmen

The senior hockey Thieves dropped a 9 to 7 decision to coach Bob Peters hard-skating North Dakota freshman team in a game played here Tuesday night. But the locals, trailing by an 8 to 3 score at the end of the second period, rallied for four goals in the third period while holding the Sioux frosh to single tally.

The Thieves will conclude their Northwest Hockey league schedule this weekend when they meet the Crookston Pirates and Grand Forks Warriors on the Arena ice. The Crookston Pirates will play here on Saturday night, while the Warriors, with a chance to tie the Thieves for the league title, will play here on Sunday afternoon.

In Tuesday night's crowd-pleasing game, the North Dakota Freshman, with several players from last season's classy Brandon Wheat Kings squad, a Junior A club, on the roster, moved into a 3 to 1 lead in the first period, and but for some agile goal-tending by Rod Collins the score would have been lop-sided.

In the second period the green-uniformed North Dakota squad continued to outplay and outscore the Thieves, holding an 8 to 3 lead at the end of the period. Dennis Hextall, a son of former New York Ranger player Bryan Hextall, tallied a pair of the Sioux frosh goals in the period. The Thieves notched a pair of goals, with Larry Poole and Wayne Loeffler beating burly Bill O'Neal for tallies.

But it was in the third period that the Thieves, with a fine rally, stirred the fans by scoring four goals. Gus Holmes, Eddie Derosier, DelRay Offerdahl, and Chip Strand were the lamp lighters for the locals. The Sioux frosh tallied but one goal, that being credited to Russ Johnson.

The Thieves had Eddie Derosier, Tony Schmitz, Jerry Welter, and Jerry Abelson from Crookston on their roster. Grand Forks' Ron Geatz, who was to have played with the locals, suffered a shoulder injury during last week's Crookston vs. Grand Forks game and will be able to join the Thieves for state tournament play.

A pair of former Roseau Rams players played strong roles for the North Dakota freshman. Bob Lillo was at a wing on the line centered by Brandon's Bob Stoyko; and Dale Olson was paired with Jerry LaFond at a starting defense position.

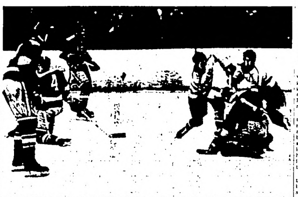
W.C.T.U. Donates Books to Library

Nineteen books and pamphlets on alcohol and tobacco education have recently been donated to Carnegie Public library in Thief River Falls by the Women's Christian Temperance union in the city. The publications provide information for the public and are recommended by the W. C. T. U. as reference matter for high school students writing theme papers on related subjects.



PROWLER goalie David (Nobby) Erickson successfully holds off the scoring effort of Vern Hodgson and Jim Jaros as they attempt to cram in the rebound off Allan Johnston's second-period on-goal shot. Watching the outcome of the play are, left to right, the Prowlers' Jim Anderson, Elroy Froiland and John Weigelt. Warroad won the Region Eight semi-finals game at Roseau, by a 2 to 0 score, to enter the championship finals where they lost to the defending champion Roseau Rams, 3 to 1.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

They'll Need Fans' Support

On Friday, Feb. 21, coach Al Shaff will be taking his Prowler varsity wrestling squad to Bemidji for the two-day Region Eight tournament. And for the first time since the ever-growing wrestling sport has been on the Region Eight sports agenda and with competition on a tournament basis, the Prowlers have been installed as one of the title favorites. The Park Rapids Panthers, and the defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks, both of whom were beaten by the Prowlers in dual matches during the season, are rated with the Prowlers. And given "dark horse" ratings are the Crookston Pirates and the Warren Ponies.

The matches will be held in the Bemidji junior high school gymnasium. The preliminaries are slated for Friday night, starting at 6:00 p. m. The semi-finals in the championship bracket will be at 1:00 p. m. on Saturday; with the championship finals to begin at 8:00 p. m.

Local wrestling fans will enjoy the matches, and it will be worth their while to make the 95-mile drive to Bemidji, and especially for the semi-finals and finals on Saturday.

The Prowlers will have several wrestlers who will be making serious bids for individual honors. Of course, Joe Taylor is a defending Region Eight champion and will be favored to successfully defend his title. Both other Prowlers who rated highly are Myles Olson in the 95-pound class, Gary Nereson in the 127-pound class; and Terry Nelson in the 154-pound division.

And don't forget that the Prowlers will be meeting the Greenbush Tigers here tonight, Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Drawing to the Four Foot.

Believe me, there were a number of curlers performing at the Fair Grounds arena during the weekend's States-Dominion bonspiel who could draw to the four foot.

The Hank Monson rink of Nash, N. Dak., winners of the first event in last season's bonspiel, made a strong bid again this year, losing to the local club's Jon Larson rink in the semi-finals. The Monson rink was without the services of Orvil Gilleshammer, who skipped the rink last season. Gilleshammer, though, was an interested spectator at this year's bonspiel. He was not able to curl with the Monson rink because of a knee injury.

Gilleshammer, whose Grafton rink won the North Dakota state title last week, is a stickler for physical fitness, and it was during a session of calisthenics, knee bends and such, being performed in the living room of his home in Grafton that he fractured some knee cartilages. He was able, through the use of "shots" to deaden the pain, to curl during the North Dakota state playdowns. And he will continue to use novocaine shots during the United States tournament next month. This injury will require surgery for the removal of these cartilage fragments.

And speaking of Hank Monson. Last month he was in Las Vegas on a vacation, and he viewed the show at the Stardust Hotel. Hank, who is plump and bald and cheerful, had a front-row seat, and the star of the show, Tony Martin, noting Monson's resemblance to Nikita Khrushchev, made this comment, "I am glad to see that Khrushchev was able to make the show tonight". The remark drew a big laugh.

The majority of the Winnipeg curlers who were here for the spiel were glad that Bruce Hudson, on Saturday night in the Winnipeg Arena, won the Manitoba curling title and will represent the province in the Canadian competition. And playing on this Hudson rink, and throwing the second rocks, is Ken Little, who will be remembered as playing hockey with the Thieves in States-Dominion competition some years ago.

The Manitoba finals between Bruce Hudson and Carman's Gary Ross was televised into this area by CJAY, and Thief River Falls received a couple of "plugs". One of the commentators, noting that several of Winnipeg's colorful curlers weren't in attendance at the Arena, made this query: "I note that several of the city's curling experts are missing."; and he was answered by the announcer who stated that "These experts are participating in a bonspiel in Thief River Falls."

In Their Final Bow

The Prowler cagers will conclude their home schedule on Saturday night when they meet the Climax Vikings on the Lincoln court.

The game is a District 31 conference tilt, and as such has considerable importance. But of more importance is the fact that the game is the final appearance on the local court as Prowler cagers for five of coach Jack Junker's squad. Meaning that the squad's senior members—Bob Olson, Rick Jensen, Kenny Larson, Mark Anderson, and Gary Hagen—will be acknowledging the introduction by announcer Art Welter, and the encouragement of the Prowler cheering section, for the last time on the Lincoln gymnasium floor.

These five boys have been together as a unit from their junior high school days, and it is with a feeling of regret that I will be entering those names into the scorebook on Saturday night.

Local Grapplers Enter Regional

The Region Eight committee last week announced that the 1964 Region wrestling tournament will again be held at Bemidji, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21-22, in the Bemidji junior high school gymnasium.

This marks the first time in the seven-year history of the tourney that the meet has been held as a two-day tournament. This has been brought about, the committee stated, by the rapidly increasing interest in the mat sport, which has grown from four schools having squads to eleven schools participating this season.

The move will also eliminate the necessity of wrestlers competing four or five times during a single day. This often resulted in champions being determined as much on the luck of draw as on their wrestling ability.

The preliminary and quarter-final rounds of the championship bracket will be wrestled on Friday night, with the first bouts to begin at 6:00 p. m. This will comprise a maximum of 84 matches, minus forfeits.

The semi-final round will begin Saturday at 1:00 p. m., and will be followed by the consolation bracket, a maximum of 72 bouts in all.

The consolation finals will be wrestled Saturday night, starting at 7:00 p. m., with the championship matches to begin at 8:00 p. m.

Schools entering teams in the Regional tourney are Ada, Bemidji, Fosston, Thief River Falls, Crookston, Fertile, Greenbush, Mahnomen, Park Rapids, Waubun and Warren. Bemidji is the defending regional champion, but the Lumberjacks, having lost in dual meets to Park Rapids and Thief River Falls during the season, will enter the meet sharing the favorites role with the Prowlers and the Panthers.

All rounds except the championship will be contested on two mats. Three officials will again be used on a rotating basis. K. E. (Red) Wilson, Bemidji high school athletic director, will be the tournament manager.

Newfolden Whips Warroad 75 to 47

Ken Carlson of Nordics Scores 24 Points Friday

The Newfolden Nordics finished their conference schedule for the season with a 75 to 47 victory over Warroad on Friday in a road game. The victory assured the Nordics of a second place finish in the North Border Conference. Ken Carlson of the Nordics led all scorers with 24 points followed by John Rokke with 17, Verne Hagenbeck with 13, and Terry Strandquist with 10. Rick Temple was high for the Warriors with 14 points.

The Nordics racked up a 9-3 record in the conference good for a point basis score of 11-3 counting their two point victories over Baudette and Williams which were only met once during the season. This will pair the Nordics against the Warroad Warriors again in the Subdistrict Tournament beginning on February 28th at Roseau. The Nordics season's record to date is 12-4 overall with a double loss to Middle River and single losses to Lake Bronson and Greenbush.

There are two non-conference road games remaining on the Nordic schedule this coming week. On Friday they travel to Karlstad and on Saturday they play the Hallock Bears.

Livestock Industry Outlook Called Good

A brighter livestock outlook for 1964 and a growing challenge of livestock imports to the U. S. were reviewed Thursday during the annual meeting of the Central Livestock Association, Inc., in St. Paul.

Sherwood O. Berg, dean of the Institute of Agriculture at the University of Minnesota, based the livestock outlook on an assumption of continued growth of the general economy and active consumer spending.

The livestock picture shapes up as an increase in hog prices but little overall change in cattle and lamb prices, compared with 1963. But beef returns should be better for producers, because of lower feeder prices and a slackening in replacement purchases, which point to higher cattle prices in the second and third quarters of this year.

Hog prices, Berg continued, are not expected to fluctuate as widely in 1964. Decreases in farrowings last August and September, and intended decreases in spring farrowings, could add up to higher returns for hog producers than last year.

Turning to the challenge of livestock imports, Berg used beef as an example. He pointed to attractive prices in the U. S., low fixed duties of 3 cents a pound without other restrictions on beef imports, and the fact that many other countries are restricting beef imports to protect their own producers.

As a result, he said, the U. S. is the primary import market for beef and veal from Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, Mexico, Argentina and other countries.

Berg cited U. S. Department of Agriculture figures showing that imports of beef in 1962 totalled 1.5 billion pounds in carcass weight, or about 9 percent of U. S. domestic production. In 1963, the totals were near 1.8 billion pounds or more than a tenth of U.S. output.

What is the answer to high beef imports? Berg noted that the Smoot-Hawley Tarrif Act was tied 30 years ago, but wasn't the answer; exports then never got above $800 million.

He suggested three tools at the disposal of the U. S. which "may help break down the protectionist attitude toward domestic agricultural production which is held by most other countries."

1. "The broad authority under the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 should put us in a good position to get some mutually helpful trade concessions."

2. Assurances to the U. S. that "the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade GAAT partners will consider agricultural products on the same basis as industrial products."

3. The possibility of being given the opportunity to compete in a market, sometimes referred to as "market sharing."

Three other challenges to the beef industry which Berg mentioned were losses from diseases and parasites, need for continued improvements in breeding, and consumer demands.

Teen-age Editors Asked to Compete

Heart Assn. to Sponsor Anti-cigaret Contest

Because most cigarette smokers develop the habit while they're teenagers, the Minnesota Heart association is urging high school editors to compete in a statewide effort to publish the best article, editorial or cartoon on the relationship between smoking and heart disease, announced Dr. W. W. Kemmerer, chairman of the association's committee on public information.

The first prize winner, to be announced during the Minnesota High School Press association convention the end of April, will be awarded a scholarship and expenses to a University of Minnesota short course in journalism to be offered next summer.

Entries, which must be mailed to Minnesota Heart association by April 10th, will be judged by Roy Upham, managing editor of the Minneapolis Star.

"The contest is for editors only," said Dr. Kemmerer.

Draft Rejectees to Receive Help

Employment Offices to Assist in New Program

As part of a nationwide effort, the Minnesota state employment service this week embarded on a program of employment assistance to young men who, for one reason or another, fail to meet standards for induction into the Armed Forces.

According to Frank T. Starkey, commissioner of employment security, all 33 offices of the service will cooperate with local draft boards in this attempt to assist in what President Johnson feels may be one of the sources of the country's "hard core" of unemployment.

"Minnesota has always ranked exceptionally high in the per cent of young men meeting Armed Forces standards," Starkey said, "so we don't anticipate any avalanche. However, we do stand ready to assist any young man referred to us."

Selective service boards throughout the state will encourage all young men not accepted for the Armed Forces, and who do not have permanent, full-time jobs, to contact the nearest employment office. Here, they will receive necessary assistance in analyzing their employability, including testing and counseling where necessary, consideration for training under current manpower programs; or referral to other community agencies for services for which they may be eligible, to improve their chances for employment.

Farmers Union to Show Farm Photos

Display to Be Offered at RRV Shows Next Week

The photo display, entitled "Way Back When," will be shown at a Farmers Union "Hospitality Room," to be located on the main floor of the Crookston Hotel.

The principal Farmers Union displays, representing the farm organization and the various cooperative services, will, as usual, be located in the Winter Shows arena.

"However, we know that many folks will visit downtown Crookston during the Winter Shows and we hope that, when they do so, they will stop for a cup of coffee and a visit at the 'hospitality room' we will have at the Crookston Hotel," said Edwin Christianson, President of Minnesota Farmers Union.

Nutritionist Offers Guide to Food Buyer

How can you be sure you're getting a bargain or a "best buy" in food? Is it worth shopping around for specials?

Studies show that a family can save 10 to 15 percent on the year's expenditures for groceries through buying at the most advantageous prices. Thus a family might save $200 or more on food bills by paying attention to specials.

A food advertised as a "bargain" or "best buy" is usually a food that costs less than it did last week or will cost next week, or it may be a food that is priced lower than the same food in other stores in the area. But Mary Ryan, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota, says that whether this food represents a bargain to a family is dependent upon many factors. Here are some of the questions she suggests that consumers ask themselves about specials:

Is the so-called bargain at a conveniently located store? Money saved on a food item at one store may be more than used for the gasoline or bus fare it takes to get there and back. Even if the bargain represents a real saving in money, a busy homemaker may find it is too costly in time to shop around for food bargains.

Will the family eat and enjoy it? No food is a bargain if the family will not eat it, although a skillful meal planner may turn a disliked food into a family favorite.

Is it packaged in a quantity that meets family needs? Large cans and packages may represent a saving over small ones, unless the large container is difficult to store or means leftovers that are eventually discarded.

How does its cost compare with the cost of other foods of similar food value? The money-wise shopper knows foods go together to make a good diet and economizes by selecting the best buys from each of these groups of foods. For example, milk is the most economical and best source of calcium, dark green and deep yellow vegetables the cheapest sources of vitamin A.

Does it fit into a meal plan that has family appeal and is good nutritionally?

Does the homemaker have the time and the skill to prepare it? The homemaker who knows the difference in cost between a food she prepares from scratch at home and a convenience food can decide whether the time she saves is worth the extra cost. Remember, however, that some convenience foods cost about the same or less than foods purchased without built-in services, for example, frozen or canned orange juice and some canned and frozen vegetables. How much the homemaker enjoys cooking and how much time she can spend will also influence her choice.

TRF Schools List Hot Lunch Menus

Tuesday: Wieners, sauerkraut, buttered potatoes, bread and butter, vanilla pudding, milk.

Wednesday: Pork and beans, Vienna sausages, cabbage and carrot salad, bread and butter, pear sauce, milk.

Thursday: Turkey and gravy on mashed potatoes, buttered wax beans, bread and butter, cranberry sauce, milk.

Anything that scares or hurts a cow will raise the adrenalin level in her bloodstream, counteracting the effect of a substance which causes milk letdown. The result is a smaller amount of milk, says the North Dakota State University College of Agriculture.

Agricultural assets in the United States amount to $214 billion and are equal to about three-fifths of all corporation stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

Editorials . . .

"Life is like a road, the first part of which is a hill. A man must for a while be constantly pulling that he may get forward, and not run back. When he has got beyond the steep, and on smooth ground—that is, when his character is fixed—he goes on smoothly upon level ground."

Big Battleground

Minnesota's Seventh District has again been selected by experts as a battleground for one of the state's Congressional seats. Basis for the prediction is that the margin of victory in the last election was only 5,385 votes.

Rep. Odin Langen, who relinquished his place of power in the state House of Representatives to defeat Mrs. Coya Knutson, has held this district's seat in Congress for the past three terms. In view of the heavy DFL vote in much of the district, he may expect trouble from any candidate this year.

Langen's popular appeal in this district in the past has been his excellent attendance record in Congress and his work for the benefit of agriculture in Minnesota. His stands against imports which compete against Minnesota farm products, often at the expense of farmers themselves, have been well received by the district's farmers and agricultural businessmen.

One case in point was the import of beef and poultry products. Foreign nations purchase grain on a subsidized export program, paid for by our nation's taxpayers. They feed the grain to cattle or poultry and then export the meat back to the United States where it is sold on the commercial market in competition with American-produced items.

Seeking the DFL endorsement in the district is one William Kjeldahl, best remembered as the office assistant of Mrs. Knutson. He also sought endorsement two years ago when Dr. Harding Noblitt of Concordia college was given party support.

The Noblitt endorsement was unique in itself, and of particular interest to this area. Ben Wichterman of Plummer also sought DFL endorsement in that campaign, and in his initial attempt at the district convention, remained tied with the political science professor through something like 50 ballots. The convention adjourned in a stalemate, and when it convened again, Wichterman withdrew as a candidate and Noblitt received the endorsement.

Politics being what it is, there could be some connection between the former state representative's withdrawal and his later appointment by Gov. Rolvaag to head the state ASC committee—a five-figure salary position.

All of which makes us wonder if Wichterman will seek endorsement of the party for the Congressional seat again. Whether he does or not, we agree with the experts that the Seventh District will again be a battleground prior to the election this fall.

Changes in Russia

Throughout the years of the cold war, piercing the mystery behind the iron curtain has been both necessary to survival and a matter of deep curiosity to the West. It has often seemed that communism, turning a single monolithic face to the world and acting with concerted ruthless effort to achieve long-range goals, had a terrific advantage. How could western nations, independent, and often divided by national interest, hope to contain or roll back such an enemy? But the single face of Communism is split, and problems within Russia herself send ripples into the West.

From many sources the story comes. From American intelligence reports, the course of the Soviet economy has been reliably plotted. The conclusions drawn from independent efforts compare closely. Economic activity rose very sharply from the time of Stalin's death in 1953, to 1958 and 1959. Following this peak, there has been a sharp drop. A new U.S. Central Intelligence Agency analysis shows that Russian economic growth, reaching as high as 10 per cent annually following World War II, has fallen to less than 2.5 per cent—considerably below the economic growth rate in thae United States.

During 1963, the U. S. produced $584.8 billion worth of goods and services compared to around $260 billion in the Soviet Union. Food production has been a major failure. It has fallen to the same level as it was in 1956, but now there are 25 million more Russians to feed. It is now plain that the missile gap belongs to Khrushchev and not the United States. All-out efforts to close this gap have been a major drain on the Soviet economy.

Writing in The Saturday Evening Post, Stewart Alsop observes that: "Like most gamblers, Khrushchev is forever searching for the big, simple solution. . . Now Khrushchev's big, simple solution is chemical production. According to intelligence estimates, the equivalent of the fantasitc sum of $40 billion is to be invested in chemical plants. These plants are then to produce plastics and synthetics for industry, and massive doses of chemical fertilizer to feed the starved Russian land." With gold reserves of less than $2 billion, Khrushchev will need long term credit to buy key plants and machinery from the West.

Apparently there is some foundation for the view that comparatively speaking the West now faces a weaker opponent than was once the case. But no one is deluding himself that Communism is on the way out.

In an effort to attach some meaning to the changes occurring within Russia, Charles Foltz, Jr. of the International Staff of U. S. News & World Report traveled some 20,000 miles to places of his own choosing within that country. From his two months travels, Mr. Foltz draws conclusions which reveal both change and strength within this vast country. He observed that the Russians are ". . .a proud and virile people. . .blinking with wonder and excitement in anticipation of the marvels of a world long known to others but unknown, up to now, to most of them."

He states that Soviet rule remains complete throughout all of Russia and that the Communists will continue to rule, in all likelihood, for a good many years. "Nevertheless, the Communists no longer are leading; they are being pushed by the people. They seek, often almost desperately, to anticipate the demands of the workers on the farms and in the factories."

Police power and fear are not gone and can be revived at any time by Communist leaders. Top Communists now find that they must know the people. Living standards are better than they were but are still far below the West and a greater volume of imported goods is available, mostly from Communist East Europe.

In Mr. Foltz's view, the important thing is that "To the Russian people, nobody is 10 feet tall—neither the Americans nor the men in the Kremlin—nobody, unless it is the Russin people, themselves. They have an almost Messianic faith in their potential to create a new, better world for their children." It may be that the strength of Communism and consequently its direction, will be colored more and more by the human aspirations and demands of the Russian people who were once its slaves.

On "Managed" News

Primarily since the abortive invasion of Cuba a couple of years ago, considerable criticism of government "management of news" has been expressed by the nation's press. In speaking to a group of Italian newspapermen recently at the White House, President Lyndon Johnson had this to say:

"The Fourth Estate wields tremendous power. In fact, sometimes we have the impression that government only provides the background for the operation of the press; that we are just silent witnesses. As great events occur, you produce hundreds and thousands of words, and, despite great periodic cries from the press, it is a fact that no one really manages the press.

"It is you gentlemen of the press who decide which words and which events reach the eyes and ears of the millions of readers and listeners. Many a time a reporter has come to me in search of a story and he has ended up telling me what I ought to do."

At a recent news conference, President Johnson told reporters, "There is nothing going on here that we want to keep secret except some things which may fall within the national interest . ."

We would like to believe that President Johnson is sincere in his statements, and in all likelihood, he probably is. The question may arise, however, as to what the "national interest" is and who shall determine what is or is not in the national interest.

Representatives of news media might do well to consider the provisions of the Civil Rights bill if they think their right to report news is being infringed upon. This administration-sponsored and promoted bill provides in its language for fine or imprisionment of newsmen who write in opposition to laws to be established in the legislation.

If the bill becomes law, newsmen would not only have to worry about whether news was made available or not, but whether or not it was legal to publish it. If a person spoke against provisions of the bill and the newspaper supported him editorially, both would be subject to fine or imprisonment. Doesn't such restriction of freedom bother you just a little bit? Our forefathers fought for freedoms too hard for us to let them slip away by forfeit through inaction.

If you believe the Civil Rights bill endangers your freedoms as an American, write to Sen. Hubert Humphrey, 1311 Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, 452 Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

Free enterprise's busiest champion is a former Iowa farm boy named Edwin P. Neilan who became a bank president and is now also the President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The Chamber is a monster trade here across a park from the White House, but with roots in every community large enough to support a local Chamber of Commerce. The national Chamber represents more than 3,700 business organizations with over 3 million members in all 50 states.

Neilan is not just another businessman temporarily in the limelight due to the office he holds. He is a dedicated crusader who is devoting his year as the Chamber's spokesman to traveling about the land and making frontal assaults on some very sacred cows. The Neilan target is federal subsidies, whether granted to business or other segments of the economy.

While elected some months earlier, Neilan really began the crusade with a speech last August before the National Press club in Washington. His provocative title was "Our Own Public Scandal—Vote Buying and Selling." His subtitle was "Billions for Ballot Bribery."

Neilan took out after the "pushers," the "takers," and the "bagmen." He defined "pushers" as "the voters who send their man to Washington not to promote good government but for the express purpose of getting federal tax or deficit-financed dollars for their own district or state, even for their own private companies. If he fails to deliver, they kick him out of office by electing someone who will"

He defined "takers" as "the people who vote for a candidate because he promises fatter federal fund handouts than his opponent. If he doesn't deliver, he gets voted out too."

"Bagmen" are members of Congress "who sell their high office to buy votes." He did not indict all members of Congress, saying "there are some who bravely resist the selfish pressures from back home." Nor did he single out either political party for his charge of "immorality," although pointing out that "inevitably the bulk of the spending or buying the bribing power, if you will rests with the party in office."

Congress Fires Back

Even before Neilan had made his press club speech, the counterattack from Congress began on the basis of the prepared text distributed in advance. Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.) told the Senate "either Mr. Neilan or his speechwriters have been carried away by the propaganda of the far right."

Later, Representative Wright Patman (D., Tex.), chairman of the House banking committee, took on Neilan in a series of speeches, charging that bankers like Neilan are themselves subsidized by the federal government because they do not pay interest on deposits of government funds.

Six months and dozens of speeches after his press club talk started it all, Neilan was interviewed by this correspondent in Washington. He credited the counterattacks from Congressional leaders with making him one of the most sought-after speakers in the nation.

Before his Chamber term expires May 1, Neilan will make at least 32 more speeches, plus others that are bound to be crowded into his busy schedule. In between times, he will make a living as chairman and president of the bank of Delaware at Wilmington.

To give some idea of what he puts into his anti-subsidy crusade, here is the two-day schedule that Neilan met starting with the day he was interviewed.

He climbed out of bed at home at 6 a.m. and was aboard a 7:30 plane to Washington. By 8:35 he was at a Washington hotel where a two day Association Public Affairs conference, sponsored by the Chamber, was being held. (His taxi ride from the Washington airport to his hotel took longer than his Philadelphia-D.C. flight.)

After appearing at a breakfast meeting, at 9:15 he made the opening address at the conference another slashing attack on subsidies. By 9:45 he had finished his speech and huddled for a few minutes with this reporter. At 11 he was at the Capitol for a television film date with Senator Harrison Williams (D., N.J.). At 12:15 he returned to the hotel to preside over a luncheon, and introduce the speaker, Senator Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.).

At 6:05 p.m. Neilan was back on an airplane, bound for Little Rock, Ark., and a 9:15 television appearance, followed by a press conference. He slept in Little Rock that night, appeared at an 8 a.m. breakfast the next day, followed by a Harding College forum at 9, and then a quick flight in the college's own plane to Oklahoma City for a noon speech. At 3:05 p. m., he was airborne again, bound for a dinner speech in St. Louis, and wound up the two-day trip by catching a 10:10 p.m. plane for Philadelphia, followed by an auto trip to his farm in Bear, De. just south of Wilmington.

Fortunately, Neilan is a rugged man. He played varsity basketball as a freshman at the University of Omaha, and semipro football in Houston. He still swims a quarter mile before breakfast six months of the year. At 58, he is trim and erect.

Says LBJ Not Conservative

Neilan goes back a long way with President Lyndon B. Johnson. After getting a degree from Rice Institute in Houston, Neilan became a banker and had a hand in hiring a young public speaking teacher to coach fledgling bankers. The teacher was Lyndon Johnson, then a handsome young man on the rise. Johnson did not fulfill his banking assignment because he got a chance to go to Washington as a Congressional secretary.

While praising LBJ for cutting the federal budget, Neilan warns of new subsidy programs. "President Johnson is a politician who can be counted on to do the political thing. He has a background as a spender and a New Dealer."

Pointing to the "new obligational authority" figures in the budget, the Chamber spokesman says the totals are as high as under President John F. Kennedy. "I don't think we'll save a nickel," Neilan predicted.

Get MORE egg dollars

Now is the time to do something about your egg income — to get the highest possible return from your flock. Take your cue from official Random Sample Tests conducted from California to Rhode Island in which Starcross 288 proved to be the top profit producer. Just look at the three year summary of Shaver superiority in Western New York Random Sample Tests.

Shaver Starcross 288	$2.976	245.9	75.37
Test Average	2.418	222.5	70.70
Shaver Advantage	+.558	+23.4	+4.67

A New Layer—Starcross 288 was developed from strains with the best egg-producing and feed-conversion qualities. Poultry scientists took these desirable characteristics and bred them into one layer. The result is a bird that excelled in across-the-board comparisons of white egg layers.

Your egg income next fall and winter depends on the chicks you choose now. Stop in or phone the Swift Hatchery or your nearest Swift's Hatchery dealer and see these official egg laying test results for yourself.

Ask for your copy of Swift's new Egg and Feed Record Book.

Freeman Approves of "Pop-Bottled Milk"

"Pop-bottled" milk—the new packaging and distribution idea being tried by the dairy industries of Minnesota and North Dakota—has received the blessing of U. S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Freeman said he hopes the new program, launched in Fargo and Moorhead this week, will "write a brilliant chapter of success for the benefit of the entire dairy industry of the nation."

He also lauded Cass-Clay Creameries of Fargo-Moorhead, first bottler of the "new" product — NRG (for energy) — along with the American Dairy association units of North Dakota and Minnesota for taking "a bold and progressive step." Freeman followed up his personal endorsement of the "pop-bottled" milk concept by sending his wife, Mrs. Jane Freeman, to represent him at kickoff ceremonies for the NRG program in Moorhead Monday. Mrs. Freeman said the assignment was "like old times", recalling that she served as Minnesota's June Dairy Month chairwoman in 1959.

Freeman said the new program of putting milk in pop-bottle style containers and offering it to the public through existing soft-drink vendors "should result in considerable increase in sales and consumption of fluid milk."

"This is a new avenue for the dairy industry to get its No. 1 product to the consuming public," Freeman said. "Now that someone has come up with it, we can only wonder why it wasn't done long ago."

The former Minnesota Governor also said he was "delighted to see this break-through for the industry originate in communities of the Red River Valley—an area of historic and monumental achievement in agriculture."

"Putting milk in this very handsome new 'package' and getting milk into step with modern methods of beverage merchandising and sales are milestones for the dairy industry," Freeman said.

He said he "agrees completely" with Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee who has hailed the "pop-bottled" milk program "the most progressive step taken in the dairy industry since turning the milk wagon horses out to pasture."

Rep. Odin Langen of Minnesota's Seventh Congressional district also was high in his praise of the new program.

The Republican lawmaker from Kennedy said "this new promotion idea should lead to new markets and be a tremendous help in solving the problems of milk surpluses with which we are faced currently."

"It can't help but be of benefit to the entire dairy industry," Langen said.

Langen indicated he was "very impressed personally with the new NRG bottle" and said he felt sure it will 'appeal to a large number of consumers — especially the younger set which seems oriented to the soft drink-type containers for beverages."

State Given U. S. Conservation Aid
Receives over $725,000 in Federal Excise Taxes

The Minnesota conservation department reported today they have received the final payment for this fiscal year of federal aid monies for fish and wildlife restoration projects.

Under the program, approved game and fish projects are paid for by the state which is then reimbursed 75 per cent of their costs by the federal government.

The programs are popularly known as the Dingell-Johnson (D-J) and Pittman-Robertson (P-R) programs. Dingell-Johnson funds are used for fish restoration work while Pittman-Robertson funds are for game projects.

Total D-J funds received by Minnesota this year amounted to $280,578, including the last payment of $172,021. Total P-R receipts for the fiscal year amounted to $444,846, including the last payment of $157,114. Previous portions of the year's payments were made to the state last summer.

Since the Pittman-Robertson program was activated in 1938, Minnesota has received $7,313,286. The Dingell-Johnson program was inaugurated in 1951 and has brought in a total of $2,963,248.

P. R. funds are derived from a 10 per cent federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and D. J. funds from a 11 per cent excise tax on sport fishing equipment. These taxes are levied on the manufacturers of these items.

Litter on Highways Was Reduced in 1963

Minnesota could be on its way to becoming one of the more litter-free states in the nation, as indicated by a report just out on the amount of litter picked up by the Minnesota highway department last year.

Litter pickup in 1963 was the lowest in eight years, reversing a trend of increasing litter on the highways. Litter pickup last year dropped off by 1,066 truck loads, or 2,665 tons of litter from 1962, according to the department.

During 1963, 6,711 truck loads of litter were removed by highway department maintenance crews from the state's 11,904 miles of trunk highways. The figure for 1962 was 7,777 truck loads.

In the Crookston maintenance district 489 truck loads of litter were removed at a total cost of $15,444 for labor and equipment.

While the average Minnesota motorist deserves praise for conscientious behavior when travelling on the highways in 1963, his counterpart, the below average motorist, is still tossing too many cigarette packs, candy wrappers, cans and even boxes of trash and garbage out on the roads.

The cost of litter pickup remains high, however. It cost $198,462 to remove the litter last year, which is actually a $6,000 increase over 1962. The reason for this is that labor costs increased in 1963, raising the average cost per truck load of litter from $24.69 the year before to $29.57.

The cost for 1963, however, is a far cry from the $278,471 it cost in 1958 to remove 10,084 truck loads of litter.

Highway officials believe that individual and group anti-litter campaigns started last year were the prime reason for the decrease in highway littering. They are hopeful that the decrease will begin a new trend, with littering dropping off in each of the next several years until it reaches a more acceptable degree—costing somewhere below $100,000 annually.

Highway officials throughout the nation realize that highway littering will never completely disappear. In fact, it has reached a point in this country almost beyond the realm of belief.

For example, the Texas highway department reported last year that it cost $1,400,000 to pick up litter from roadsides and parks in 1962; for the same year, Michigan expected to spend $400,000 for roadside clean up; and Louisiana spends about $200,000 annually to clean up her highways, and reports that beer cans average more than 780 to the mile of highway.

The solution to the litter problem lies with individuals, organizations such as garden clubs and even school children who continue to conduct and are starting new campaigns against highway littering. The Minnesota highway department will provide individuals or groups with further information and photographs on the problem to assist community campaigns against littering.

Business firms in the United States contributed $1.25 million in 1963 toward the recognition and encouragement of the country's 2,225,000 4-H Club members.

ORBIT PATH: THE CROSS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

"The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The entire message of America's astronauts has not yet been deciphered. Parts of it still lie locked within instruments, and most of it still is hidden in the infinity of space. But we are learning, and we might say that the astronauts are our teachers.

Many, many years ago there was another great Teacher, and His message is still being revealed through faith to the mind of mankind. His message is the path of the Cross . . . the path to eternal life.

But where do we find our instructions, our briefing? What instruments can we use to discover this message for ourselves? You will find it in your church this Sunday.

We all know now about Cape Canaveral, about tracking stations. We are discovering more about outer space.

We know too, about the Church. Let us use it then as our guide, our booster, our thrust to Heaven.

RESEARCH

Q. We hear a lot about research these days. Just what is research?

A. Webster defines research as careful, systematic, patient study and investigation in some field of knowledge, undertaken to establish facts or principles. Like most things, research is more glamorous when viewed at a distance than it is close up. Day-by-day research requires some tears, teamwork, a lot of sweat, the ability to withstand frustration, and willingness to be happy with 90 per cent failure. Research, which requires plenty of patience and a lot of wretchedly hard work, touches every phase of modern life. Seemingly unrelated things such as drugs, jet engines, cosmetics, and tax forms are all products of research in one field or another.

BOILERMAKERS DEAFNESS

Q. Is there any treatment for "boilermakers" deafness?

A. No. Deafness due to long exposure to loud noise can't be helped by treatment.

The personal interest we take in the health of those we serve is of equal importance with the professional skill we put in the dispensing of prescribed medicine.

YOUR USE OF ELECTRICITY HAS INCREASED BY 69% BUT THE AVERAGE COST PER KWH HAS DECREASED BY 5%

About this time of year*, some folks look at their electric bill with a jaundiced eye. What's happened to the cost of electricity?

That's a question any Otter Tail representative loves to answer.

You see, for the average Otter Tail residential customer, the unit cost of electricity is about five per cent less than ten years ago—and still less if you go back 15, 20 years, or further. But remember, if you're an average Otter Tail residential customer, since 1954 your use of electricity has increased 69%.

Look around at the electrical conveniences you've added in just the past ten years. Doesn't it make electricity from Otter Tail one of your biggest bargains?

*Your January bill is probably considerably higher than your July electric service bill because of the additional wintertime services you depend on electricity for.

Shelterbelts

Any plans for rearrangement of farm buildings should also include plans for shelterbelt or improvement of existing shelterbelt plantings.

Extension foresters at the University of Minnesota advise you to consider the best location for new buildings in relation to drainage, prevailing winds and soil factors. These considerations should then be viewed in light of other permanent buildings, field arrangement, feedlots, and pastures. Planting a shelterbelt should aim at protecting the whole farmstead instead of just parts of it.

Such a windbreak planted in 1950 has brought results to Bernard Hayden, LeSueur County farmer. Hayden's fuel bill has decreased by 20-30 per cent over the past two years because of the added protection from winter blasts. He also finds it provides protection for pheasants, keeps snow from drifting in the farmyard, and adds beauty to his property. Hayden is a cooperator with the LeSueur County Soil and Water Conservation District.

"I want to make the better best." This is how Norman Knowles summed up his approach to conservation practices.

Knowles is a Brown County SCD cooperator and a former supervisor with the district so his words come from long experience. He is moving from a contour strip plowing operation to terracing and diversion. With a larger diversion he says he will be able to control surface runoff waters and protect his bottomland. With the new terraces, Knowles will have an opportunity to operate the whole field as one unit and still control erosion on the four to eight per cent slopes.

National FFA Week is scheduled in February to honor George Washington, who was an outstanding farmer as well as a great leader.

If you're after a car with some life to it, there's only one thing to do. Be my guest.
I'm easy to find, you know. Just look for me at your Buick dealer's, during his Sports Car Rally. While you wait for me, you can drive one of his sport models—a Wildcat, maybe, or a Skylark. Or even a Riviera. In fact, you can drive all three. That's what the Buick Sports Car Rally is all about. (What a way to start a New Year!) If I don't show up, you can talk price. That's even more pleasant than conversation with me. You'll see. Once you get your hands on a Buick, you won't miss me a bit. Really.

Highway Patrol Was Busy in 1963

Members Traveled 10.8 Million Miles in Year

The Minnesota highway patrol, man for man, is probably the travelingest organization in the state, covering the 11,904-mile system of trunk highways in the course of carrying out its duties.

The patrol travelled 10,840,716 miles in 1963. That's an annual average of about 31,638 miles for each of the 342 patrolmen out on the road. The other 36 men making up the 378 man force are supervisory.

But this tells only the smallest part of the story of the operations of the patrol.

If you should happen to get stuck on the trunk highway, have patience. Chances are good that a highway patrolman will come along and assist you. Last year, patrolmen went to the aid of 23,483 motorists stalled on the road for any of a hundred reasons, from a flat tire to a burned-out engine.

Regulations prohibit the patrolman from towing or pushing vehicles but his duties require him to assist the motorist as best he can. Patrolmen may summon repairmen and tow-trucks by radio as requested and give whatever other assistance they can to get the motorist started on his way.

In carrying out their primary duties of protecting the life and property of motorists on the state trunk highways, patrolmen last year made 37,589 arrests for moving hazardous violations and 12,690 arrests for other violations, such as overloaded vehicles and faulty safety equipment.

The patrol also issued 187,116 warnings to motorists and truckers, including 44,972 for moving hazardous violations and 142,144 warnings for other violations, such as faulty safety equipment and overloaded trucks.

The patrol issued more than three times as many warnings as it did tags.

In addition to all this, and even more important to those involved, the 342 men who patrol the state highways attended 7,483 accidents on rural trunk highways last year, giving comfort and first aid to the injured whenever possible.

Traffic Deaths Offer Challenge

Highway Safety Chief Warns of Spring Hazards

Minnesota's motorists are facing a big challenge in 1964, Garnet E. Hall, safety director of the Minnesota highway department, declared today. In 1963 there were 798 fatalities compared to 695 for 1962.

A significant factor in the all-time high record of last year, he said, lay in the alarming increase in the number of fatalities in the spring and fall. During March, April and May of 1963, there was a total of 189 traffic deaths as compared with 132 during the same months of the previous year. In the fall, October chalked up 110 fatalities compared to a total of 83 in October, 1962.

Now we are again faced with the worst driving conditions, weatherwise, the safety director continued, when the forces of nature combine with abnormal traffic complexities to make the roads encountered by the motorist extra dangerous. Slick pavements resulting from freezing rain, sleet and snow, plus long hours of darkness in both morning and evening peak traffic periods, create additional traffic hazards for Minnesota drivers.

January already has recorded 41 deaths, two more than occurred in January of last year. This continuing increase calls for serious consideration to be given to the rising costs of accidents on Minnesota highways, Hall said.

A HIGHWAY project in Pennington county came in for honorable mention in the award winning surfacing projects announced last Wednesday night at the Minnesota Surveyors and Engineers Society banquet in St. Paul, the closing event of the highway engineers conference. The project was on Pennington county CSAH 3, 14.5 miles of bituminous plant-mixed surfacing placed in 1963 by the C. L. Stodolka Co., Little Falls. Joseph Seidel is the Pennington county highway engineer. The picture was taken looking west on the highway north of St. Hilaire where it intersects with Highway 32.

Although the awards in the judging did not include county state aid projects, the committee composed of representative engineers in the highway department and private industry, decided that the Pennington project would have placed high in the ratings.

All Urged to Attend

Jr. College Forum Scheduled Friday

Rt. Rev. Msgr. James P. Shannon, president of St. Thomas college in St. Paul, will be the featured speaker Friday at 8 p. m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls. The junior college forum will feature information on the junior college program in Minnesota as authorized by the Minnesota Legislature in its 1963 session.

Robert Flynn, coordinator of the Thief River Falls Junior College committee, told the Times today that letters and resolutions supporting the city's efforts to obtain a junior college continue to come into the local committee's office. He noted that Stanley J. Wenberg, vice president of the University of Minnesota, will also be present at the junior college forum.

Recently completed under the direction of the committee is an informational brochure explaining the program in brief. These will be distributed by local speakers at area meetings and will also be available at the forum Friday night.

Statistics in the brochure indicate that an estimated 312 students could be expected for a junior college if it opened here four years from the present time. This is based on present ninth-grade enrollment and percentage figures for the distance from Thief River Falls at which these students attend school.

The brochure contains maps illustrating the need for higher education facilities in this area, urges the adoption of resolutions in support of the city's attempts to secure a junior college, and especially urges attendance at the junior college forum Friday night.

Federal Tax Cut Offset in State

Average State Tax to Be Increased $5.15 in 1964

The federal income tax cut won't be all gravy for Minnesotans, says Rolland Hatfield, state tax commissioner.

For as Washington cuts its withholding rate, Minnesota immediately will boost its take out of payroll checks.

Hatfield said new deductibility tables already were being prepared, based on the contemplated reduction at the federal level, and would be in the hands of employers very soon.

The commissioner estimated that the average Minnesotan would find his state tax hiked by $5.15 this year and $8.07 next.

The increase is expected to yield the state an extra $5,647,687 for the rest of 1964 and bring in $8,849,569 next year. He estimated that about a million taxpayers would be affected in the state.

Welfare Board Members Appear At BPW Club Meet

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club, after a supper meeting in the Rex Cafe Tuesday evening, heard a program on "Civic Participation". Betty Johnson of the Chamber of Commerce office, program chairman of February, introduced executive secretary Dick Hamilton, who explained the duties and functions of his office. He also stressed the importance to the citizens of the area to be in attendance at the Junior College meeting at the high school auditorium on Friday, February 28. A small crowd, he emphasized, would suggest lack of interest in the college, and cause it to be located elsewhere, in all probability.

Ralph Hunt, retiring executive secretary of the welfare board, explained the purpose and workings of the welfare program, and with other board members, Woodrow Almquist, Mrs. Arvid Dahlstrom, and Glen Tasa, answered the questions of the club women.

There were 28 persons attending the supper. Two new members, Beverly Holm, parish secretary of Trinity Lutheran church, and Margaret Kimble, beauty operator at JoAnne's, were welcomed as new members. Other guests were Meg Opfer, Lydia Dahlen, Mrs. Ed Linden, and Miss Joann Black. Orville Hanson also came to sit in at the meeting.

The club has established a $50 scholarship fund to assist a senior girl from this city in attending the area vocational school, to study cosmetology, business, or practical nursing. Mrs. Ardis Tunberg is fund chairman. Appointed to assist her in selecting a winner were Louise Anderson and Helen Black. Also assisting will be Robert Reeve, guidance director at the high school.

Plans were made for attendance at the district meeting which will be held Sunday, March 15 at the Elks club rooms in Crookston, with sessions opening at 9:30 a.m., followed by noon dinner, and afternoon program. Also discussed was the state convention to be held in Virginia, Minnesota August 22-23-24.

Mrs. Clarice Collins at BPW Board Meeting

Mrs. Clarice Collins returned Sunday from the Business and Professional Women's winter board meeting held at Minneapolis' Leamington hotel Feb. 16 and 17. WATER ON THE BRAIN

Q. Is there any cure for water on the brain?

A. Some cases of hydrocephalus ("water on the brain") can be treated — others are almost hopeless. Doctors who have had extensive experience in this field usually offer the following advice. If the condition is getting worse but has not yet affected the brain, an operation may help. If the condition is at a standstill the child should be given regular checkups to see if surgery will be needed. If the brain has been badly damaged, the child should simply be given the best care possible until the end. Operations to relieve "water on the brain" are difficult and not always successful, but some children are helped, even to the point of growing up in a perfectly normal way.

MILK-ON-THE-WRIST TEST

Q. Is the "milk-on-the-wrist" method a good way to test the temperature of a baby's formula?

A. No, but lots of mothers use this method. To feel the warmth of the milk on the wrist the temperature of the liquid would have to be at least 120°F. This is about 22 degrees hotter than the temperature of milk nature provides for the breast-fed baby.

1 tablespoon butter
1 cup cooked rice
1 teaspoon sage
1½ cups ground walnuts
2 eggs, beaten

She also bakes most of the family's baked needs, and raises vegetables which provide part of the wherewithal for canning 300 quarts of food. Several flower gardens satisfy a need for beauty around the home. She much enjoys sewing, but mending is about all of this activity which time allows. She also likes teaching, and is active with the kindergarten class in the Sabbath school at the Seventh Day Adventist church, and is taking a course from Bemidji state college with a view toward the goal of more teaching activity. She enjoys her membership in the Sanders Homemakers club.

A favorite Saturday night pastime of the family is having games, with "lots of popcorn" for munching. They take short trips in summer, mostly to area parks, and the children attend youth camps.

Mr. Molskness is engaged in dairy and grain farming 6½ miles southeast of the city. They also have rentals to care for, all of which makes for a packed schedule.

Letter Received From AFS Student

Kiyoshi Tanabe Is Selected as Rotary Fellow

Editors's Note: Kiyoshi Tanabe was an AFS student at Lincoln high school in 1955, and is known to a number of students at the school at that time and to other community residents.

Dear People of Thief River Falls,

Time goes by so fast. I can't imagine it's been seven years since I reluctantly said 'good bye' to my second home town. Actually I haven't felt Thief River Falls and Tokyo are so apart as they are physically, because some of the Thief River Falls'ers including the Barzens have kept me well informed about Thief River Falls through their letters. Now I would like to give some of my side of story to those who gave me a year of nice memory.

After I returned to Japan, I continued half more year of high school life and then entered Tokyo University. There I picked up aeronautical engineering, specializing in aircraft engines. Besides studying, I took up ice hockey because I got so fascinated by the games the Prowlers of 1955 performed to win the state championship. But I had to quit it before I became a regular, since I became busier as I specialized further and it seemed I was not good enough to continue. Instead, just for fun, I started skiing. I love winter sports, because I like it cold and nice, one reason I could get along well in Thief River Falls.

I devoted the rest of my time left after studying and sports to American Field Service. I joined in raising funds to receive more American high school kids to Japan. American Field Service has really grown since. Last year, AFS Japan took care of some forty American kids and about 120 Japanese spent one year in the U.S. under the program. I also helped arranging tours of factories and sights for engineering students from South East Asia in my university.

In the last year of my university life, the riot took place which finally led to the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan. My opinion on that case appeared in Thief River Falls Times. At that time I was very perplexed how I should behave myself.

I graduated from Tokyo University in 1961. I first thought of working with an airline, but changed my mind to work as a design engineer for a heavy industry company, (the category of industry, perhaps, you don't have) by the name of Ishikawajima-Harima (abbreviation, IHI). The company was originally engaged in ship building, but now covers many fields from jet engine production to plants installation. In 1962 the company produced the biggest total tonnage of ships (mostly tankers) in the world. Now the dockyard capable of building 150,000 ton oil tanker is under construction.

However, I am not directly connected with ship building. My work with the company is to design gas turbines. It's still a paper plan but in near future we would like to introduce gas-turbine as a means of marine propulsion for the place of steam turbine and diesel. We have so far commercialized 60 HP and 350 HP all purpose gas turbine engines. As for gas turbine for automotive use we are trying to catch up with Chrysler as quick as possible.

The office where I work is located in Tokyo, and I have been living in Tokyo with my family ever since I came back here. It's about an hour train and bus commuting. Tokyo is now all dug up, and construction of roads, game facilities and subways are in full swing to make Tokyo ready for Olympic games scheduled for this fall. When it's over, Tokyo will be a little better looking but till then the present commotion of traffic will continue.

My family consists of my parents, a sister, and a brother. I am still a single, which was the condition to fulful to be eligible for the Rotary Foundation Fellowship. I applied for it, first, of course, to promote international understanding, but also to sum up my three year engineering experience from the academic point of view at some appropriate institute. Liverpool University, I thought, was the best, with some authorities on gas turbines.

I study at Liverpool from October 1964 to July 1965, and am hoping to drop by at Thief River Falls on way back. Looking forward to the days I can meet you again.

Yours sincerely,
Kiyoshi Tanabe

KIYOSHI Tanabe, American Field Service student from Japan to Thief River Falls in 1955, has been selected as a Rotary Foundation Fellowship student to England. He hopes to visit friends in Thief River Falls again after his period of study in England.

Mercury Drops to —23 Here Sunday

Falls Below Zero Each Day Since Wednesday

The mild brand of winter weather which prevailed here earlier this month came to a temporary halt last week, when the mercury fell below the zero mark each morning since Wednesday, hitting a low mark of —23 Sunday.

High and low readings for each day include Monday, February 17, 18 and 14; Tuesday, 31 and 12; Wednesday, 20 and —5; Thursday, 15 and —7; Friday, 22 and —15; Saturday, 27 and —1; Sunday, 4 and —23; and this morning, —2. One and one-half inches of snow fell over the weekend.

Warmer temperatures were forecast for today.

Public Opinion

Editor, Thief River Falls Times:

The text of one of your editorials in the February 17 issue is about as illuminating as its title, "Generally Speaking."

Senators Humphrey and McCarthy, we are told, support the civil rights bill because they "would find it politically inconvenient" to oppose something promoted by the "power-hungry" Kennedy administration. It could be that these men favor this legislation because they believe in it. Humphrey has been in this battle for years, long before he could expect any "favors" from Lyndon Johnson.

The bill is criticized on the grounds that it fails to define terms. Such words as "race", "religion" and "discrimination" are not explained. This is straining at a gnat. Indeed there are occasions when it is very important to define terms, but in this case would it serve any purpose to say that "race" refers to lineage, stock, pigmentation, color, hue — and other synonyms? The Fifteenth Amendment simply says race, color and lets it go at that, without elaborating on what those words mean. The public accommodations sections set forth, in detail, what is prohibited in the Civil Rights bill. Enforcement may be difficult, but it is hard to see what is so unclear about its meaning.

Again is dusted off that old cliche about tolerance being a thing of the heart and you cannot legislate goodness. This is one of those half-truths that always pop up. If all that is required is to wait until all men are ready to do the right, we would need no laws governing human behavior.

There appears also the contrived, labored argument that granting more liberty to one person limits the liberty of someone else — "integration becomes discrimination." If I cannot keep you out of my place of business because I do not like your color, then my property rights are denied. Surely there is such a thing as priorities of rights, of freedoms. They are not all of equal urgency or validity. The right to be free from being discriminated against seems a bit more important than the right to discriminate.

You write some good editorials, but this is not one of them.

Minnesotans Bear 9th Highest Load State, Local Taxes

Government Statistics Prove Statement, Says State Taxpayer Group

A current statistical report issued by the United States government "offers justification to Minnesotan who are 'griping' about high state and local taxes," Charles P. Stone, General Counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, said today.

"In fiscal 1962 the load of state and local taxes in Minnesota averaged $250.51 for each of the State's 3,461,000 men, women and children," Stone said, citing figures from a Bureau of the Census report titled 'Governmental Finances in 1962" (October, 1963). "This was $27.05 or 12.1 per cent above the national average.

"At the same time, Minnesotans had a lower-than-average ability to pay these taxes. Their personal income during this same period averaged $2,236 per capita, which was $130 or 5.5 per ccent below the national average.

"On a per-person basis, only eight of the 50 states placed a higher load of state and local taxes on their people: New York, California, Nevada, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Colorado, Washington and Hawaii. But in each of these states the ability to pay, as reflected by average personal income, was higher than in Minnesota. In New York, for example, where the average tax load was $58.54 more than in Minnesota, the personal income average was $694 above ours.

"Had Minnesota's personal income level been up to the national average in 1962, and its level of state and local taxes been down to the national average, the average citizen would have had an additional $157.05 to spend or save.

"This might not seem like much, on a per-person basis, but overall it would have given a $543,500,000 boost to Minnesota's general economy."

Campaign Against Cigarets Starts at VA Hospitals

The Veterans Administration Hospital at Fargo, N. D. has started an educational campaign to inform VA hospital patients, domiciliary members and VA employees of the health hazards incurred by smoking.

Mr. John H. Parrish, Center Director, said the action is an effort to discourage the practice in line with an order issued by the Veterans Administration to its 168 hospitals. The VA prohibited the distribution of free cigarettes and other tobacco products in its hospital chain, including 18 domiciliaries.

The action follows an intensive study and evaluation of the "smoking and health" report of the Advisory Committee to the U. S. Surgeon General.

The order is the first in VA applying to all of that agency's hospitals. Previously, the distribution of free cigarettes was left to the medical judgment of individual hospital directors.

'Pop-bottled' Milk Is Popular at Moorhead

"Pop-bottled" milk met its first week's acid test of consumer acceptance with "blazing success" that startled veteran dairy observers.

Introduced in Fargo and Moorhead Feb. 18 after a "grass roots" kickoff program attended by 700 persons, initial reception of the product was termed "practically unbelievable" by Manager Vern Sjoquist of Cass-Clay Creameries.

"In more than 20 years, I've never seen such enthusiasm for anything the dairy industry has put before the public," Sjoquist said. "It's far surpassed the fondest hopes of those of us who were most optimistic."

Sjoquist said several of the coin-operated vending machines in which the milk was placed alongside of soft drinks have been "selling out completely" on a day-to-day basis.

"We received 20 calls in two days from businessmen who have the standard soft drink machines in their places," Sjoquist said. "They told us to 'bring out the milk' because kids and adults alike were asking for it."

Congressman Odin Langen

Originally, the plan was to test acceptance of the new milk distribution venture in about 100 vending locations. Sjoquist said the new locations would be serviced as quickly as possible.

The milk, both plain and chocolate, is being sold at 10 cents per eight-ounce bottle through the soft drink vendors.

The market test of the "pop-bottled" milk is being watched carefully by dairy interests throughout the nation in hopes that it may be the key to opening a broad new channel for milk sales and consumption.

Some 700 residents of the Red River Valley turned out in the Moorhead Armory Feb. 17 to participate in launching ceremonies for the new venture. Climax of the event was a mass toast — proposed and drunk with "pop-bottled" milk to the success of the undertaking.

National and state officials lauded the "pop-bottled" milk program as "a new breakthrough which should benefit the entire dairy industry of the nation."

Speakers at the event included Byron G. Allen, special assistant to U. S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman; Sen. Quentin Burdick (D-N.D.); Rep. Mark Andrews (R-N.D.); Minnesota Agriculture Commissioner Duane Wilson; and North Dakota Agriculture Commissioner Matt Dahl.

Also participating were North Dakota Dairy Princess Marjorie Sorenson of Kathryn, N.D., and Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove.

Use of 2,4-D Ruled out for Potatoes

Food and Drug Agency Order Is Now in Effect

Use of 2,4-D or 2,4-D (II) either as a spray or dust on potato plants is no longer legal, O. C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota, today cautioned potato growers.

A Food and Drug Administration ruling that permitted its use for the purpose of improving color particularly of red potatoes expired January 1. No extension was made because potato varieties of naturally brighter color are now available, Turnquist said.

At the present time, 2,4-D is registered for use on potato crops only as a preemergent weed killer at the rate of 2 pounds of actual chemical per acre. No other use of the chemical on potatoes is registered.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

Hi!

Don't envy the teen-age girl who runs with the drug store crowd. Unless she exercises a lot, she's going to end up overweight.

A person can eat only so much and when snacks are given top priority, there's little room for the more nutritious foods needed by growing teenagers.

A girl's date can eat 3100 to 3600 calories a day. In fact, his body requires it. But a girl, also, needs only 2400 to 2600; after that, anything she eats may be "food for fat."

Are Johnny and Susie bright? Johnny may be a bright boy, but it is no guarantee that he will be at the top of his high school class. Nor, for that matter, does his high I.Q. offer any sure sign that he will go on to college.

Although I.Q. and scholastic standings are good indicators of a student's potential for college, individuals often don't rank the same on both.

For example, in 1960 only 57 percent of the students with the highest I.Q.'s were also at the top of their graduating class. Obviously, some highly intelligent students were not working as hard as they could, and some young people of less ability were using their talents very well.

As for further education, about two-thirds of the high school graduates in the upper fourth I.Q. rank, a little over a third of the second quartile rank, and about one-fourth of the third rank went on to college. About fifteen percent of the lowest quartile continued their education.

Or to put it another way about one-third of our most able youth are not getting a higher education. Isn't that a startling fact? Let's see what we can do abut it! Stimulate your youngters to study NOW.

Return Big Game Reports, Is Plea

Game and Fish Division Says Reports Are Lagging

Minnesota big game hunters were asked today to mail their hunter report cards to the conservation department's game and fish division as soon as possible. The cards are a part of the big game license and can be detached from the license for mailing purposes.

Biologist Bernard Fashingbauer said latest estimates show that about 5,000 fewer reports have been received so far this year than were received last year. Last year 44,000 reports were returned — only about 20 percent of the number of licenses sold.

He said that a post card survey was also underway involving the mailing of 1,200 questionnaires to a random sample of hunters purchasing big game licenses in 1963.

He asked that hunters who receive this survey form, fill it out as soon as possible and return it to the Division.

The information provided by the hunter report card and post card survey is essential for the sound management of Minnesota's deer herd.

Editorials . . .

"Two contrary laws stand today opposed; one a law of blood and death, which, inventing daily new means of combat, obliges the nations to be ever prepared for battle; the other a law of peace, of labor, of salvation, which strives to deliver man from the scourges which assail him. One looks only for violent conquest; the other for relief of suffering humanity. The one would sacrifice hundreds of thousands of lives to the ambition of a single individual; the other places a single human life above all victories. The law of which we are the instruments essays even in the midst of carnage to heal the wounds caused by the law of war."

—Louis Pasteur

The Beatle Invasion

Add to the list of other pests a European importation known as the Beatles. We watched part of a nationally televised entertainment program last week on which the half-shorn Beatles appeared. They impressed us as being something short of nothing.

From the flood of publicity preceding their appearances in the United States, we expected something at least a little better than the ordinary. We were denied even that little ray of hope. The highest reviews for their tour should go to their publicity agent who should certainly receive a Nobel prize for his field of work. Considering what he had with which to work, he has done an amazing job.

The group is only another aggregation of wiggly parasites, preying on the spending power of our nation's youth. Their style of music can be purchased from any number of local teenage organizations for $75 on any given Saturday night. Even at that modest figure the entertainment value is overpriced.

Since there is no insecticide which offers a control over English Beatles, we suppose we shall have to wait for them to disappear on their own. Until they do, we suppose it will be one of the most expensive non-control programs in recent teenage annals. They offer the type of music that thrives on a bad press—a tribute perhaps to the rebellion of youth.

A Healthy Sign

Difference in opinion, as evidenced by the split decision of the Pennington county board of commissioners in approving the multi-county library program on a trial basis, is a healthy situation in local government. There is absolutely nothing wrong with a split decision.

Too frequently we see local organizations, political and civic, place more emphasis on unanimity than on constructive thought. It is generally true, regardless of what discussion takes place, that decisions in such groups are made without a dissenting vote. It is all too easy for influential or forceful individuals to manipulate organizations under such a situation.

We believe that county board members opposed to the arial period for multi-county library service were wrong in their opinion. We believe that they did not fully understand the program offered or that their fears of the unknown future were unfounded. This is, however, only our opinion.

We are happy to see that the opponents of the proposal had the intestinal fortitude to stand up for their convictions when the issue came to a vote. Commissioners are, of course, elected to represent the people of their districts. We feel that the voting on the proposal represented what the commissioners felt the people in their districts wanted. This is also commendable and in line with the intent of our democratic process.

In defense of the county board, it must be said that the entire proposal was somewhat confusing. Those commissioners who attended the informational meeting in Argyle several weeks ago were only a little less confused—just as the other people who attended did not have a totally clear picture of the program.

As a result of the vote, this county has now cleared the way for other counties in the proposed multi-county area if they are interested in trying the service. We have fulfilled our leadership role in the area, and it is important that we did this.

We believe that it is the duty of public officials to be informed on matters which concern the areas they govern. They should make every effort possible to become informed and to act in accordance with the information they have received from reliable sources.

An informed governing body which shows difference of opinion is a desirable one. It is not likely to be stampeded into blind canyons or coaxed into quicksand. The county should be happy that it has such a group holding the governmental reins.

Clay and Liston

Two muscled vehemoths will meet in the squared circle Tuesday to battle for the heavyweight championship of closed circuit television and an arena crowd. In the confusion of what boxing association recognizes which fighters, there really doesn't seem to be a world championship in the boxing field anymore.

Publicity agents and sports promoters have invested considerable time in pushing this exhibition into one of the fattest financial bundles in boxing history. To make it fatter, the bulk of the American public is being denied an opportunity to witness the fight on the modern media of television. There will be closed circuit coverage only.

Although the public does not "get to know" the champion as well as it collectively could, perhaps in this case it is just as well that the fight will not be televised. It shouldn't last over four commercials anyway, before Liston catches up with his talkative antagonist and gives him a few seconds of silenced slumber.

Good Thinking

Residents of the Thief River Falls school district owe the board of education a vote of thanks for the action taken last Tuesday. Refinancing of bonds sold at high interest rates can mean a substantial saving of funds for the district's taxpayers.

The best part of the whole situation is that the saving can be made by sound business practice rather than an economy move which would be harmful to our educational system. We like this method of saving money.

While it is true that there will be no immediate showing for the saving expected, it is also true that the district stands to gain approximately $33,000 over a period of a relatively few years.

It should be emphasized that the proposed sale of bonds in the amount of $550,000 on March 18 at 11 a.m. in no way indicates that the district is in poor financial condition. In fact, the district is in the best financial condition it has been at this period of year for many years.

The sale is merely to gain a lower rate of interest than is presently being paid on bonds issued in 1957. An act of the 1963 legislature made this refinancing program possible, and the board should be complimented on taking advantage of the opportunities provided in the law.

That Junior College

People in the northwestern Minnesota area will be given an excellent opportunity to find out what the junior college program in Minnesota is all about when a junior college forum is held in Thief River Falls on February 28. Main speakers will be Rt. Rev. Msgr. James P. Shannon and Ben Wichterman, members of the state junior college board, and Stanley J. Wenberg, vice president of the University of Minnesota.

Arranged by the Thief River Falls junior college committee and the University of Minnesota Alumni association chapter here, the program will provide information on the legislation adopted at the last session of the legislature and what procedure will be followed under the law. It is expected that the speakers will clear the air about a number of issues currently in question by area people.

Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, chairman of the powerful House Appropriations committee, has a public opinion letter in today's issue of the Times. Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls, also a member of the appropriations committee and one of the authors of the junior college bill, explains more about the college situation in his Legislative Letter column.

We invite you to read both of these items carefully. Northwestern Minnesota is in a unique position in legislative history—wielding more power in the House of Representatives and state Senate than it has for many years. More progress for higher education in this area has already been made than ever before, thanks to the efforts of our representatives and senators.

Efforts by the local junior college committee will be aimed at showing the legislature-created junior college board that Thief River Falls is the logical site for a junior college. The state committee must make recommendations to the legislature.

It is the legislative, however, that has the final and determining voice in what shall or shall not be done for northwestern Minnesota. The loudest tones of this collective legislative voice belong to the appropriations committee. We may consider ourselves fortunate to have excellent representation in the political jungle of our state legislature.

Discusses Membership And Club Building at Meeting on Wednesday

Pennington County Sportsmen's club went on record at its monthly meeting Wednesday evening as disapproving of bounty payment for foxes. The regular meeting was held at the city auditorium.

Membership was a major topic of discussion at the meeting and persons interested in joining the club are urged to contact Leon Iverson, club secretary. Plans for a clubhouse were also discussed and officers and directors were requested to secure property suitable for the club's purposes.

These ideas may be of help in the commission's overall plan and may be sent to the commission at Room 324, State Capitol, St. Paul, Minnesota (55101).

Prowler Wrestlers Are Region Eight Champs

Taylor, Nelson And Olson Win Individual Titles

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestling squad, with three of the squad members gaining individual titles, won the Region Eight team title in the tournament that was concluded at Bemidji on Saturday night. The Prowlers, with Myles Olson winning the 95-lb. class title, Terry Nelson winning the 154-lb. title, and Joe Taylor repeating as a regional winner by winning the 165-lb. class title, amassed a total of 74 points to outpoint the defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks, who scored a total of 72 points.

Other team point totals were: Park Rapids, 66; Crookston, 63; Ada, 55; Warren, 38; Greenbush, 35; Fertile, 33; and Mahnomen, 24. Fosston and Waubun failed to garner any points.

The defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks made a strong bid in defense of their title as the Jacks won the final two events in the championship finals. John Broullard defeated Ada's Gary Paulson to win the 175-lb. title; and Larry Burgoon scored a minor upset in the heavyweight division by outpointing Mahnomen's burly sophomore, John Wolbeck, 3-2, for the title.

In the championship round semifinals matches on Saturday afternoon, the Prowlers had five of their wrestlers gaining berths in the finals. In addition to Olson, Nelson and Taylor, Steve Furuseth defeated Bemidji's Bill Dunlap by a pin in the 112-lb. class, and Tom Larson outpointed Greenbush's Ron Lorenson, 6-2, in the 138-lb. class.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Coach Al Shaff's 1964 Prowler wrestling squad made athletic history for Lincoln high school when, in the two-day Region Eight tourney held at Bemidji, they won the regional title. It's a first.

And the Prowlers had some anxious moments before the final team standings were posted giving the blue-and-gold a two-point win, 74 to 72, over the defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks. The championship finals moved into the heavier weights on Saturday night with the team title in contention. It was apparent that the Prowlers had to get victories from Terry Nelson in the 154-lb. class, and from Joe Taylor in the 165-lb. division to clinch the title, or at least a tie for the title. And the two Prowler wrestlers came up with wins, with Nelson scoring an 8 to 2 decision over Bemidji's Dave Holmes; and Taylor scoring a 3 to 0 win over Crookston's Kent Charron.

Bemidji won the 175-lb. class, with John Broullard defeating Ada's Gary Paulson, 5 to 2. Incidentally, Gary is the son of Roman Paulson, who played football for the Prowlers back in the early 1940's. And when the Lumberjack's Larry Burgoon scored a 3 to 2 win over Mahnomen's John Wolbeck in the heavyweight division, Bemidji trailed by two points. But that was enough as the Prowlers won the team title, 74 to 72.

And here's how the Prowlers scored those 74 points: Myles Olson, in the 95-lb. class, Terry Nelson, in the 154-lb. class; and Joe Taylor, in the 165-lb. class, won Region Eight titles, and gained 15 points apiece for the Prowlers; Rocco Wilson picked up two points in the 103-lb. class; Steve Furuseth, reaching the finals in 112-lb. class, gained ten points; Gary Nereson, winning third place in the 120-lb. division, added seven points, Ron Shaff, in the 127-lb. class, picked up one point; and Tom Larson, in the 138-lb. division, reached the finals and gained nine points for the Prowlers. And these points add up to seventy-four.

And now it's on to the state tournament at Mankato for Myles and Terry and Joe.

Not Yet

Do you realize that in nineteen of the twenty years that the Minnesota state high school hockey tournament has been in compitition that there has been a northern team in the finals? And that in nine of these twenty tournaments that have been played the two finalists have been northern teams? In only one year, in 1955, when St. Paul Johnson defeated Minneapolis Southwest, 3 to 1, has the tournament had an all-southern finals.

And what is more remarkable, this record has been made in spite of the fact that the southern teams have a bulge, five teams to three teams, in the tournament pairings. This is an artificial arrangemant, and it's possible it was originated in the early days of the tournament to provide spectator appeal for the Twin City area. Back in the mid 1940's, when the tournament was first played, the State High School Board was skeptical about the financial support that the fans would give to a hockey tournament, and St. Paul, in order to secure permission to hold the tournament, gave assurance that they would underwrite the tournament and make good any losses. The tournament has shown a profit every year, and last season the tourney provided the State High School League with a sum of $31,000.00.

But to get back to high caliber hockey. There isn't any reason why the northern half of the state shouldn't have four entries in the state tournament. And the plan of having the runner-up team from Region Seven or Region Eight, in alternate years, enter the tournament as the Region Three representative, doesn't have too much merit. This season, Duluth East, by a 3 to 2 score, defeated International Falls for the Region Seven title, and yet, in the state tourney, the Falls, as the Region Three team, defeated East in a firstround game. I don't blame East for being bitter.

A College Prospect

One of the brightest college prospects, as a football player, must be Mahnomen's John Wolbeck. Wolbeck, a 278-pounder, and a sophomore, was beaten in the Region Eight heavyweight finals, losing to Bemidji's Larry Burgoon, by a 3 to 2 decision.

But this Mahnomen youngster, and he played at a guard on last season's Mahnomen football team, and the Indians won the Pine-to-Prairie conference title, will be a great one.

The sophomore heavyweight has plenty of agility, and while he has the appearance of being pudgy, there must be plenty of muscle in that 278-pound frame. He will be a junior next season, and football and wrestling fans should keep that name in mind: John Wolbeck.

TERRY Nelson, Prowler co-captain, is shown handling Crookston's Bill Snider with considerable ease in a 154-lb. class semi-finals match at Bemidji on Saturday afternoon. Nelson scored a 14 to 2 decision over Snider. In the finals, on Saturday night, Terry defeated Bemidji's David Holmes, 8 to 2, to win the Region Eight divisional title.

MYLES Olson, the Prowlers' 95-lb. class wrestler, was given tough competition by Park Rapids' Larry McStotts in a Region Eight semi-finals match at Bemidji on Saturday. Olson won the match on a decision, 5 to 2, and then went on to pin Fertile's Dick Gast in 1:40 to win the Region Eight 95-lb. division title.

JOE Taylor, who closed out an undefeated season in Region Eight wrestling competition, is shown as he is about to gain a pin over Park Rapids' Gary Nelson in a 165-lb. semi-finals match at Bemidji on Saturday. Taylor defeated Crookston's Kent Charron, 3 to 0, in the championship finals on Saturday night. He appears to be wrestling a headless opponent in the above photo.

Int. Falls Broncos Win Hockey Crown in State Tourney

Whip Defending State Champion Johnson High of St. Paul in Finals

The International Falls Broncos won their third Minnesota state high school hockey title in eight years by trouncing the defending state champion St. Paul Johnson squad, 7 to 3, in the finals of the state tournament held in St. Paul on Saturday night.

The Broncos, who won the title in 1957 and 1962, had entered the state tournament as the Region Three representative, having lost the Region Seven finals to Duluth East, 3 to 2.

With the score in a 2-all knot entering the second period, coach Larry Ross' Falls squad rammed home three quick goals, and from then on the Broncos held control of the game.

In other play on Saturday, the Minneapolis Patrick Henry team won third place by scoring a 3 to 1 win over the Richfield team. And the Roseau Rams, champions of Region Eight, won the consolation honors by edging Alexander Ramsey, 2 to 1, in a Saturday afternoon tilt.

In tournament first-round play on Thursday, International Falls defeated Duluth East, 2 to 1; Richfield, turning in one of the tournament's surprises, defeated Roseau, 7 to 2; Minneapolis Patrick Henry defeated Bloomington, 6 to 1; and St. Paul Johnson shelled Alexander Ramsey, winning by a 4 to 0 score.

In the semi-finals on Friday night, International Falls defeated Richfield, 3 to 2; and St. Paul Johnson shellacked Minneapolis Patrick Henry, 9 to 0.

In consolation play on Friday afternoon, the Roseau Rams scored a 3 to 0 win over Duluth East; and Alexander Ramsey defeated Bloomington, 6 to 2.

Thieves Tip G. F.; Win League Title

The senior hockey Thieves clinched the Northwest Hockey league title on Sunday afternoon by scoring an 8 to 5 win over the Grand Forks Warriors in a game played on the Arena rink.

The Thieves will now make preparations for the state amateur hockey tournament that is to be played in Coleraine. The local club has secured permission from the officers of the state amateur hockey association to add several players to the Thieves' roster. According to present plans, Ron Geatz and Jerry Wentz from Grand Fork and Ed Derosier, Tony Schmitz, and Jerry Welter from Crookston will join the Thieves for state tournament play.

In Sunday's game, which found the Grand Forks Warriors having a chance to tie the Thieves for the Northwest Hockey league title, coach Cliff Purpur's team, on goals by Bill Ryden and Ken Farstad, jumped into an early lead. But Chip Strand and Del Offerdahl, getting goals at the 3:54 and 5:44 marks of the first period quickly knotted the game, and when Gus Holmes, Cal Oferdahl, and Larry Poole drove shots past goalie Dale Sauss and into the south net, the locals gained a 5 to 2 first period lead.

The Warriors, outscoring the locals two goals to one, pared the Thieves' lead to 6 to 4 after two periods of play. And when Craig Simmons slammed in the rebound off Ron Geatz' shot from the point at the 4:50 mark of the third period, the Warriors trailed by one. Larry Poole's goal at the 5:16 mark, and Tony Poole's tally late in the period, provided the Thieves' with "game insurance".

Paul Engelstad in RRV Hall of Fame

Paul Engelstad

The names of four prominent men in agriculture in the Red River Basin Area were announced at the Sunday evening program February 23, 1964, in the Winter Shows Arena. These pioneers in progressive agriculture in the Valley who are honored by being named as the first men in the Winter Shows Hall of Fame are: T. M. McCall, Crookston; O. M. Kiser, Crookston; P. M. Finkenbinder, Crookston; and the late Paul Engelstad, Thief River Falls.

This newly introduced "human resource" program in addition to the recognition of 4-H, F. F. A and farmers and their wives at various Winter Shows events, was launched to recognize men and women citizens of the Valley who have made special contributions over a long period of years. These contributions have been not only to the Red River Valley Winter Shows, but also to the building of agriculture in the Valley.

Receiving the award for his late father, Paul Engelstad, was Arnold Engelstad of Thief River Falls. Paul Engelstad spent his entire life farming in Rocksbury township, and began exhibiting his crops and animals at the Winter Shows as early as 1912. He and his wife both graduated from the Northwest School in 1916. A foundation certified seed grower of potatoes and small grains, he served as director of the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association. Besides performing many services to his community, he was a director of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association and served as secretary of the Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders association.

T. M. McCall, former superintendent of the Northwest School of Agriculture in Crookston, was the only one of the four honored men to receive his award in person at the program. Coming to Crookston in 1911, Mr. McCall served on the staff at the Northwest School until his retirement in 1956. He was superintendent from 1937 until the time of his retirement, and also served as president of the Winter Shows Board of Managers for 19 years.

Dale Finkenbinder accepted the award for his grandfather, P. M. Finkenbinder. Coming to the Crookston area in 1903, Mr. Finkenbinder settled in Andover township where he lived until his retirement in 1957. He is well remembered for his breeding of Chester White hogs and purebred milking Shorthorn. Besides serving on the building committee of the Winter Shows for many years, he donated a bred gilt or a Shorthorn bull for the promotion of the shows.

O. M. Kiser served on the staff at the Northwest School from 1921 until his retirement in 1952. During this time, he was head of the animal husbandry department for many years. Among his accomplishments were the success of feeding trials using crops and feeds grown in the Valley. Marlin Augustine, a member of the board of managers of the Winter Shows and President of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, accepted the award in Mr. Kiser's behalf.

Muzzy Holsteins Win at RRV Shows

Advance Payment Offered in 1964 Feed Grain Plan

Growers May Get Half of Payment This Spring, ASCS Chairman States

Growers who take part in the 1964 feed grain program may receive a part of the diversion payment in advance, Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, has announced. As last year, the program will be available for corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

Up to one-half of the estimated total diversion payment may be made in advance, at the participant's request, at the time of signing up or as soon as possible after that time, the chairman explained. The rest of the diversion payment and all of the price-support payment offered by the program will be made next fall.

The advance payment provision should be of substantial benefit to growers who can use some extra ready cash during the spring planting season.

As in 1963, the 1964 feed grain program offers participants a payment for diversion of eligible cropland to approved conserving uses, and a price-support payment on the normal production of the 1964 feed grain acreage. Participating growers will also qualify for price-support loans or purchase agreements on their entire production from the feed grain acreage.

The acreage of corn, grain sorghum, and barley has been combined into one total feed grain

ARTISTS usually are accustomed to paint in its many stages, but not all painters are true artists. When one sees the thick, water-base paint waiting to be thinned in the above photo, one can't really blame Yvonne Lindberg for feeling a little unartistic. She was one of a crew of art students at the school yesterday working on backdrops and other scenery for "Brigadoon," the Lincoln high school operetta to be presented March 13 and 14 in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Lewis Handegaard, Hendrum, president of the 11th District Horticultural Society, presided at the meeting and also served on the arrangement committee along with B. C. Beresford, horticulturalist of the Northwest School, and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad of Oklee, president of the 13th district society. It was estimated that representatives from at least 25 garden clubs in the two districts were present.

Despite the threatening wather, nearly one hundred citizens of the Valley gathered at the first land use seminar sponsored by the board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston on Monday, February 24.

The keynote speech was given by Dr. Laurel Loftsgard, economist of North Dakota State University at Fargo. Professor Loftsgard pointed out that in the foreseeable future there is no practical substitute for land to produce food and fiber. Additionally, he made particular, frequent, and special note of the population explosion on the world-wide scene. He noted that over half of the world's population is on an inadequate diet and that the population of the world will double in the next three decades. The North American continent is the "breadbasket of the world" in terms of food production—followed by Australia and New Zealand. Professor Loftsgard went on to point out the persistence of short crops of grain experienced by the "Communist Block countiee."

Other speakers on the program were: Dr. Olaf Soine, who reminded the group of the inroads made on agricultural production land by the "urban sprawl" in many parts of the U. S. A. Robert Farmes of the Minnesota Conservation Service pointed out the plans and needs for recreation and wildlife. Duane Wilson, State Commissioner of Agriculture, put in a strong plea for utilization of the shoreline area of the Red River Basin for livestock production. Herbert Halverson, area conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, pointed out the concern and the services available for the process of land use planning from the SCS.

B. E. Youngquist, superintendent of Northwest Experiment Station, led the question period. A number of questions were raised about the implications of the population explosion, the urbanization, and the use of crop land by the urban sprawl.

Social Security Agent Due Tuesday

Quarterly Reports Due from Employers Apr. 30

A representative of the Grand Forks District Office of the Social Security Administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, March 3, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Employers have until April 30 1964, to file quarterly social security reports on wages paid to their employees during January, February and March.

Failure to prepare correct and timely reports may cause loss of benefits or delay in receipt of payments due the employee and his family at the time of retirement, disability, or death.

Employees of a regular trade or business must have their earnings reported even though the total wages are small. Domestic employees and other household workers who work in a private home must have their cash earnings reported if they are paid cash wages of $50 or more, by one employer, during the calendar quarter.

The report should show the employee's complete name, correct social security account number, and the amount of wages paid during the quarter.

Employers who have questions about their quarterly social security reports should get in touch with the Internal revenue office. Social Security information can be obtained by calling or visiting the social security district office located in Grand Forks, N. Dak.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

There's something about that very first library card that marks a definite "coming of age" (sort of like the first hair cut for a boy and the first patent leather pumps for the winsome lass.) Six is the minimum age limit for a card holder at your library (but you needn't retire your card if you're closer to 60!). A young boy or girl proudly prints his name on the registration card, and mom or dad promptly sign. The beginning reader is proud-as-punch when he checks his first books out on his very own card. Do the lads or lassies comprehend the meaning of that card? Do they know the truly "American way of life" they're holding in their hand? The little card gives them the right to read anything they want to read, anytime they want to read it (parents willing!). Funny books, or sad ones, about people, about places, animals. They can read science books or war books, learn how to build, or how to destroy. That little card entitles them to become the most educated persons in America, if they so desire. That little card is a six-year-old's finest possession. Parents, and teachers, and librarians must make sure they understand it is just that! They must be taught to treat it carefully, taught not to misplace it, not to loan it to others, not to destroy it. It must be treadted as any other precious possession.

Present count of registration cards turns up the astonishing figure of more than 3000 juvenile card holders. You wouldn't think there were nearly that many would you? But there are... there are more than 3000 children (ages six through 14) eligible to borrow books. Generally speaking, these young citizens browse on the juvenile side but occasionally they stride to the adult section and do a bit of book shopping. Of course the rules state those in the sixth grade, or below may not be in the library after 6:00 p.m. unless accompanied by their parents.

Naturally tastes in reading are as different with young people as with adults. However, the many, many volumes on the shelves usually yield just the treasure the reader is seeking. New volumes are constantly being added and the young borrowers look forward to finding them available for "take-home" adventure. There are always the old favorites, and there are today's additions which will become tomorrow's subject of the "have you read" phrase.

Newest for those interested in people-books are "The true story" series and include David Livingstone, Lawrence of Arabia, Lord Nelson, Gandhi, Albert Schweitzer, Captain (Robert) Scott, Cecil Rhodes and Sir Francis Drake. The exciting lives of these interesting people make excellent reading for almost any age group.

Animals and people coming alive in a single book make reading pleasure by the pageful! Consequently "Tizz on a Horse Farm" by Elisa Bialk will be another of those "sorry it is out now" additions. Tracy and Don and Tizz are on a ranch where horses are raised and trained. It gets pretty exciting when Don has to prove to experts that proper handling of a very special horse makes the animal run like the very wind!

Those who like facts, rather than fantasy, will find Charles D. Neal's "Exploring Light and Color" an excellent choice. The volume presents fascinating projects in the science of optics and gives the "how and why" of many things, from "aberration, chromatic" to "X-rays". The young scientist will learn a great deal from this book. It will whet his appetite and make him want more of the same!

Of course it isn't necessary for the mothers of the pre-school children to neglect their picture-book-reading. Books may be checked out on an adult's card for the younger-than six child. Results of scientific collection of data show that a child who is read to from a very early age has a much larger vocabulary and learns to read earlier, and better, than a child who is not read to at all, or only very little.)

Argyle Farmer Given King Agassiz IV Title

Yutrzenka operates a 400 acre farm specializing in certified grain and potato production. He began farming with his father in 1942. Yutrzenka, who is married and has three children, is active in community service work in his county.

Candidates for King Agassiz IV were from eleven northwestern Minnesota counties and included: Rev. Al J. Wiger, Hawley, Clay county; Ray Christian, Fertile, East Polk county; Harris Peterson, Drayton, North Dakota, Kittson county; LeRoy Carlson, Williams, Lake of the Woods county; Leo Beitels, Jr., Mahnomen, Mahnomen county; Leonard Yutrzenka, Argyle, Marshall county; Peter Fog, Halstad, Norman county, Ken Onken, Thief River Falls, Pennington county; Irving Beyer, Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county; Alvin Wagner, Crookston, West Polk county; Clifford Ouse, Rothsay, Wilkin county.

King Agassiz is the official Red River Valley Winter Shows ambassador and is selected each year from supporting counties who nominate a county King Agassiz for recognition at the Winter Shows. Candidates are to be between the ages of 25 and 40 and are farmers or anyone who serves farming. He is a person who is coming up the ladder of opportunity in agriculture and who has developed his business soundly and serves his community well.

A mass choir consisting of voices from the Fisher, Crookston and Climax High Schools, presented a concert preceding the coronation activities.

Public Opinion

To The Editor:

I have been a resident of this area for twelve years. Of this time I spent nine years as a teacher, two years in Goodridge and seven years in Thief River Falls.

During this period I became acutely aware of the high percentage of high school dropouts and low percentage of high school graduates going on to college, or any other post-high school training. This I feel is largely due to lack of educational opportunities on the post-high school level.

This problem was partly alleviated by the expansion of the Thief River Falls Area Vocational-Technical school. Enrollment to capacity in every course offered, with most of this enrollment from the immediate area, attests to the fact that our young people are ready and willing to take advantage of available education and opportunities. While this was a step forward it is not nearly sufficient to satisfy our need for vocational training in this area.

In addition to this we have a complete void in college facilities within commuting distance in northwestern Minnesota.

As a realtor the past three years I have had the opportunity to observe at close range the socio-economic status of our young people. In all too many cases, they are under-employed, un-employed, on relief, or working for substandard wages, because they were not afforded an opportunity to upgrade their technical skills or to go on to college training.

As already mentioned, some of our young people are already unemployed, under-employed or on relief, with many of the relief cases due to broken homes as a result of the father's inability to provide an adequate standard of living. This is most alarming in view of the fact that problems of this kind compound themselves and will in the future add increasingly to our already overburdened relief rolls. It is of no consolation that some of these people move away and secure welfare benefits in other communities.

In view of this background which has been thoroughly documented by others, it is imminent that we provide for greater educational opportunities for the young people in our area.

Every informed, responsible citizen is vitally concerned about these problems. Inasmuch as there is greater need for remedial action in this area than any other in our state, I urge you to give a soul-searching consideration to the establishment of a Junior college in Thief River Falls.

From a purely personal standpoint I might add that we have a daughter who is now a senior at the University of Minnesota. The cost of this is no doubt familiar to most parents. The problem, however, is that we also have a son, 10, and a girl, 8, who seemingly have college potential. We will be hard put to foot the bill when both of them reach college age, if we have to send them away for higher education.

Respectfully submitted,
Jon Metusalem

To the Editor:

On Friday February 28, two members of the state junior college board will be in Thief River Falls, Ben Wichterman of Plummer and Rev. Fr. James Shannon, president of St. Thomas college. At 8 o'clock Friday evening Fr. Shannon will be the principal speaker at a program to be held in the high school auditorium. A record turnout on Friday evening would do much to impress these gentlemen with our need and desire to have a state supported Junior college located at Thief River Falls.

I strongly urge everyone to support this movement to have a state supported junior college located here. Our immediate problem is to receive designation from this board as a proposed site for a junior college.

To have a state supported junior college located here would be a tremendous asset to this whole area. There is a void of educational opportunity in this area. Don't forget, the cost to you will be the same should the state locate a junior college here or at some other location in Minnesota.

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Having spent several days in Mexico I of course am now qualified to discuss Mexico as one who speaks with authority. Confidentially, however, there are a few things about Mexico about which I am still uninformed and, shall I say, a little bewildered. I can say with certainty that my brief visit did arouse my interest in the country to the extent that I look forward to another visit of longer duration. As a result on my short visit to a very large country that is an important neighbor of ours, I will be better able to plan the next exploratory mission.

Mexico may be divided into two parts. There is Mexico City and then there is the rest of Mexico. Mexico City, with a populaton of more than five million people, is one of the world's largest cities, and, in some respects, probably one of the most unusual. It is located on a vast plateau that extends between two coastal mountain ranges. It's mile-high altitude provides a pleasant, comfortable climate during the entire year. The year is divided into two seasons, the wet and the dry, extremely wet and extremely dry. The impounding of waters and irrigation make possible satisfactory growing conditions during the dry season.

I visited a dairy farm 30 miles out of Mexico City that I will tell you more about later. It was a complete operation based on 400 milking Holsteins, a part of a registered herd of 700. That operation was not typical, the typical Mexican farmer in that area having a few acres and a small herd of scrub cows, sheep and goats.

Mexico City surprised me. I expected it would be a typical old city of ancient buildings an narrow streets. It now is a city of very modern skyscrapers that contrast nicely with the background of older structures that surround them. But the amazing thing is the highway system that would compare favorably with the urban highways that now are being developed in our metropolitan areas. Traffic moves fast over the main routes around and through Mexico City. Old narrow streets have been expanded and replaced by highways that range from six to twelve lanes, with modern underpasses and overpasses. Mexico City amazed me.

I visited the pyramids that the travel agencies boast about and they are important as symbols of the ancient civilization that is so important in the background of the present Mexico. The ruling class in Mexico is a cross between the conquering Spanlards and the native Indians and this cross represents an interesting blending of two advanced cultures. This racial development is an important factor in Mexican politics, and I will have more to say about the politics of the nation and the coming presidential election in later observations.

My visit to Mexico was made particularly pleasant by a reunion with Senator and Mrs. Donald Sinclair of Stephen at Acapulco where, at ocean level on the Pacific coast, I waded in the ocean and acquired a little sunburn. Compared with mile-high Mexico City, Acapulco was tropical. At Acapulco, by observation, I learn something about swordfish fishing and the filming of movie and television programs. If I can find my notes on these important matters I may startle you with some amazing revelations.

PROGRESS during the winter months has been made on the building which will soon be the new home of the J. C. Penney company in Thief River Falls. This photo was taken from the northeast corner of the building and shows part of the large merchandising area of the main floor. Complete remodeling of the former Montgomery Ward building will provide the appearance of a completely new store and will start a chain of other building projects and business moves in the city.

Advance Payment Offered in 1964 Feed Grain Plan

base for each farm, and a producer may divert one or more of the feed grains in the total base. His diversion payment will be made at the per-acre rate applying to the grain diverted. The minimum diversion under the program will be 20 per cent of the farm's feed grain base acreage.

While participation in the 1964 feed grain program is voluntary, the price-support payments and loans—as well as the diversion payments—will be available only to growers who carry out the program's provisions.

Signup for the program will continue at the Pennington County ASCS office through March 27.

Accidents Noted By Police Dep't.

Two Mishaps in City Cause $260 in Damage

Damage was estimated at $120 to the Prichard truck and $90 to the Wangsnes car.

On Tuesday at 11:30 a.m., a car driven by Larry Haug, rt. 1, Fisher, entered 2nd street from the alley between Main and Knight Avenues and collided with a car driven east on Second street by Wallace Heaton, city. Bell Telephone Has Highest Revenue and Expense in History

Record use of Northwestern Bell telephone services pushed both revenues and expenses of the company to an all-time high, according to the firm's report for 1963. Figures were released by J. M. Wilson, local company manager.

A. F. Jacobson, Northwestern Bell president, said 1963 expenditures for new plant and service equipment reached $116,700,000, also a record. Such expenditures over the past five years have totaled $530,000,000. According to the report, it was necessary to attract new capital from investors to meet about half of this money requirement.

Northwestern Bell's investment in the five upper midwest states it serves reached $1.098 billion by the end of the year. This was double its investment of only eight years ago. Jacobson said that his company is planning construction for 1964 which will cost approximately $125,000,000.

The company's 1963 earnings per share of stock were $2.21 compared with $2.07 for the preceding year.

Payroll costs last year totaled $141,000,000 for the largest cost factor in providing service. The second largest was operating taxes, which amounted to $85,367,000. In addition, the company collected from customers $29,500,000 in federal excise and state sales taxes.

Each phone the company had in service during 1963 represented an annual tax tag of $41.47.

The number of telephones served by Northwestern Bell increased by more than 108,000 in 1963, bringing the year-end total to 2,830,000. Use of long distance and other intercity services was about 10 per cent higher than in 1962.

Dial service was started in 21 communities. At the end of the year, 98.3 per cent of the company's telephones had such service.

An average of 22,300 men and women worked for Northwestern Bell in 1963 in some 644 exchanges throughout the five states. The company estimates that its operations contributed nearly $340 million to the economy of this area.

More than 600 independent telephone companies also provide service in the five states.

A delegation of 20 interested persons from the City and rural area alike appeared and requested that the County Commissioners make application to the Library Division of the Department of Education for a demonstration of a Multi-County Library in conjunction with the Counties of Marshall, Kittson and Roseau. The demonstration period would run for about one year after the bookmobile service started and would be at no cost to the Counties.

After the demonstration period the Counties would call a public hearing to determine if the Counties should then continue the service and levy a tax to support it. After a discussion the matter was tabled to be taken up at a special meeting of the Board to be held at 3:30 p. m., Feb. 18, 1964.

The Board then examined and approved the County Official's reports of Fees and Emoluments as presented for the year 1963 and ordered them filed.

TRF Tips Climax Quintet 96-58

Coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers turned in another high-scoring performance as they rolled up a 96 to 58 win over the Climax Vikings on the local court Monday afternoon. The game was originally scheduled for Saturday night, but the blizzard conditions that prevailed that evening forced postponement of the game. And as the result of the game would have a bearing on the District 31 tournament pairings, the game was re-scheduled for Monday afternoon.

The Prowlers will conclude their 1963-64 schedule on Friday night when they meet the Moorhead Spuds on the Concordia college fieldhouse court. The Prowlers will be carrying a record of eight wins and nine losses into their schedule-ending game against the highly-rankd Spuds.

In Monday afternoon's game against coach Dick Halverson's Climax Vikings, the Prowlers, shooting a sixty per cent clip, raced away to a 15 to 3 lead in the early minutes of the first period, and a 20 to 7 lead midway in the period. But the Vikings, with Dick Knudsvig and Jim Flaagan leading the attack, pared that Prowler lead to one point, 26 to 25, at the end of the peiod.

With the score at 28 to 27 in the opening minute of the second period, the Prowlers erupted for ten points. Rick Jensen looped a long shot into the east basket; Bob Olson scored on a layup; Tommy Cummings hit from the left side of the basket, Olson drove in for another layup shot; and Rick Nelson, taking a pass from Jensen, scored from close-in. The Prowlers held a 55 to 34 lead at the half-time intermission.

Outpointing the Vikings 20 to 7 in the third period, with Prowler reserves playing much of the period, coach Junker's squad gained a commanding 75 to 41 lead entering the fourth period, and in this final quarter the Prowlers had a four-point edge in scoring 21 to 17.

For the Prowlers, six players hit in double figures with Kenny Larson's 20 points being the game's high point total.

Will Appear Here Again

Coach Bob Peters will bring his University of North Dakota freshman hockey squad back here for another appearance against the Thieves on the Arena ice on Thursday night. Apparently the Sioux frosh feel that they are a much better club than that 9 to 7 win they scored over the Thieves last week indicates the North Dakota squad isn't exactly a freshman club, and the publicity department calls the squad the North Dakota junior varsity. But the roster is predominantly freshman.

A couple of former Roseau Rams are playing with the Sioux, and playing real well. Dale Olson is a defenseman, and Bob Lillo is on the number one line that is centered by Brandon's Bob Stoyko, and which has Brian Strimbiski at the other wing. The second line, and which is just about on a par with the first set of forwards, has Dennis Hextall of Brandon at center, with Tom Iannone (and this is Dave Janaway at the wings. Mike Curran, a former International Falls goalie, and Bill O'Nell of Nipigon, Ont., share the goal-tending duties.

Game time is at 8:00 p. m. on Thursday, Feb. 27.

To Compete In State Meet

The Thieves will, following the game against the North Dakota junior varsity, make preparations for participation in the state amateur hockey tournament at Coleraine on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The local club had requested permission to add five players to their roster (several of the Thieves' regulars cannot get time off for the tournament), but the board of directors of the state hockey association turned down this request. The Thieves will be allowed to add three players to their lineup, and player-coach Dale Wennberg announced that Eddie Derosier, Tony Schmitz, and Jerry Abelson, all of Crookston, will play with the locals.

The tournament at Coleraine will open play at 6:00 p. m. on Friday, with Eveleth meeting St. Louis Park, the club that is coached by Ken Yackel; and at 8:30 p. m., the Thieves will meet the St. Paul All-State team. Semi-finals are slated for 2:30 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. on Saturday, with the championship finals at 2:30 p. m. on Sunday.

Down Memory Lane

Members of the 1954 Prowler state champion high school hockey squad held a reunion in St. Paul the past weekend, and the only members of the 12-player tournament squad who were not in attendance were Lyle Guttu, Joey Poole, and Jack Queanell. Lyle is doing graduate study in New York. Joey is teaching and coaching at Port Huron, Mich.; and Jack is doing some studying at the University of Illinois (Jack is in the Army, and his Illinois U studies are part of his army training).

That meant that such boys as Marv Jorde, Jack Hoppe, Mike McMahon, Jim Zavoral, Les Sabo, Bob Helgeland, Sid Vraa, Rod Collins, and Darryl Durgin were on hand. This 1953-54 team, coached by Dennis Rolle, is rated as one of the great teams in state tournament history, and the record supports this rating.

The squad posted a mark of twenty wins and no losses, and in only one of these games, against the Williams Wolves here, were the Prowlers held to a one-goal margin. The Prowlers were forced into an overtime period before scoring a 4 to 3 win over Williams. But the game was not as close as that score would indicate as during the game goalie Jack Hoppe of the Prowlers had but ten stops, while Preston Peterson in the nets for Williams had 36 stops.

Showed Class

But it was in the state tournament play that the Prowlers revealed their all-round class. Coach Rolle's squad opened with a 6 to 1 win over Minneapolis South, with the blue-and-gold having a 26 to 8 margin in shots on goal, or goalie stops. In the semifinals, the Prowlers rolled over South St. Paul, 8 to 1, and in that game Hoppe had eight saves, while Henry Metcalfe of the Packers had 22 saves. And in the championship finals, against Eveleth, the Prowlers scored a 4 to 1 win. Hoppe had eight saves in the game, while Tom Best and Gordon Gunderson, who shared the Eveleth goalie work, had 17 stops.

One of the features of this 1954 Prowler team was the balanced scoring of the two forward lines. One line, the Jorde line, scored 44 goals during the season, with Marv Jorde having 18 goals, Sid Vraa scoring 11 goals, and Lyle Guttu tallying 15 goals. The other line, centered by Joey Poole, scored 41 goals during the season, with Joey having 17 goals, Bob Helgeland with 10 goals, and Darryl Durgin with 14 goals.

In those days the all-state tournament squad was limited to ten players, and four of the Prowlers—Hoppe, Poole, Jorde, and McMahon—were named to the squad.

It will be a long, long time before the Prowlers will produce a hockey team with the talents of that 1954 squad.

Marhall Co. Team Is Second in 4-H Potato Judging

The Marshall county No. 1 team won second place with 1238 points. Its members are Bob Jorgeson, Cliff Hoper, and Peter Schmidt. Richard and Judy Stierland and Ross Mason of the Lake of the Woods Team No. 2 placed third place in the contest.

Gifts, Inheritances Free of Income Tax

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Recipients of gifts, inheritances and the beneficiaries of life insurance proceeds are generally not required to pay income tax on the amounts received from these sources. Such amounts and benefits may be subject to other taxes such as the gift tax, estate or inheritance taxes and will normally not be reported as income by the recipient.

Life insurance proceeds which are paid upon the death of the insured are generally not taxable to the beneficiary. This is true whether the proceeds are received as a lump sum or over a period of time under one of the options provided in the insurance contract. However, where option payments are received over a period of time, the option payments usually include an item of interest paid by the insurance company on the proceeds it retains and this interest is taxable as income. A widow or widower who is receiving periodic payment of proceeds under an option, other than a pure interest option, from a policy on the life of a deceased spouse may exclude up to $1,000 of interest included in these option payments.

The amount of inheritances distributed from an estate of a deceased person are generally not taxable as income to the beneficiary; however, income which is earned by the estate in the year in which it is distributed normally will be taxable to the recipient of this income. If the amount of income earned on an inheritance is substantial and the estate has been administered over a period of several years, inquiry should be made to determine the amount of income earned only in the year of distribution since income earned and taxable in prior years to the estate normally will not be included in the income of the beneficiary when distributed.

Employers often may make payments to the families or designated beneficiaries of their deceased employees. The first $5,000 of such payments are not taxable income to the recipient. However, if the amount received from an employer because of an employee's death exceeds this amount, the excess will be taxable income to the recipient. If such payment is made over a period of time and exceeds $5,000, the amount of taxable income will be apportioned over the period of the payments in accordance with computations made for determining income in annuity contracts.

Property which is received by inheritance or from a deceased person so as to have been subject to the federal estate tax upon such person's death, may be sold by the recipient. The gain or loss on the sale of such property is determined by using the value of such property on the date of death of the person from whom it is received as the cost basis of the property. The difference between the net amount received upon sale and the value on this date of death will determine and measure the amount of gain or loss.

The date of acquisition for purposes of determining whether any such gain or loss would be a long term capital gain or loss is measured from the date of acquisition by the person from whom the property is received. The cost basis for determining gain or loss of property received by gift generally refers to the purchase price paid by the donor of the property and the time is measured from the date of acquisition by the donor.

Canadian Phone Use Is Highest in World

Canadians use their telephones more than anyone else in the world, according to J. M. Wilson, local Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager.

During 1962, Canadians averaged 613.4 telephone conversations per person, an increase of more than 60 conversations over the prior year's 551.6 figure. The United States ranked second with 556.6 conversations and Iceland was third with 527.1. All figures are as of January 1, 1963, since it takes a year to obtain the data.

The report also revealed that more telephones were added throughout the world in 1962 than in any previous year. Over 9,000,000 additional phones were placed in service, bringing the world's total up to 159,200,000.

United States ranked first with 80,969,000 telephones, followed by the United Kingdom with 8,911,000 and Japan with 7,356,007. Others in the top ten were West Germany, 7,047,031; Canada, 6,330,000; Russia, an estimated 5,769,200; France, 4,977,797; Italy, 4,654,744; Sweden, 3,053,752; and Australia, 2,382,478.

New York City's 4,798,371 telephones at the beginning of 1963 outranked 20 of the 27 countries on the list.

The United States had 43.1 telephones for every 100 persons; Sweden had 40.3; Canada, 33.7; and New Zealand, 33.6. Russia's telephones per 100 persons increased to 2.6 from 2.3 a year earlier.

Bell System telephone users can call 97.9 per cent of all the telephones in the world, compared with 97.7 a year earlier. Almost 86 per cent of the world's telephones were concentrated in North America and Europe.

"We've become the talkers at international meetings. We expect to be heard. We expect to be followed. The time has come when we also must become listeners — we must remind ourselves that the talker educates but the listener learns—and there is much to learn." Arthur K. Watson

The Power of Women

"Behind every great man is a woman" is a statement which has gained in popularity through the years. It is usually true. Excepting mothers, who must of biological necessity be in the history of everyone, there is usually an influential female somewhere in the life of every great man. She is generally prodding, pushing, crying, complaining, pestering, demanding or otherwise forcing great men to attain the heights they reach—mainly to satisfy her whims or desires for wealth or status.

In our own United States, the collective "American woman" has gained a prominence she enjoys in few other societies. According to I. Sewell Morris, president of the Nationald Defense Transportation association, writing in "National Business Woman" magazine, women now comprise 54 per cent of the population, form the majority of eligible voters and comprise one-third of the working force. Morris states:

> "The influence of women extends into all aspects of American life—political, moral and social. Women no longer are content with the platitudinous goals of yesteryear; women no longer are silent and passive, nor can they be taken for granted; women no longer are followers; women now lead."

Confronted with such statistics, men in our nation must consider themselves fortunate that women haven't exerted this power to even greater extents. Women also control a vast majority of the nation's wealth—generally controlling even that which is credited to men. Most married men would concur with this.

We are tempted to agree with the man who said, "The Indian society was one in which the men were disposed to hunt and fish while the women did all the work. Then the white men came along and thought they could improve on a situation like that."

The following is the text written by David Torgerson, winner of he Pennington County 4-H radio speaking contest, and presented at the Red River Valley Winter shows where he gained second place among 10 contestants. Topic for the contest was, "What is my responsibility in bettering inter-racial and inter-religious understanding?"

"Lord, reform Thy world, beginning with me."

This Chinese Christian's prayer has within it the seed that could grow and make racial and religious tensions cease.

How does this apply to me? There is an article in the December issue of the Reader's Digest, "The Excuse We Should Never Use." This excuse is: "It doesn't matter what I do." It brought to my mind the many people who believe that it doesn't make any difference what they as individuals do about problems of today. I came to the conclusion that society is made up of individuals, and as I am an individual, I do have a responsibility in religious and racial problems.

I intend to show that my responsibilities in bettering inter-racial and inter-religious relations lie in four areas: First in my home, second in my community, then in my country, and finally in the world.

Let me first show my responsibility in my home. I can do this by learning to respect the rights and beliefs of the members of my own family. I need to know and practice my own religion so my actions fit what I confess to believe. Ignorance makes us intolerant of the beliefs and practices of others. Newspapers, magazines, radio, and television bring us news of injustice and intolerance carried out in hatred/of other races and religions. I can become informed by reading, studying and discussing these problems.

The second area of responsibility lies in my community. How can I apply what I have learned in my home? Each person I meet, I need to recognize as a member of a larger family; and that he has rights, under God, no matter what his color or creed. I must be friendly, courteous, and tolerant of his beliefs and practices; granting him the same privileges as I want for myself. If a member of another race or religion should move into my community, I should call on him and offer him my friendship and good will. Students of other colors and creeds, I can befriend, invite them to my home, get acquainted, and treat them as members of the human race. I should judge a man by his contribution to society, not by the color of his skin. Within our communities, we have churches, 4-H clubs, F.F.A., and boy and girl scouts, that provide many opportunities for getting better acquainted with people of other religions and colors by working, playing, and planning together.

My next step in my responsibility is in my country. Within this great land of ours we have people of almost every race and religion. The Constitutuion of our country gives freedom of speech, press, and religion to all its people. Equal rights are granted to each of its citizens regardless of race or creed. The right to participate in government, equal rights in court, equal opportunities for education and work should be the possession of every citizen. But—laws cannot be made that will do away with prejudices that have been held for centuries. I—as a responsible citizen need to throw away these prejudcises, and practice the privileges I have, and grant the same to my fellow man. I must become informed on political issues and candidates. Then, when I have the right to vote, cast my ballot for the candidate who has shown, not only by his words, but by his actions that he will uphold the rights of all creeds and colors.

All citizens have a responsibility in the defense of our country. It doesn't matter if your skin is black, white, or yellow, or whether you are Catholic, Potestant, or Jew, when the nation calls. The responsibility in my country to better these relations, brings to mind the late President Kennedy's words from his inaugural address, "Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

I would like to carry this thought to my final topic—my responsibility to the world. Our people have shown by many ways that they are concerned about other nations of color and creed. We have the peace corps that is doing much to bring understanding. "Care" packages are being sent to needy regardless of color or creed. When I realize that I am but one member, of one race, of the many in this world; and that all men are my brothers; then I will learn to love them and seek their welfare.

My responsibility, then, to better relations between religious and racial groups begins at home, by cleaning out my own prejudices, by learning all I can of these other groups; Second by carrying this understanding into community affairs; then exercising my rights as a citizen and granting the same to others in my country; and finally showing to the world that my actions fit what I say I believe; "That all men are created equal, and are endowed by their Creator with these rights."

Let me grant these rights to others, lest I lose my own.

We Could Use a Couple

On Sunday near Grand Forks a tragic traffic accident took the lives of five people and injured several others. The tragedy involved a railroad train which struck a small, bus-type vehicle at a crossing. It was reported that the train sounded a warning whistle but that those in the bus apparently failed to hear it.

We do not know whether or not the crossing was marked with flashing signals, but the accident brings to mind several crossings in our own city. Tracks crossing Eighth street and First street are not protected by such signals, and several accidents have happened at those crossings in the past few years.

Fortunately, we have escaped the tragedy of the crash at Grand Forks. We can not expect to remain so fortunate. While the installation of flashing warning signals would not guarantee the prevention of accidents, this action would certainly make their happening less likely.

Railroad signals must be installed at the direction of and with the approval of the state Railroad and Warehouse commission. Apparently the commission must be shown cause for having the signals installed. It should be possible, with some effort, to show cause for having the signals installed at either or both of the crossings mentioned. It would certainly be an asset to this city's safety program.

A Bulge in the Budget

Defense spending is the greatest item in the national budget, and is therefore one of the items most criticized by the nation's press. This should not necessarily be so.

It must be agreed that defense is probably the most vital item to us as a nation and as individuals. Without an adequate deterrent to enemy attack, this country would certainly be subjected to such attack. It is only the knowledge of retaliation that has prevented our cold war enemies from making such a move long ago.

Just as in any large-scale, ultra-progressive program, there is bound to be waste in the defense program. There are out-dated procedures, excessive prices paid for specialized equipment, high costs for training military personnel who do not continue in their fields, and other items which make the program more costly than it would have to be.

We recognize that the defense program has its shortcomings and know that the country would benefit tremendously if it did not have to meet the financial demands of defense. We do not agree, however, that the defense program, particularly in nuclear weapons and testing, should be significantly curtailed.

Our country and allies have passed the time when they could count on overpowering adversaries with manpower and industrial power. Our hope now lies in our technical abilities, not to provide an offensive, but to maintain retaliatory powers sufficient to discourage an offensive against us. Disarmament and nuclear test bans, though they sound desirable, are not in our best interest. We must hold our position of being able to return any attack with maximum effectiveness.

We all hope that such power will never have to be used, but we must have it to discourage our enemies. This bulges our budget, but it is a battle of the bulge which we must fight for our very survival.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

A short time ago I had the privilege of addressing the members of the American Association of University Women. This organization and its members are known for their devotion to the cause of improving education at all levels, and I was pleased to share some of my thoughts with them.

Big Stakes

When we are talking about education these days we are discussing big stakes. I firmly believe that the survival of democracy itself depends on expanding opportunity and improving standards of education throughout our state and nation. In our society we are faced with hard facts that unless each individual is given the maximum opportunity to use his talents, he may find the burden of freedom too much to cope with.

Key To Growth

We know that our economy, that our scientific industries, our arts and commerce feed and grow on the output of our educational institutions. But the general public is not so aware of the importance—the necessity—for continually updating and increasing investments in education as a method of providing a strong base for future growth and jobs.

Rapid Change

Times and conditions change rapidly and we must be prepared, in this technological society, to move with them. There is an urgent need today to improve student counseling, to raise the status of our faculties, to improve salaries and pensions, to provide grants for advanced study, to assure a climate of academic freedom, and to wash out mediocrity wherever we find it.

Minnesota Fifth

In the past we have done a good job. Minnesota today ranks fifth in the nation in the percentage of personal income used for local and state public school purposes. We rank higher than the national average in the number of dollars invested in higher education. Yet, if we are to expand education and extend and improve it so that we gain the maximum contribution from each citizen, we must invest more.

Strong Commitment

I have a stong commitment to rally all possible public support to achieve necessary increases in investment for education. It is my belief that if the people are given the facts about the great contributions education is making to our state and to our way of life they will think no investment, no sacrifice is too great for our children and their futures.

Help On Way

The recently passed Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 will provide more than a billion dollars for construction and expansion of higher education facilities across the country. Estimates indicate that Minnesota's share will be around $25 million over the next five years. Help is on the way and this far-reaching legislation will give a badly needed boost to our already overstrained facilities.

Now is the time to do something about your egg income — to get the highest possible return from your flock. Take your cue from official Random Sample Tests conducted from California to Rhode Island in which Starcross 288 proved to be the top profit producer. Just look at the three year summary of Shaver superiority in Western New York Random Sample Tests.

Shaver Starcross 288	$2.976	245.9	75.37
Shaver Advantage	+.558	+23.4	+4.67

A New Layer—Starcross 288 was developed from strains with the best egg-producing and feed-conversion qualities. Poultry scientists took these desirable characteristics and bred them into one layer. The result is a bird that excelled in across-the-board comparisons of white egg layers.

Your egg income next fall and winter depends on the chicks you choose now. Stop in or phone the Swift Hatchery or your nearest Swift's Hatchery dealer and see these official egg laying test results for yourself.

Ask for your copy of Swift's new Egg and Feed Record Book.

Rep. Langen Attacks Heavy Beef Imports

"Our government has now guaranteed foreign exporters of meat a disproportionate share of the United States market," declared Rep. Odin Langen Tuesday in commenting on the Department of Agriculture's announcement of new agreements with Australlia and New Zealand. "The Department't statement tells us that Australia and New Zealand have agreed to limit meat exports to the United States. But actually the agreement merely confirms the unwise practices of the past few years with a promise by the United States to maintain these price-depressing high levels of foreign meat flowing into this country."

Langen noted that the agreement covers meat in all forms other than canned, cured and cooked meat and live animals. "This still leaves the door wide open," he said. "By failing to include processed meats we may be promoting the food processing industries in those countries. This situation requires careful watching."

Congressman Langen also had comment on the part of the agreement that gives Australia and New Zealand an annual increase of 3.7 per cent to correspond with what the Agriculture Department calls the expected rate of increase in the total United States market for these meats. "The Australian note to the United States calls it a 'fair and reasonable share in the growth of the United Sates market.' Fair to whom? Certainly not to our domestic producers, who are already suffering decreased income from this glut on their market. What it really means is that if the U.S. producers do a good job of selling their product, a part of that effort will go to foreign countries.

"We saw this happen in the domestic sugar industry. Now we see it happen with beef imports. The next step may be dairy products such as cream and cheese. It's a sad testimony when U. S. policy guarantees foreign interests a share of our increased domestic consumption. It's a dangerous precedent that could extend to other industries as well as agriculture."

Winter Fishermen Are Reminded of Deadline

The conservation department today reminded winter fishermen that fishing shelters must be removed from the ice by midnight, Feb. 28.

Purpose of the law, established many years ago, is to insure that such shelters are not left on public waters when the ice breaks up and thus become a hazard.

There is no provision in the law allowing extension of the deadline to Feb. 29 during leap years.

The 1963 legislature, however, did modify the law so that after Feb. 28, fish houses may be placed on the ice and used between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

They must be removed from the ice no later than 7 p. m. each day they are used after the Feb. 28 deadline.

Fish shelters left on lakes in violation of the laws are subject to confiscation and removal or destruction by a state game warden.

Pheasants Are Wintering Well

Pheasants are having an easy winter, reports Robert Chesness state game biologist at Madelia. There is little snow throughout much of the pheasant range and no indication of shortage of food. The winter thus far has been so mild that the birds are scattered rather than being flocked up in groves and other areas of cover, such as occurs in bad weather.

Plastic Drivers Licenses Soon Due

Highway Dept. to Issue Them Starting April 1

In four years time, every licensed Minnesota driver will have a plastic driver license, the Minnesota highway department reports.

On April 1, the department will begin issuing the plastic license. It measures 2 and one-eighth by 3 and three-eighths inches, a perfect size to fit the wallet. The cost of the license will remain the same.

The new licenses will be the same colors as are now in use to distinguish between the regular license, the minor's license and the learning permit. All information will be embossed on them.

The paper licenses now in use will, of course, remain valid until they expire or must be renewed for change of name or address.

The changeover was prompted by two factors. First, because it has been a widespread practice among some persons to alter or counterfeit driver licenses. One of the reasons so many fraudulent licenses appeared was that the license blanks were easily obtainable.

The machine-embossed, plastic license makes this virtually impossible.

Another reason is that the paper is easily damaged. Kept in the wallet, or purse, the plastic one should be almost indestructable.

At its last session, the Minnesota state legislature passed enabling legislation for the plastic licenses, with the approval of the highway department.

Idaho, Oklahoma and Maine are among the few states now issuing plastic licenses.

Gamble Robinson Has Net Income Increase in '63

Pacific Gamble Robinson company, the nation's largest distributor of fresh fruits and vegetables, had net income of $1,620,081 in the year ended Dec. 31, 1963, according to Bill Holmos, local manager for the company which has offices and warehouse in Thief River Falls. The net income was six per cent greater than the previous year.

Earnings in 1963 were equal to $1.07 per share on 1,233,524 shares outstanding on December 31 as compared with $1.01 per share in 1962. Sales totaled $189,914,417, nearly one per cent less that the previous year.

Retail operations accounted for 26 per cent of the total sales with the company operating 45 supermarkets at the end of 1963. The company spent $1,817,000 for plant and equipment and income taxes amounted to $1,516,000 or $1.23 per share. Social security taxes cost $840,000 or 68 cents per share and other taxes totaled $1,303,000 or $1.06 per share.

357 Arrested in January for Game, Fish Violations

During January, many fishermen were apparently unable to resist the temptation to put more than one line in the water, according to a report from the Minnesota warden service. Out of a total of 357 arrests for all game and fish law violations for the month, 177 were for fishing with too many lines.

Wardens found 148 fishermen using two lines, 22 using more than two lines and 7 using more than three lines. There were 42 fishermen found fishing without a license. There were 22 other arrests for having a spear in a darkhouse while angling, and 17 spearers were found who had neglected to buy a spearing license.

Eleven persons were apprehended carrying a loaded firearm in a motor vehicle and seven for possession of illegally taken big game.

Three were arrested for shining deer with a motor vehicle.

How much chicken should there be in chicken noodle soup? That would seem to be a relatively simple question to decide but two government agencies have been wrangling over the matter for nearly three years, and a decision has not been reached yet.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D., Ark.) brought the checken soup problem to the attention of the Senate recently. He cited it as a case history of "a bureaucratic snarl which apparently cannot be untangled."

It happens that Sen. Fulbright lives in Fayetteville, Ark. It also happens that Campbell Soup company has a plant there. That explains the Fulbright interest in resolving the problem of how much chicken there should be in chicken noodle soup.

U.S. Department of Agriculture enforces a number of laws relating to the protection of consumers. One is the Poultry Products Inspection Act, which is administered by the Agricultural Marketing service.

In May, 1961, AMS decided that regulations should be established covering dry soup mixes bearing a label describing these products as containing poultry. These rules were intended to insure that the housewife buying chicken noodle soup would find some chicken among the noodles.

So far so good, but because AMS does not enjoy exclusive jurisdiction over food, the regulations exempted dehydrated soups containing less than two per cent poultry in the reconstituted state. The agriculture officials left to the Food and Drug Administration, which has jurisdiction over food labels, the task of policing the exempted soups.

FDA is under another tent from AMS, being part of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. FDA declined to assume the responsibility of telling soup makers how much chicken they had to add to noodle soup to justify labeling the product as "chicken noodle soup."

Makers Innocent Victims

This conflict left soup makers the innocent victims of the bureaucratic disagreement. Some, like Campbell's, followed the AMS two per cent rule only to find that competitors were ignoring it, because of FDA's stand. Since the more chicken the higher the cost, those who obeyed the AMS regulations were placed at a disadvantage.

About two years after the jurisdictional squabble arose, AMS and FDA officials conferred in an effort to resolve the problem. Sen. Fulbright was encouraged to believe that the discriminatory situation would soon be rectified.

However, FDA held fast to its position that the basic responsibility for regulating poultry and poultry products belonged to agriculture under the Poultry Products Inc. spection Act. It declined to accept responsibility for chicken.

So AMS started over again, announcing on Oct. 10, 1963, proposed regulations to establish minimum poultry content on products bearing a label mentioning poultry. AMS obliged, postponing the hearing until March 23, and allowing an additional eight days for the filing of written statements.

Of course, the hearing and the filing of statements will not be the end of the road. The record will have to be analyzed and summarized before a verdict can be reached.

Decision Expected by May

Sen. Fulbright thinks that with luck we can expect a final decision by May, 1964, some three years after the problem was created." He added that he "set this deadline with some trepidation in view of the seeming reluctance to bring this fascinating chain of events to a conclusion."

Sen. Fulbright has been in Congress for 21 years and is a world leader as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. He has more important things to worry about than the percentage of chicken in chicken noodle soup.

But he told the tale to point a moral, which is that federal regulation of the economy has grown so extensive that sometimes it seems "that the bureaucracy has a purpose and a character of its own separate from the aggregate of the individual wills of which it is comprised."

"This case," he added, "is a prime example of bureaucratic buckpassing at its worst as two federal agencies have worried with the intricacies of administrative law holders, and the public has been left in utter frustration trying to determine the government's policy."

Fewer Snowplow Mishaps in Winter

Motorists Warned to Look out for Equipment

Minnesota has been enjoying a relatively "open" winter in 1964 and one of the blessings numbered by the maintenance section of the Minnesota highway department has been a decrease in the careless drivers who hit snowplows and sanders while they are working.

In 1962, for example, there were 20 snowplows and about an equal number of sanders hit by heedless drivers.

The two major causes of such accidents are poor visibility and the failure of some motorists to allow for slippery pavements. Most drivers, realizing that snowplows face a difficult task under bad conditions, automatically slow down when they see the amber lights.

The maintenance authorities recommend keeping at least 100 feet or more behind plows and sanders and traveling at the same speed as the road equipment, until it is safe to pass.

the car that saved his job!

What a tough spot for a salesman! Transferred to a newly opened territory . . . his big chance to really make good . . . just as his old car finally collapsed. In a new town, too — he and his wife strangers, without local credit. So where to turn in this moment when success or failure hinged on transportation?

The answer is similar to many found in Thorp Loan & Thrift files. For this couple, in their former town, had once financed a new range through Thorp. The financing service, they recalled, had been prompt, courteous with a friendly hometown spirit — economical, too. And it had established their credit at any Thorp office.

Now they selected a car, asking the dealer to finance it through Thorp. He had only to make a credit check with the nearby Thorp office for a fast "Okay to deliver!" The salesman was off on the road without losing a single day. In addition, the Thorp Credithrift Plan of financing offered him protection to guarantee car payments in event of sickness or disability and to pay off the entire balance in the event of death.

Whatever your financial need . . . car, furniture, appliances, or a loan of $50 to $5000 or more on terms of up to 36 months . . . make the simple arrangements through Thorp. Thorp financing is complete, protected, and securely establishes your credit.

BACKGROUND FOR MARRIAGE

Next year George will be a civil engineer from Tech. And Meredith is studying Home Economics at State.

If you were their parents, wouldn't you consider that a pretty good background for marriage? Boy with a promising profession! Girl with a sound grasp of the family budget!

But should we be so naive? What they study in college is foreground, not background. It equips our sons and daughters for the immediate opportunities and obligations the future presents.

The permanence of love is not rooted in engineering or economics. Designing bridges and planning menus are not keys to a lasting happy marriage.

Personal character determines the ability of a man and woman to meet the demands of sacrifice and unselfishness that marriage requires. The Church molds character as it builds faith. For character is one of the by-products of faith . . .

. . . The ability to love unselfishly is another!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

118 YEARS of service to the city of Thief River Falls were recognized Friday at a ceremonial coffee hour held in the basement of the city auditorium. Receiving engraved plaques from the city council and presented by Mayor Orin Green were, left to right, Clarence G. Erickson, 35 years of service; Ole J. Ness, 25 years; Telof Johnson, 17 years; Alvin Moeller, 14 years; and Bert Larson, 27 years. All five of the men have retired or will be retiring from city duties this year.

Jr. College Meeting Has Capacity Crowd

Extreme interest in higher education facilities for this area and the prospects for a junior college in Thief River Falls was displayed Friday evening. A standing-room-only crowd, with about 75 persons being forced to stand, packed the Lincoln high school auditorium for the junior college forum sponsored by the Thief River Falls Junior College committee.

Speaker for the forum was Rt. Rev. Msgr. James P. Shannon, president of the College of St. Thomas and member of the state junior college board. He revelwed the legislation enacted to provide for a system of state-owned and state-operated junior colleges and told of the work of the junior college board. He noted what had been accomplished to date, what must be accomplished by Jan. 15, 1965, and what he expects the board to do.

Msgr. Shannon was introduced by Ben Wichterman, Plummer, former state representative and currently vice chairman of the junior college board. Other platform guests introduced by M. R. Hankerson, president of the local junior college committee, were Stanley J. Wenberg, vice president of the University of Minnesota; Rep. Harveydale Maruska of Angus; Rep. Andrew Skaar, Thief River Falls; and Dr. A. E. Jacobson, who was for many years active in state school board and board of education affairs.

Msgr. Shannon Speaks

"We are pioneering new educational territory with this law," Msgr. Shannon told the huge crowd which had come to hear him. "No other state has quite the same system as the Minnesota proposal," he said, "where the entire junior college program would be controlled, operated and financed by the state."

Varied backgrounds of the state college board members was mentiond by Msgr. Shannon. He noted that Governor Rolvaag, in announcing the appointments to the board, had asked that the colleges to be established be made notable for their quality of education. The junior college board is to recommend to the Legislature by Jan. 15, 1965, specific communities and specific sites where the colleges should be located.

The 11 existing junior colleges in the state have all asked to be included in the state program and the board is empowered to take over these colleges after July 1, 1964. Dr. Phillip Helland has been hired as executive director of the junior college board.

Junior colleges have four types of instruction which can be offered, Msgr. Shannon said. They include: (1) a two-year preparatory course which can be finished at a four-year college; (2) a two-year post high school course which would be terminal at the end of two years; (3) technical and vocational education; and (4) adult education beyond the high school level. All are given equal priority under the bill.

Work on the selection of sites will be done on a basis of factual studies, the speaker added, not on the basis of opinion. He urged the settling of regional differences on

John Burtnesses Win Recognition

Sixteen farm families—one from each of the Red River Valley counties—received special recognition at the 26th annual banquet honoring Valley Farmers and Homemakers, held Thursday, February 27, in conjunction with the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston. Bronze plaque awards were presented to the 1964 honored Valley Farmers and Homemakers by O. C. Solne, president of the Red River Valley Developmennt association, sponsor of the award.

The honored families were selected by a special county committee in their respective counties on the basis of community service—their contribution to the agricultural development of their communities, improvement of their farmsteads, and contributions toward betterment of crops and livestock on their home farms and in their counties. Among those honored were Mr. and Mrs. John Burtness of Thief River Falls.

Others honored were: Mr. and Mrs. George Mikulecky, Ulen—Becker county; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred N. Anderson, Hawley—Clay county; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Branigan, Shevlin—Clearwater county; Mr. and Mrs. Everet Sedenquist, Kennedy—Kittson county; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oberg, Baudette—Lake of the Woods county; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gjesvold, Bejou—Mahnomen county; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Abel, Stephen—Marshall county; Mr. and Mrs. Bennitt Aarestad, Halstad—Norman L. Hanson, Fertile—East Polk county; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ramsay, Perham—East Otter Tail county; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sundberg, Fergus Falls—West Otter Tall county; Mr. and Mrs. Norman county; Mr. and Mrs. Veral M. Gibbons, Crookston—West Polk county; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ste. Marie, Red Lake Falls—Red Lake county; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kalinowski, Greenbush—Roseau county; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Alberts of, Foxhome—Wilkin county.

At the banquet program, held at the Northwest School, State Senatir Harveydale Maruska of Angus served as toastmaster. The banquet speaker was Stanley J. Wenberg, vice president for educational relationships and development at the University of Minnesota. Vocal and piano selections were presented by Conrad Kvamme and Howard Neumann of Ada—"The Harmony Twins." O. C. Wenberg Speaks At U of M Alumni Banquet Friday

Curtis Charlson Named New President; Plans For NW School Revealed

Future plans for the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston were unveiled by Stanley J. Wenberg, vice president of the University of Minnesota, at the annual meeting of the U. of M. alumni association in Thief River Falls Friday evening. Current plans are to phase in an advanced technical school at Crookston while eliminating the high school level program.

Curtis Charlson was elected president of the association to succeed Dr. Edward Nelson for the coming year. Other officers elected were Peter Probasco, vice president; Mrs. Wendell Olson, secretary-treasurer; and Fred Sorensen, three-year term on the board of directors.

Wenberg told the group Friday evening that plans for the Northwest School should not conflict with plans for a junior college at Thief River Falls. The school would offer many courses which would not be transferrable to a four-year college and would draw students from throughout the state rather than on an area commuting basis.

When about 70,000 to 80,000 technical students are needed annually in the nation today and only 15,000 are being trained, the need for such a school is evident, Wenberg said. He noted that there is over-training in many fields where four-year college experience is not needed for middle management positions and part of the training must be wasted in order to utilize the remaining parts.

Wenberg also spoke Friday noon at a meeting of the Civic and Commerce association in Red Lake Falls. Twenty-two persons from Thief River Falls attended that meeting.

Receiving the largest amounts were Thief River Falls district No. 564, $63,195.65; Goodridge district No. 561, $9,643.20; and St. Hilaire district No. 562, $3,693.05. Common school districts received smaller amounts.

Vehicle License Numbering System Changes in 1965

Prefix and Three Digits Will Replace Former Four-Digit License Plan

Entire system of numbering on motor vehicle licenses for Thief River Falls has been changed as a result of redistricting, according to Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this city. Thief River Falls is now in the Seventh Congressional district.

A new series has been designed which will provide a larger number of possible combinations of numbers for the two million passenger cars expected in Minnesota the next three years. Plates to be issued in 1965 will have numbers beginning with 7G (designating the Seventh district and Thief River Falls area; and followed by A-100 through 7GJ-100 to provide enough numbers for area motorists.

Previously the local licenses contained a 9G prefix and four digits. Local patrons, by request at the license office, have been able to obtain licenses with their telephone numbers, house numbers, birth year or other desired combinations of four digits.

Those who have already requested special numbers for 1965 will be unable to obtain a four-digit number, Mrs. Hanson said, but persons desiring particular three-digit numbers will be accomoodated. The new numbering system is similar to the California method.

Special recognition to three community citizens was extended by the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening at the annual Boss-Employee banquet held in the American Legion club rooms. Dr. Maurice Townsend, assistant to the president of Moorhead State college, was the guest speaker.

Gordon Dow, president of Dow Key Company, Inc., was named Outstanding Boss; Clyde Christensen, rural Thief River Falls farmer, was presented with the Outstanding Young Farmer award; and Marvin Lundin, editor of the Times, was presented the Jaycee distinguished service award as the community's Outstanding Young Man.

Kenneth Swenson gave the invocation with Gene Beito serving as master of ceremonies for the evening. The welcome was extended by Marvin Lundin, chapter president. Special guests included Mayor Orin Green and Randall Noper, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

"The Point of Adult Education" was the topic for Dr. Townsend's talk for the evening. He stated that adult education is too often geared toward crafts or entertainment rather than the important community, state and national problems that require advanced thinking. Adults should feel it is their duty, he said, to become informed on all phases of such problems so that they can discuss them and form intelligent opinions.

Award Winners

Gordon Dow moved to Thief River Falls in 1957 and has seen his electronics business grow extensively in that period of time. He has been active in many community affairs, serves on the board of directors of Northwestern hospital and was recently elected to the board of directors of Union State Bank. Donna Runger Speaks Vows With R. Grendahl

Vows of marriage were spoken before an altar banked with arrangements of white gladioli, mums and carnations, by Miss Donna Runger of Thief River Falls and Robert Grendahl of St. Paul. The double-ring candlelight service took place at Zion Lutheran church of this city on February 15. Prompting the vows was Rev. Leland Steen. The chancel was decorated with ferns and candelabra and the pews were marked with white candles and satin bows. There were 135 guests in attendance.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Runger of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grendahl of Wanamingo, Minn.

Mrs. Leland Steen presided at the organ, playing "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and other traditional nuptial music, and accompanying soloist James Erickson in "Because", and "The Song of Ruth" before the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer," while the couple knelt at the altar. Recessional was Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." Candlelighter was Darryl Grendahl, Wanamingo, brother of the groom.

The bride was escorted by her father and given by him in marriage. Her wedding attire was a full-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The back skirt was detailed with three tiers of tulle and lace, and the back bodice was buttoned to the waist. A scalloped neckline accented with sequins and seed pearls, and long sleeves, were other details. Her shoulder-length circular veil of pure silk illusion was held in place by a Swedish type crown of seed pearls. Her cascade bouquet was of white roses, red and white carnations, and accents of trailing ivy. Her only jewelry was a sterling silver cross pendant, and was a gift of the bridegroom. Following tradition, the "something old, new, borrowed and blue" theme was carried out.

Kathleen Mattson of Duluth, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Jacobson of St. Cloud and Sharon Breznay, Minneapolis, friends, while Shauna Hoenke, Hallock, the bride's cousin, was junior bridesmaid. They wore street-length dresses of scarlet red and matching circlet headpieces with red net veiling. They wore red shoes and white fur muffs decorated with a red carnation and lemon leaves. Each wore a pearl pendant, a gift of the bride. Flower girl Janet Olson, Warroad, cousin of the bride, wore similar attire.

Mrs. Runger's attire for the wedding of her daughter was a dress of porcelain blue boucle with acces- nts of winter white. The groom's mother wore a dress of blue figured dacron with black accessories. Their corsages were white carnations and red sweetheart roses. Mrs. Sophia Olson of Warroad, the grandmother of the bride, was honored with a corsage of white roses.

The newlyweds were given a reception by the bride's parents after the ceremony. It was attended by 135 guests, and was served by the women of Zion. Host and hostess were an uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hoenke of Hallock, with Pernelle Hoenke, Hallock, cousin of the bride, in charge of guest registration. Judy Spray of Thief River Falls served punch. The groom's cake was served by Gordon Olson, Warroad, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Kayle Thompson of this city was at the gift table.

The three-tiered diamond-shaped wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Hoenke, with trim of red roses and lily of the valley topped by a miniature bridal couple. It was cut by Mrs. Lloyd Spray and Mrs. Clarence Kverno, both of this city. At the silver coffee service were Mrs. Alvin Glein of Foley, and Mrs. Clara Bolton of Warroad, an aunt of the bride. Guests were registered from Warroad, Greenbush, Hallock, Wanamingo, Kenyon, Zumbrota, Foley, Minneapolis, and St. Paul, Minn. and from Grand Forks and Bismarck, N.D. and Holcombe, Wis.

The couple honeymooned at Mt. Telemarken, ski resort near Cable, Wis., the bride choosing a sheath dress of cranberry red with black accessories, for travel. She also wore a corsage of white roses and carnations.

The bride, a graduate of Lincoln high school in 1961, and of the Area Vocational school of practical nursing here, is an LPN at Lutheran Deaconess hospital in Minneapolis. The groom who graduated from Wanamingo high school in 1960, is studying electronics at Brown's Institute in St. Paul and is employed by Univac of St. Paul. They are at home in White Bear.

1 cup strawberry juice from the thawed berries.
1 cup whipped cream

Dissolve gelatine in boiling water. Add half the marshmallows. Chill till it begins to conceal. If there is not enough strawberry juice to fill the cup, fill it with water. Add the remaining ingredients. Pour into a baking pan lined with crushed graham crackers. Allow to firm up, and top with additional crushed crackers. Cut into squares and serve.

Cooking of any kind is something that appeals to our homemaker. Knitting, mostly of novelty sweaters; raising flowers, and membership in the Campanula Garden Club, are pleasant diversions. Mrs. Anderson is a dog fancier, and has recently acquired a pair of female Pomeranians, with the idea of raising puppies for sale. She also raises canaries and parakeets to sell.

There are these children in the family: two boys, Tom, employed in Milwaukee, Wis., and Larry, attending high school in Thief River Falls with his sister Susan.

Mr. Anderson was with Land O' Lakes Creameries for 30 years prior to his sudden passing about a year ago.

EGF Sugar Plant Season Is Ended

Plant Produced 975,940 Bags of Sugar for Record

Sugar beet processing operations were completed Feb. 20 at the American Crystal Sugar plant in East Grand Forks.

According to Jack Tanner, general manager of the plant, the processing run of 162 days was the longest in plant history and more sugar was processed this year than any previous year.

The long run followed the largest sugar beet crop in the history of th Red River Valley.

About 398,044 tons of sugar beets were sliced, Tanner said, yielding 975,940 bags of sugar.

Most of the sugar will be shipped to marketing points in the upper midwest but some will go to other areas of the United States, Tanner said.

Sugar beet farmers in the valley have received their first payment for the crop and additional payments will be made between now and Sept. 3. Farmers received $9.60 a ton for their payment but future payments will vary.

Acording to Tanner, 1,345 farmers grew beets on about 120,000 acres in the Red River Valley this year.

County Woman at Seminar at Shows

Five Hear Discussion of International Affairs

On Wednesday, February 26, five women from Pennington county attended the public affairs seminar at the Crookston Winter Shows. They were Mrs. George Breznay, Mrs. Edgar Naplin, Mrs. Charles Svendsgaard, Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, and Mrs. Julian Lendobeja. The theme of this year's seminar was "Our Changing World".

Economic and political developments abroad do have important effects upon the markets available to Minnesota producers and processors. More knowledge about these relationships is necessary if we are to take advantage of future trade opportunities. Also involved is the friendship of about one-third of the world's people who live in the poorly-developed areas.

Gordon Swanson, professor and international programs coordinator for agricultural education at the 'U' of Minnesota, discussed the existing needs in the international area during the morning session of the seminar.

Dr. Werner Feld, acting head of the department of political science and economics at Moorhead State college, spoke on "The Common Market: Blueprint for European Federation". He pointed out the political as well as the economic objectives of this group of nations.

Medical Mirror
PAPANICOLAOU TEST FOR CANCER
Q. Would you please discuss the Pap. or smear test for cancer?
A. In its earliest stage of development, cancer of the cervix (neck of the womb) seems to be confined to surface tissue for some time (months, perhaps, but not years) before it penetrates into deeper structures. The best chance for cure is during the early, surface stage. Several tests can be used to detect trouble early, one of which is the Papanicolaou or smear test. This test is based upon the fact that cancer cells are more loosely attached to one another than normal cells. They thus tend to shed more easily and, in cervical cancer, the abnormal cells tend to collect in the vagina. Cells are obtained by swab, spread or smeared on a glass slide, and studied under a microscope. The Pap. test has the advantage, so far as the patient is concerned, of being quite painless and simple. If suspicious cells are found, other tests are made to confirm or definitely rule out cancer.
We package prescriptions in safe, efficient containers that protect the medicine against possible harmful effects of light, air or moisture.

"The crucial question in education today is one of finance," Msgr. Shannon said. "Independent government is dependent upon education. There is enough money—the question is whether or not education will be given its rightful priority by the public."

Wichterman Review

In his introductory remarks, Ben Wichterman called the junior college program a "movement which will need continued support." He said he shared this area's concern for providing higher education for young people, and added that the problem of higher education, ". . . may well be one of the greatest social and economic problems faced by legislators in the future."

He added that during the period from 1960 to 1962, costs of elementary and secondary education in the state had risen from $125 million to $445 million which million to $445 million while districts had climbed from $64 million to $525 million.

Following the speaking program, a number of questions in regard to the junior college program were asked. A final question, asking "what the odds were" for a junior college in Thief River Falls, was answered by Msgr. Shannon. He said, "In my personal opinion, and I can not speak for the board, if I were a gambling man I would say the odds were pretty good."

Till God called him home, to suffer no more.—Sadly missed by his wife, children, and grandchildren. 1t18p

(Thief River Falls, Minnesota)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the School Board of Independent School District No. 564, Minnesota, will meet at the office of the Superintendent of Schools in the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on Wednesday, March 18, 1964, at 11:00 o'clock A.M., to open and consider sealed bids for, and award the sale of, $550,000 negotiable coupon, general obligation Refunding Bonds of the School District. The bonds will be dated as of April 1, 1964, and will be in bearer form, numbered consecutively. The bonds will be in the denomination of $1,000 or $5,000 each, whichever is designated by the purchaser within 48 hours after award of sale, and will bear interest at the rate or rates designated by the successful bidder, subject to the limitations stated below, payable on January 1, 1965, and semiannually thereafter on each July 1 and January 1. The bonds will mature in order of serial numbers on January 1 in the amount of $30,000 in each of the years 1966 through 1971, $25,000 in each of the years 1972 through 1981, and $20,000 in the year 1982. Bonds maturing in the years 1978 thru 1982 will each be subject to redemption and prepayment at the option of the District and in inverse order of serial numbers January 1, 1977, and any interest payment date thereafter, at par and accrued interest. The School District will furnish without cost to the purchaser and within 40 days after award of sale the printed, executed bonds and the unqualified legal opinion of Messrs. Dorsey, Owen, Marquart, Windhorst & West, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, together with the customary no-litigation certificate. The legal opinion will be printed on the bonds. The bonds will be delivered without cost to the purchaser anywhere in Minnesota or Chicago, Illinois; delivery elsewhere will be made at the expense of the purchaser. Principal of and interest on the bonds will be made payable at any suitable banking institution designated by the successful bidder within 48 hours after award of sale, subject to approval of the School Board, and the School District will pay reasonable and customary paying agency charges.

Sealed bids marked "Bid for $550,000 Refunding Bonds" may be mailed or delivered to the undersigned Clerk, and must be received prior to the time of said meeting. Each bid must be unconditional except as to legality, which may be conditioned upon the above mentioned legal opinion, and must be accompanied by a cashier's or certified check or bank draft in the amount of $11,000, payable to "School District Treasurer, Independent School District No. 564," to be forfeited as liquidated damages if the bid is accepted and the bidder shall fail to comply therewith. The bids must state a single, uniform basic rate of interest from date of issue to maturity for all bonds having a common maturity date. Not more than five such basic rates are to be specified, and the maturities of the bonds maybe split not more than five ways for the purpose of designating such basic rates. Bids may also specify that some or all of the bonds shall bear additional interest, represented by supplemental or "B" coupons, for any portion of the term of the bonds, but such additional interest may not exceed $5,500 in total amount. Each interest rate, and any combination of rates applicable to any bond for any portion of its term, must be expressed in integral multiples of ¼ or 1/10 of 1%, and may not exceed 6% per annum. Bids will be computed on the basis of net interest cost (total interest from date of issue to stated maturity, less any premium). No oral bid, nor any bid of less than par and accrued interest to the date of bond delivery, will be considered. The School Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid.

Dated February 18, 1964.

List Your Social Security Number with Income Tax

Social Security or tax account numbers are required to be reported on all federal income tax returns for 1963, George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue in St. Paul, said today.

If joint returns are filed, Mr. Lethert stated, and the husband has income but the wife has none, only the number of the husband is required to be reported. If both husband and wife report income from wages, dividends, interest, etc., then both numbers should be listed on the joint return.

Taxpayers should not delay filing their returns because they have not been assigned a Social Security or tax account number, Mr. Lethert warned. Applications for numbers may be made on Form SS-5 or Form 3227, which may be obtained from your local Internal Revenue Service or Social Security offices.

"The important thing is that taxpayers file their 1963 returns on time", Mr. Lethert said. "It is to your interest to report your number; it guarantees proper credit of payments, expedites processing of the return, and avoids delays in the refund process."

Moose Population Up, Census Shows

277 Animals Counted in Red Lake District

The annual aerial winter moose census has been completed by the Minnesota Division of Game and Fish with the cooperation of the U.S. Forest Service, and again reports indicate a healthy and increasing moose herd.

A total of 828 moose were counted in 81 sample plots of 15 square miles each. The two sample areas consist of 6,100 square miles in the Superior National Forest in northeastern Minnesota and 2,700 square miles in the Red Lake area in the northwestern part of the state.

More than 1,000 moose were actually reported seen on the two sample areas in the course of the survey. This figure includes moose recorded on the selected plots as well as those observed by census takers while flying between the plots.

Results of four years of aerial censusing in the Red Lake area indicates a fairly stable moose population as shown by the following figures: 1960 - 238; 1961 - 241; 1962 - 243; and 1963 - 277.

According to Don Ledin, pilot for the state section of game, there is a marked depletion of moose habitat resulting from the encroachment of agricultural interests in Marshall, Roseau and Kittson counties.

He also stated that aerial observation reveals the Minnesota elk herd has increased to 23 animals from the 17 animals seen last year.

Prowler Grappler Wins State Title

The Prowlers' state wrestling tournament entrants—Myles Olson, Terry Nelson, and Joe Taylor—and their coaches, Al Shaff and Dale Folger, returned to the city on Sunday afternoon. And in an informal gathering at the City Auditorium, the group was given a warm welcome by friends and city and school officials.

Mayor Orin Green, in behalf of the city, extended a welcome to the group, and complimented Joe Taylor on winning the state 165-pound wrestling title. Supt. Marshall Hankerson, speaking for the school officials, paid tribute to the entire wrestling squad on its performances and records this season, and he, too, extended his personal congratulations to the state's 165-pound wrestling champion, Joe Taylor.

Taylor, in winning the state title, provided the Prowlers with 13 points in the team totals. Mankato edged out the pre-tournament favorite, Robbinsdale, to win the state team title, amassing a total of 44 points to edge out the Robbins by one point.

In his first-round match, against Dave Luhman of Howard Lake, Taylor scored an 8 to 0 decision win. In a quarter-finals match against Lyle Johnson of St. Peter, Taylor, in overtime, scored a 2 to 1 win. And in the semi-finals, against Dennis Sager of Glenwood, Taylor marked up a 2 to 0 win in overtime. In the finals, Taylor defeated Les Ochendorf of Canby, 3 to 1.

In the 95-pound class competition the Prowlers' Myles Olson dropped a first-round match to DuWayne Olson of Kasson, losing a 4 to 1 decision. And in the 154-pound class, Terry Olson of the Prowlers was decisioned by Paul Justin of Sauk Rapids, losing by a 7 to 1 score.

The Warren Ponies' capable 103-pound wrestler, Allen Schoenack, reached the semi-finals. In his first-round match, Schoenack decisioned John Stenback of Hopkins, 9 to 0; and in a quarter-finals match, the Warren wrestler pinned Mike Warlop of Redwood Falls. In a semi-finals match, Schoenack dropped a 9 to 2 decision to Bob Reudy of Hastings.

JOE Taylor won the Minnesota 165-lb. high school wrestling title on Saturday night when, in the finals of the weight division, he defeated Les Ochendorf of Canby. Joe moved through the sixteen-man 165-lb. division by scoring an 8 to 0 win over Dave Luhman in a first-round match. In the quarter-finals, Taylor edged out Lyle Johnson of St. Peter, 2 to 1; and in the semi-finals, in an overtime match, Joe bested Denny Sager of DRIVING into the lane for this jump shot, Mark Steen attempts to add two points in a losing effort for the Prowlers Friday night at Moorhead. Meeting Thief River Falls in the Concordia college fieldhouse, the Spuds took control of the game early and finished with a 74-61 victory. Mark Stromberg (53) watches the play for the Prowlers while the Moorhead players include Loren Knutson (44), Mark Molldrem (attempting to block shot) and Pete Hanson (22)

Another First

When Joe Taylor scored a 3 to 1 decision over Les Ochendorf of Canby in the finals of the 165-pound division in the state wrestling tournament at Mankato on Saturday night it marked the first time that a Region Eight wrestler had won a state title. And, of course, it marked the first time that a Prowler wrestler had won a state title.

Region Eight has had, the past several years, a number of boys who have reached the finals in their weight divisions, but until Joe's win on Saturday night, a state title had been elusive.

Congratulations are in order to the popular Joe Taylor, and to his coach Al Shaff. The Prowler coach explained that Joe, wrestling in what appeared to be the toughest bracket in the 165-pound class, was giving away poundage to every opponent. And in the finals, against Ochendorf, Taylor came in weighing 158 pounds. And this match was touch-and-go all the way, with the first two rounds being blanked, and it was in the final second of the third round that Taylor secured a reversal, and later was given "riding time". Ochendorf picked up a point by gaining a release.

City Bonspiel Finals

The ten-end championship finals for the city curling title for 1964 will be held at the Fair Grounds curling arena on Wednesday night at 7:00 p. m. And the two title-contending rinks will be the Skippy Knutson rink against the Ardell Liden rink.

The Skip Knutson rink—Knutson, skip, Ev Amundgard, third, Si Hanson, second, and Ray Oen, lead—defeated the Morris Roadfelt rink on Sunday afternoon to gain the finals. The Ardell Liden rink—Ardell Liden, skip, Duane Liden, third, Lyle Liden, second, and Olaf Jorde, lead—defeated the Reuben Jorde rink skipped by Larry Perkins to gain the finals.

In earlier matches on Sunday, the Roadfelt rink defeated the Ray Sorvig rink, and the Ardell Liden rink defeated the Don Liden foursome.

The championship finals had been slated for 8:00 p. m. on Sunday, but the above-freezing temperatures that prevailed caused the ice conditions to become heavy. It is hoped that a "cold" spell will improve the ice for Wednesday night's finals.

Needed: A Crystal Ball

Thirty-two basketball teams will begin play this week in high school district tournament competition, and a crystal ball, or a couple crystal balls, is needed to predict the four winners that will advance to next Region Eight tournament.

Three of the districts—30, 31, and 32—will begin play today, Monday, and the other, 29, will begin competition on Tuesday. By Saturday night the four district titleists will have been named, and these teams will advance to the Region Eight tournament at Grand Forks on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11. And the pairings for the Regional tourney should find District 29 playing District 31; and District 30 meeting District 32.

According to all pre-tournament predictions, coach Bun Fortier's Bemidji Lumberjacks will win the District 29 title, with Park Rapids and Littlefork mentioned as possible "dark horses". And in District 30 coach Dennis Anderson's Ada Vikings are the top-heavy favorites, and deservedly so. The Vikings have been rated to reach the Region Eight finals, and have considerable support to win the title.

In District 31, the Crookston Pirates have been instaled as the pre-tournament favorite, and coach Al Droen's club have been favored in the tournament pairings, being in the bracket that contains Alvarado, Climax and Warren. The defending champion Prowlers, with forward Ken Larson a doubtful starter because of a leg injury, are in the bracket with Fisher, East Grand Forks, and Goodridge. The Pirates should move into the finals quite handily. And there they will meet a team that has played a couple of tough games. The odds should favor Crookston.

And up in District 32, being played at Roseau, the title is "up for grabs', with the Stephen Tigers boasting an unbeaten record, being rated as the favorite. Coach Jerry Furuseth's Lake Bronson Braves, champions last season, have been playing eratic basketbal, but the Braves have the scoring potential to cause trouble in the district tourney. And, of course, I am in favor of the Middle River Skippers, and it would be fine if coach Jerry Snyder's Skippers would win the district

Moorhead Quint Takes Prowlers

Coach Shocky Strand's hustling Moorhead Spuds, racing away to a 19 to 6 lead in the first period and a 37 to 21 margin at the intermission, defeated the Prowlers in a scheduled-ending basketball game played on the Concordia college fieldhouse court at Moorhead on Friday night, winning by a 74 to 61 score. It was the tenth loss of the season for the Prowlers as they closed out pre-tournament play with a record of eight wins and ten losses.

The Prowlers will begin defense of their District 31 title this afternoon, Monday, when, at 4:00 p.m. they meet the Fisher Flyers in a tournament first-round game on th UND fieldhouse court at Grand Forks. Other district tournament first-round games will find East Grand Forks meeting the Goodridge Huskies at 5:30 p.m. Monday evening's schedule will have the Crookston Pirates meeting the Alvarado Indians at 7:30 p.m.; and the Climax Vikings playing the Warren Ponies at 9:00 p.m. The semi-finals are slated for Tuesday evening, with the district championship finals scheduled for Wednesday evening.

In Friday night's game at Moorhead, coach Strand's Spuds, with forwards Bert Kvamme and Paul Erickson racking up eight points apiece, sprinted into a 19 to 6 lead, and maintained control of the tempo of the game to roll up a decisive 74 to 61 win.

Only in the third period, with reserves Mike Benke and Gary Hagen sparking the attack, did the Prowlers outpoint the Spuds, gaining a 24 to 19 edge, and at one time paring the Moorhead lead to 11 points, 56 to 45. Late in the period, Bob Olson, the Prowler center, left the game on fouls, and from then on the Spuds, controlling the boards, pulled away from the ever-trying Prowlers.

Rick Jensen provided the Prowler fans with some encouragement when he erupted for four field goals and a pair of free throws in the fourth period. Jensen had a total of 13 points for the game to pace the Prowler scoring.

The Prowlers entered the game without the services of their high-scoring forward Ken Larson. Larson injured a leg during Monday's game with the Climax Vikings, and was unable to make the trip to Moorehead.

Warn Drivers of Peril of Carbon Monoxide

There is no way of telling how many lives are being endangered by carbon monoxide from automobile exhaust systems, says the safety division of the Minnesota highway department, which cites these facts on deaths by carbon monoxide, the creeping killer:

1. Each year more than 300 persons are victims of the poisonous gas. This number includes motorists who warm up their cars with garage doors closed, auto mechanics who repair cars in closed garages, and people who sit in parked cars and leave the motor on to keep the heater or air conditioner operating.

2. Somewhat less than 50 persons a year, as revealed by medical examiners' reports or autopsies, are victims of carbon monoxide while their car or truck is traveling down the highway.

Though statistics may show relatively few lives lost in moving motor vehicles, most safety men say the total number of deaths is not known. Carbon monoxide, the silent killer, causes more deaths than any other poison. It is colorless, tasteles, nonirritating and almost odorless. It can kill within minutes, depending on the concentration breathed into the lungs.

The symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning include: tightness across the forehead, followed or accompanied by throbbing in the temples, headache, weariness, dizziness, weakness, nausea, loss of muscular control and increased pulse and respiration.

If the concentration of carbon monoxide in the air is great enough the victim may fall unconscious without any warning signals.

How can you prevent carbon monoxide poisoning?

"Fresh air," says the safety division, "is the one sure way," adding the following suggestions:

1. Have your muffler or exhaust pipe checked frequently.
2. Before starting your car engine, open the garage doors wide.
3. Never drive with all the windows closed.
4. If you're sleepy on the road, the cause could be carbon monoxide. Stop at once, get out of the car and breathe fresh air deeply. Then drive with windows open.
5. Don't follow other cars too closely. Their exhaust contains carbon monoxide fumes which may enter your car.

Says Income Tax Cut May Not Help

Taxpayers Group Calls for Reduced Spending

Individual gains stemming from the forthcoming reduction in federal income tax rates "may be short-lived unless there are sharp cuts in federal spending," Charles P. Stone, General Counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, said today.

"The Conference took a realistic look at budget plans of the federal government, and came to the quite obvious conclusion that unless there is a slash of at least $3 billion in spending, inflation could quickly steal whatever gains are produced for individual taxpayers by the prospective reduction in income tax rates," Stone said.

"The President's announced intention to reduce government expenditures was applauded, but the consensus of the group, composed of executives of statewide taxpayer organizations of 38 states, was that these good intentions do not obscure the $10 billion budget deficit expected for the current fiscal year and $4.9 deficit predicted for fiscal 1965.

"The Conference by resolution called for a $5 billion reduction in government spending in fiscal 1965 to bring the budget into balance, substantial improvement in expenditure control procedures, and a systematic and continueing review of grant-in-aid programs to eliminate those that can no longer by justified."

MAIN STREET, U.S.A.

BY BERT MILLS

Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

On March 1, Lyndon B. Johnson will have been President for 100 days. Ever since Franklin D. Roosevelt erected the foundations for his New Deal programs during his first 100 days in the White House, that period has come to be accepted as the standard for rendering a preliminary judgement on a new President.

How has President Johnson fared in his first 100 days in office? The public opinion polls are unanimous in finding that most Americans approve of Johnson's conduct in office. Unquestionably if a national election were held today, the President would win against any opponent. However, the election is still more than eight months ahead and opinions can change drastically. Popularity is a fickle thing. The November election result is not a foregone conclusion. The campaign has not really begun.

Lyndon Johnson's first 100 days can be divided into three periods. Stage one began Nov. 22, 1963, when a shocked nation learned it had a new President. Nobody had given much thought to the possibility that the Vice President would become President. The tragic events practically took place in everybody's living room. For days few people could think of anything else.

Key Men Persuaded to Stay

President Johnson demonstrated a take-charge attitude from the beginning hours of his administration. His goal was to show that the U. S. government continued as a going concern despite the sudden loss of our national leader. His immediate task was to persuade key members of the Kennedy administration to stay on the job.

The famous arm-twisting technique, which LBJ has used for years to get results as Senate majority leader, was immediately in evidence. It took persuasion to prevent mass resignations of those closest to Kennedy, all shaken by the assassination.

President Johnson won his personnel struggle. There were no major defections during those crucial weeks. A few top men have left since but not until President Johnson was over the hump. Even the former President's brother and confidante, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, decided to remain in the cabinet.

During the official period of national mourning, President Johnson created an image of an active executive, not only carrying on the program he had inherited but making new plans. The initial impression of President Johnson, abroad as well as at home, was that an able successor was in office.

Stage one extended through the holiday period. Domestically the top story was government economy—a posture that at first seemed out of character for Johnson, who had been a New Deal spender. Bureaucrats who at first regarded all the economy talk as window dressing soon found out the President meant business. Tough new orders came from the White House.

Miracle of miracles, the Federal budget was actually cut instead of piercing the $100 billion ceiling. Some critics pointed to "gimmicks" in the budget but the President earned credit for doing a pruning job on government spending. Congress and the public were impressed.

Spur Put to Congress

Stage two began with the return of Congress in January. This was the same collection of legislators that had toiled in 1963, with so little result. Kennedy had proposed but in large part Congress had declined to act. Even housekeeping bills were delayed up to six months.

President Johnson went to work on Congress. His legislative program was largely a repetition of Kennedy proposals. Top priority items in the package were still the tax cut and civil rights. The difference was that Kennedy seldom pulled all the strings. The full story of Johnson's dealings with Congress is known only to White House insiders but results were apparent before long.

Weeks earlier than anybody had predicted, the tax bill moved on the Senate floor, with the administration's bill practically intact. Several key amendments looked like they would pass and put dents in the Johnson program. But each crisis was survived and wound up as a White House victory.

On the House side, the controversial civil rights bill was rammed through to passage without substantial change, and without the anticipated diehard Southern opposition. Congress was moving again.

There were some scars accumulated in stage two of the Johnson administration. The Republicans ended their moratorium on criticism and began firing at the President. There was the Bobby Baker scandal. There were troubles in Panama, Cuba, Vietnam, Cyprus and elsewhere.

The honeymoon with the press began to wane, although Johnson still enjoyed strong editorial support. Some Washington commentators began to snipe, and on at least two occasions, the President fired back with charges of irresponsible criticism.

Stage Three Just Beginning

The President for three months had managed to be all things to all men—a friend of labor and a friend of business, a Southerner and yet a strong civil rights advocate, an economizer and yet a champion of welfare programs.

This is the real test for Johnson. In stage three he has eight more months to hold his gains and prevent his standing from slipping. He faces a lengthy filibuster in the Senate on civil rights, during which other legislation will be stalled.

His proposal for double overtime pay has led to business charges of a sellout to union leaders. His legislative program appears impossibly massive for the shortened legislative session of 1964, and an election year Congress will be tempted to substitute spending for economy.

Johnson's "war on poverty" could encounter great difficulty in getting off the ground, at a time when results must be shown before November.

The Johnson image of action and success is threatened from all sides. Whatever the outcome, history will look back on the first 100 days of this new administration and accord Lyndon B. Johnson full marks for his beginning.

"Think of your own faults the first part of the night when you are awake, and of the faults of others the latter part of the night when you are asleep."
—Chinese Proverb

The following talk was presented by Kathy Breiland in the Pennington county 4-H radio speaking contest. It was judged as a second place winner after the first panel of judges ruled it tied for first place. Topic for the talk was, "What is my responsibility in bettering inter-racial and inter-religious understanding?"

"In these turbulent days of uncertainity the evils of war and of economic and racial injustice threaten the very survival of the human race." Indeed, we live in a day of grave crises." So writes Martin Luther King, Jr., in his book "Strength to Love". Almost two-hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson wrote in the Declaration of Independence, "All men are created equal and all men have the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Yet, today in this supposedly Christian nation, we have some children who are deprived of their lives, liberties and their pursuits of happiness. Why does this situation exist?

Racial and religious prejudices are not only un-Christian and un-American but are deadly weapons used by our enemies in their war against democracy. We are not born with prejudices, but as children we reflect the opinions, attitudes and actions of adults around us. Because of their acquired prejudices, we are taught to be prejudiced. As Lt. Cable says in "South Pacific" as he bemoans his own American family's racial prejudices against the native island girl, "We have to be carefully taught."

When we are children, our playmates are chosen for us. Parents have the responsibility of guiding their children's choice of good companions. But do they have the right to deny companionship because of race or religion? Few people have the "toughness of mind" to judge critically and to discard the false standards which are based on emotion.

Soft-mindedness is one of the basic causes of race prejudices. Our minds are constantly being invaded by legends of half truths, prejudices and false facts. The "toughminded" person always examines the facts before he reaches a conclusion. Race prejudices is based on groundless fears, suspicions and misunderstandings.

But "toughmindedness" without sympathy is coldness. We must therefore cultivate a tough, calculating mind and a soft, understanding heart. A sympathetic person is capable of love. Surely we must have love and compassion tempered by firmness of mind and clearness of purpose to see that justice is done. Rabbi Joshua Liebman emphasises in his book "Peace of Mind" that we must love others.

Each one of us must have feelings of responsibility to discover his mission in life. Every individual must be afraid of being a conformist merely to be one of the crowd. I think that we, as teenagers, find it easier to go along with the gang than to express ourselves as individuals. Shortsightedly, one of our popular expressions is "Everyone else is doing it! "But God gave us minds so that we could reason for ourselves, and this we should do.

What would our nation be like today if every citizen had been a follower in life's game of "follow the leader?" What if the Wright brothers had felt that man could never fly? What if great men of science had felt experiments with medicine were of no value? World civilization would have shown no progress nor change through the years. That is one reason we must learn to stand up for what we believe, no matter what others think of us.

The Christian attitude toward our neighbors of other races is a simple one and a well defined one. We believe that God created all men basically equal in His eyes. No man ranks a hair's breadth above or below another. Then shouldn't we as Christian people live our live as we say we believe by recognizing the equality of all members of every race, creed and color? Why must we always be included in the majority? Instead of following the crowd, can't we exercise understanding and love to all and express ourselves accordingly? Are we so afraid of social position that we dare not stand up for what we believe even if others scorn and ridicule us?

I believe that I as a young American must understand the racial and religious problems facing the citizens of our nation. As a Christian and as an American I must take a firm stand for what I believe. Jesus said in the twenty-second chapter of St. Matthew, verse thirty-nine, "Thou shalt love they neighbor as thyselves." We must have faith in our fellow man and in God to see us through our present national and world crises. There has been too much violence in our county already. There must be a peaceful way to settle racial and religious problems.

In the meantime, I can, as a small part of the Christian world, exercise love and understanding to my fellow creatures of any group—racial or religious. I must oppose all forms of discrimination in any area. This can be accomplished by an honest attempt on my part to understand the problems of the "other fellow".

Our world is changing faster than it ever has before. We must provide equal rights and opportunities for all people with mutual understanding and without regard to race, class or creed. Legislation cannot provide the answer to complex church, state, and racial issues, but Christian faith with responsibility placed on the shoulders of each individual can. Acceptance of all people is found in our hearts, not in law books.

America is a great nation: She has endured national and international emergencies. She has given to us the greatest civilization yet known to man. With God's help and with Christian guidance, faith, and love we shall have racial and religious understanding and resultant "peace in our time."

The Baker Scandal

Attempts to gain information by the Senate Rules Committee in Washington, which is studying the apparently illicit actions of Bobby Baker, have been thwarted by a provision of the law. Baker and his former beauty queen secretary have refused to answer questions which they say "may tend to incriminate" them or which were "an unjustified encroachment" upon rights of privacy.

It must generally be conceded that refusal to answer questions is the same as admitting guilt. Persons not afraid of the truth should be willing to tell it. Baker and his secretary are undoubtedly afraid of the truth—as are probably others who have not yet been implicated in the wrongful dealings but are none-the-less involved.

The Fifth amendment is one of the 10 amendments to the Constitution known as the Bill of Rights. Among other things, it guarantees "....nor shall any person....be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself...." Since our society believes a person is innocent until proved guilty, the Fifth amendment is a proper right of the individual It does; however, make litigation much more difficult and time consuming.

The Baker case is not a great deal different, it begins to appear, than the recent Profumo scandal in England. Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, accumulated assets of approximately $2 million during that time—an amount investigators feel is beyond the realm of possibility in legitimate business at his limited salary.

It will be most interesting to see what the committee turns up as it continues its investigation, and who becomes involved in the various facets of the scandal.

Taconite Dilemma

Minnesotans will voice their opinion November 3 on the controversial taconite amendment. This amendment to the state constitution would permit the taconite industry to operate for 25 years at a tax rate which "....shall not exceed the greater of (a) the amount computed under 1963 law or (b) the amount which would be payable under laws as such laws may be amended from time to time."

In other words, the taconite industry may be taxed as it is presently or, in the event that the Legislature determines in the future that the corporate income tax would yield more money, it could require taconite companies to pay the higher of the two taxes.

Cries of anguish from the Minnesota iron range have finally been heard and a number of other voices have joined in the appeal for help. We think that the amendment will pass, and can see no real reason why it shouldn't pass. Business firms dealing in taconite processing have stated that passage of the amendment would be a boom to the state's economy, and we have no doubts that this would be true.

Addressing the Minnesota Newspaper association noon luncheon last week, John J. Dwyer, vice president of Oglebay, Norton company, had some interesting information on iron ore and taconite. A few of his comments on the picture include the following:

> "For more than 60 years, the iron ore market in this nation was dominated by the iron mining industry of Minnesota, together with that of Michigan and Wisconsin. Between 1884 and 1962, over 2½ billion tons of iron ore had been shipped from Minnesota....and the mining companies in Minnesota had paid nearly $1,350,000,000 in taxes. There have been a few intervening good years since 1952, but generally the trend has been downward and it is certainly going to continue downward insofar as natural ores are concerned.
> "There is no doubt about it—the ore industry has been involved in a revolution during the last 10 years - one that has been brought about by economic conditions and developments throughout the entire world. Two of the biggest forces have been the development of vast foreign supplies of rich ore and the impressive performance of pellets.
> "In 1950 the world iron ore production amounted to 202 million tons and 98 million tons of this was produced in the United States...Minnesota produced more than 65 million tons....more than two-thirds of the American production.
> "Look at a radically different picture in 1961. World production has risen to 513 million tons....with Minnesota's output dropped to about 45 million tons.... while world production during the last decade has risen dramatically, notably in Russia, Africa, China, Western Europe and Latin America, production here in the United States was drastically reduced.
> "Since 1945 the United States proportion of the world steel production has dropped from 46 per cent to 25 per cent. In the same period, the United States proportion of the world's steel market has dropped from 17 per cent to six per cent. More than five million tons of foreign steel were imported into our own country in 1963—and some of it was imported right here in Minnesota through the port of Duluth."

What Dwyer is saying is that the United States is not meeting its competition and that taconite processing could be a real solution to the problem. The amendment would be a big step for Minnesota in regaining lost ground.

Girl Scout Week Will Be Observed Here March 8-14

Brownie Scouts Plan Festival of Nations Program

Girl Scout Week will be observed in Thief River Falls March 8-14 when more than 4,600 members of the Pine to Prairie Girl Scout council join in the annual national observance. More than 350 girls in the Thief River Falls neighborhood will be among more than 3½ million Girl Scouts in the nation participating in the event.

The week is launched on Sunday as each scout is expected to attend her church in uniform, either with her parents or her own troop.

Among events planned for the observance is a "Festival of Nations" program to be presented by five Thief River Falls Brownie troops at 2 p.m. Saturday at the city auditorium. Parents and friends of the Brownies have been invited to attend.

Actual birthday anniversary of the Girl Scout movement is March 12, the day of the first meeting of the first Girl Scout troop in the United States. "Girl Scouting—A Promise in Action" is the theme for the 52nd annual event.

Gordon Caldis, former Thief River Falls resident and president of the Pine to Prairie Girl Scout council, said, "The interest and support of parents in their children's activities is what makes Girl Scouting grow in a community so that more girls may be served."

Girl Scouts depend on a volunteer organization which needs the support of interested adults, both in terms of money and of time given, as leaders or other workers in the program.

In an official proclamation issued this week, Mayor Orin Green yas proclaimed Girl Scout Week in Thief River Falls. The proclamation notes that "....the people of Thief River Falls are aware of the important contribution to community welfare being made by Girl Scout volunteers through their work with the youth of the nation."

It further calls upon all citizens of the community "....to give the Girl Scouts now and in the coming year their continued interest, cooperation and support so that increasing number of girls may benefit from the splendid program of training in citizenship which the Girl Schout organization offers."

On March 27, Girl Scout troop 87 will begin a bazhar and bake sale in the Minneapolis Tribune building at 124 Horace av. N. The sale will continue on March 28 with items to be sold including Easter baskets, Easter candles, centerpieces, jellies and baked goods stationery, aprons and other needlecraft items made by Girl Scouts and their mothers.

Feed Grain Plan Signup under Way

Signing Will Continue Thru Friday, March 27

The signup for the 1964 feed grain program is progressing at a rapid pace, reports A. E. Strandquist, manager of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

He noted that the signup which began February 10 and runs through March 27 appears to be attracting many of the county's feed grain producers.

Strandquist said that the program is basically the same as last year, but that there are two improvements for 1964 that are worth noting. These are:

Number one — a feed grain farmer may divert as much as 50 per cent of his feed grain base acreage, while last year it was 40 per cent.

Number two — each acre diverted will be at the highest rate when a producer diverts to conservation 40 per cent or more of his feed grain base.

Strandquist said that applications for farmers of the county desiring to take part in the program may be filed in the county office. Office hours Monday through Friday are 8 a. m. to 12 noon and 12:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Paul Stelmaschuk Is Forum Speaker At Winter Shows

Reviews Development of RAD Program, Discusses Preparation and Content

Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent, appeared as a speaker at the Town-Country Church Forum during the Red River Valley Winter shows. His topic was "RAD Pennington County". Stelmaschuk reviewed the development and organization of RAD in Pennington county and discussed the preparation and content of the OESDP (Overall Economic and Social Development Plan).

The OESDP is a summary of natural and human resources in the county and can be used by all individuals, firms and organizations who are interested in private or community development.

RAD is a grass roots program where individuals in the community must initiate action. There is no program or project handed to he area by some higher level of government.

Study of the resources by committees and an informed citizenry is the biggest benefit derived from RAD work in any area. Project development may result. Pennington county residents have been involved in exploring the following projects: truck stop, alfalfa dehydration, tourist brochure, specialty crop production, park for the county, further turkey processing, junion college and county fair improvements. Some of these projects are nearing completion. Others need much more work to be realized.

Other speakers appearing on the Town-Country Church Forum were Dr. George Donohue, University of Minnesota and Dr. E. W. Mueller, head of the town-country department, National Lutheran Council, Chicago.

Donohue pointed out the great changes in the rural communities of America and the need for consolidation in churches and schools because of shrinking numbers of people in rural areas.

Dr. Mueller pointed out that although data in OESDP's is essential to decision-making, values of people are also important. Emotional attachment to beliefs, insecurity in new concepts, loyalties to tradition and other values people have may inhibit making adjustments as well as the lack of information.

Crookston Meeting

Supports Junior College for TRF

At a meeting in Crookston on Friday of the Northwest Educational Improvement association, which is seeking conversion of Northwest School into a two-year college level technical institution, the group adopted resolutions recommending that the institute should not duplicate the services rendered by the Thief River Falls area vocational school, and recommending further that the junior college proposed for Northwestern Minnesota be located at Thief River Falls.

Tom Hagen, President of NWEIA told the audience the time has come where we must all join hands in support of higher educational facilities for Northwestern Minnesota. He presented the following resolution, which was ratified and accepted by the members at the meeting:

Be it resolved:

1. That the Crookston Branch of the University of Minnesota be established by the University of Minnesota and the state legislature as a college level technical institute by 1965.

2. That the work of this technical school be of such level that college credits shall be granted and courses shall not duplicate the work of the area vocational school at Thief River Falls.

3. That the junior college proposed by the state legislature for Northwestern Minnesota be located at Thief River Falls.

And, be it further resolved, that we as an organization pledge ourselves to engage in activities which will result in the successful implementation of the above resolution.

No Multi-County Library Will Be Formed As Result

Hopes for establishing a multi-county library on a trial basis in Pennington, Marshall, Roseau and Kittson counties died Tuesday as a result of action by the Marshall county board of commissioners. The Marshall county board rejected the proposal by a 5-0 vote at its regular monthly session.

Pennington county commissioners approved the plan on a 3-2 decision in February. Roseau county commissioners meeting February 26, tabled the subject pending the Marshall county decision, according to Richard Bergan, Roseau county auditor. A. P. Lofgren, Kittson county auditor, told the Times this morning that the Kittson county board had not voted on the question at its regular meeting Monday, also awaiting Marshall county decision.

The library division of the Minnesota Department of Education has offered to establish a multi-county library with bookmobile service to communities on a free trial basis. The program was to be in effect from one to two years, providing at least one full year of bookmobile service. This was to be done at state expense, without cost to the four counties, providing the county boards requested such service and agreed to consider continuing the program at the end of the trial peroid.

Kittson and Roseau counties, by delaying their vote on the question, will not be compelled to commit themselves now that the question has failed. Law provides that all counties in a multi-county system must be adjoining. Thief River Falls is the only community with a library which could serve as headquarters for the multi-county unit, and Pennington county is separated from Roseau and Kittson by Marshall county land.

About 20 people appeared at the Marshall county board meeting on Tuesday and expressed favor for the program, according to Charles Cheney, Marshall county auditor. A number of telephone calls expressing oppsition to the plan were also received, the auditor noted.

Thief River Falls city council had previously allocated $5,000 for improvement of the basement in Carnegie Public Library to provide facilities for multi-county library headquarters if the program was approved. As a result of the Marshall county rejection, it is likely that this improvement will not be made.

Pre-School Check Scheduled Mar. 14

Parents are reminded of the pre-school roundup which will be held Saturday, March 14, at the Washington school gymnasium from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. under the sponsorship of the local PTA groups.

All children who are five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1964, and who will be entering kindergarten in the fall, are invited to attend. All rural kindergarteners and children who will begin school for the first time this fall must attend the roundup.

Invitations have been mailed. New residents together with rural residents and others in the community who may not receive an invitation are urged to attend the roundup anyway.

Children unable to attend or those not receiving invitations are asked to call Mrs. Merle Lindberg at 681-1536 or Mrs. Margaret Race at 681-1336.

The child's birth certificate must be presented at the roundup if possible. This can be obtained at the clerk of court's office in the county where the child was born. A hospital birth certificate will not be accepted.

It has been requested that parents come to the roundup prepared to give information as to when their children have had their shots and other health information.

Requests for ACP Cost-Share Now Being Accepted

Culkins Reminds Farmers To Apply Early As Funds For 1964 Are Limited

Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the Pennington County ASCS committee, announced today that requests for federal cost-shares under the 1964 ACP program are now being accepted at the county ASCS office. He said that requests for spring practices would be accepted through April 3, 1964.

Culkins stated further that 1964 funds are limited, which undoubtedly will mean that all requests cannot be fully honored, especially late-filed requests. Therefore he urged all producers who intend to carry out any new seeding practices this spring to file their requests at their very earliest convenience.

Inasmuch as administrative funds have been drastically reduced for 1964 and has the effect of limiting clerical assistance in the office, it would be greatly appreciated if producers who intend to request cost-shares for ditching would contact the county office in the afternoons, he added. The entire office force will be available to assist producers during that period of the day.

Persons who have received no information may assume that the chest x-ray did not show possibility of tuberculosis, Mrs. Race has been advised by a representative of the association. Those who had questionable x-ray films have already been notified.

Varying Increases to Average about 13 Pct.

Parcel Post rates will go up April 1, the Postoffice Department announced last week.

Average increase in the fourth class rates will be about 13 per cent.

Increases will vary widely according to the weight of the parcel and the distance it is being mailed.

The heaviest increase will be for light packages, and the shorter the distance sent, the greater the percentage increase.

For example, the average increase for a 2-pound package will be 16.3 per cent, while the 70-pound maximum weight will bear no increase.

Postage on a 2-pound package delivered locally will cost 21 per cent more than it costs today.

For delivery of the same package to Zone 8 (the most distant zone), postage costs will rise 13 per cent.

Beverly J. Engelsrud Is Bride of Leslie O. Folden

Miss Beverly Jean Engelsrud of Newfolden recently became the bride of Leslie O. Folden also of that community, at Bethania Free Lutheran church there. The groom's uncle, Rev. Arnold Folden, officiated at the double-ring service in the presence of about 100 friends and relatives. Red and white carnations with greenery, and red and white poinsettias decorated the church. Pianist Bonnie Hodik of Newfolden played traditional nuptial music, while soloist Kathryn Moen of Cambridge sang, "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer".

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Conrad C. Engelsrud and Mr. and Mrs. Bergman E. Folden, all of Newfolden.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of lace over satin, with scalloped sequin-accented neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was topped with a crown of seed pearls, and her bouquet was a cascade of white roses surrounded with red and white carnations and greenery.

Maid of honor was Sandra J. Brekkestrand, and bridesmaids were Beverly A. Pederson and Doreen A. Amundson, all of Newfolden. Red velveteen dresses were worn by two of the attendants, while the third wore a dress of green velveteen, in street length. Their accessories were white, and their fan-shaped bouquets were composed of a white rose amid red and white carnations, with green accents.

Flower girl Debra Windahl, Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, wore a dress like that of the bride. Junior groomsman was Paul Folden of Wahpeton, N. D., nephew of the groom.

Best man Donovan B. Folden of Wahpeton, attended his brother, and the groomsmen were Donald A. Engelsrud, brother of the bride, and Rolland P. Amundson, who, like ushers Eugene A. Folden, brother of the groom, and James A. Engelsrud, cousin of the bride, were also of Newfolden.

Mrs. Engelsrud wore a three-piece sheath dress of brown and beige, with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a deep green sheath dress, also with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white roses and carnations. The bride's grandmother and godmother also wore corsages.

The reception, given by the bride's parents in the church parlors, was attended by 100 guests. Attending from out of town were guests from Thief River Falls, Karlstad, Cambridge, Minn. and Wahpeton, N. D.

Dallas, Tex., was the site chosen for the honeymoon of the couple. Upon their return they made Newfolden their at-home address. The groom is a farmer near there, and his bride is employed in the Marshall County State bank in Newfolden. Both are graduates of the Newfolden Community high school.

Winter Shows Had 31,582 Attendance

A total of 31,582 persons attended the nine day run of the 54th annual Red River Valley Winter Shows held at Crookston, February 22 to March 1. This figure compared with 30,941 during the 1963 Shows. Show officials indicated they were well pleased with this figure, especially when considering the two days of blizzards which somewhat plagued the event.

The general show of agricultural exhibits consisting of livestock, grain, machinery, commercial booths, etc. and the seminars and educational meetings dominated the first six days activities at the Shows.

Following a well maneuvered change-over at the close of the sixth day, the arena and barns were completely transformed into a horse show headquarters. Entries from a number of states were shown and acceptance of the general public to the performance of the horse shows was quite enthusiastic.

Show dates for the exposition next year have been set for February 20 through 28, 1965.

Prowlers Win 1st Round vs. Fisher

Defending champion Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Crookston and Climax scored first-round wins in District 31 basketball tournament play at Grand Forks on Monday. The Prowlers, with a 22-point fourth period, defeated the Fisher Flyers, 63 to 45; East Grand Forks, after trailing the Goodridge team at the end of first period, second period, and third period, came on with a strong rally in the fourth period to defeat the Huskies, 74 to 64.

In the evening play, the Crookston Pirates, rated the district's number one team, scored a 20-point win over Alvarado, 81 to 61; and the Climax Vikings, breaking deadlocked score at the halftime, turned in a strong second half to defeat the Warren Ponies, 78 to 58.

The Fisher Flyers proved stubborn competition for coach Jack Junker's Prowlers in the tourney opener, and it was not until the fourth period that the blue-and-gold pulled away from coach Norm Wagner's team.

The Prowlers, with Rick Nelson scoring seven points, held an 18 to 8 lead at the end of the first period of play, but the Flyers, with forward Tom Bentrup looping in three field goals and four free throws, pared that lead to three points, 27 to 24, at the half.

The Prowlers, with Mark Anderson hitting from the outside, outpointed the Flyers, 14 to 11, in the third period to enter the final quarter holding a 41 to 35 lead.

A free throw by Rich Bentrup and a field goal by Wallace Radl sliced the Prowler lead to 41 to 38 in the opening minute of the fourth period. But six field goals by the Prowlers—three by Ken Larson, a pair by Bob Olson, and a single by Anderson—without an answer from the Flyers, gave the Prowlers a commanding 53 to 38 lead, and the Prowlers maintained control of the game to score a well-deserved 63 to 45 win.

Roseau Lions Set Fishing Derby for Sunday, March 8

Roseau Lions have scheduled their 8th annual student loan fund fishing derby March 8 from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. on the ice of Lake of the Woods near Springsteele Island. The action-packed derby, which has drawn over 2,500 in past years, will feature prizes ranging from a Sno-Traveler and a television set to an outboard motor and a wide variety of other awards. Proceeds from the Sunday afternoon enterprise will go to support a student loan program now in its seventh year, Lion officials said.

Most direct route to the derby area is on Highway 313 a mile west of Warroad and 21 miles east of Roseau, direct to the island. Signs will be posted to mark the route clearly.

A large tent and dining hall will center the fishing area and hot meals, coffee, candy and other refreshments will be available.

Lions emphasize that minnows will be available at the derby site as will both resident and out-of-state fishing licenses.

TRF Faces Crookston in District 31 Finals

It will be the defending champion Prowlers against the challenging Crookston Pirates in the championship finals of the District 31 basketball tournament at Grand Forks tonight, Wednesday.

The Prowlers, holding off a rallying East Grand Forks team, defeated coach Larry Selk's Green Wave, 53 to 48, in a semi-finals game on Tuesday night. And coach Al Droen's Crookston team, gaining a 30-point lead in the first half of play, easily defeated the Climax Vikings, 49 to 31.

The championship finals between the Prowlers and the Pirates is scheduled to tip-off at 9:00 p. m. A consolation game, between Climax and East Grand Forks, will be played at 7:30 p. m.

In the Prowlers vs. East Grand Forks game on Tuesday night, coach Jack Junker's club, after being held to a 14-all score at the end of the first period, outpointed the Green Wave, 12 to 3, in the second period to gain a 26 to 17 lead at the intermission. During this second period scoring drive, Ken Larson, with three field goals, and Mark Anderson, with a pair of field goals, paced the Prowler offense. And it was not until late in the period, with 1:22 to play, that the Green Wave tallied a point, and this came on Kim Krostue's free throw. Rich Hangsleben, who was exceptional on his corner shooting, notched an East Side field goal late in the period. And just before the buzzer, Gary Hagen scored a two-pointer for the Prowlers.

The Prowlers maintained their point-advantage over the Green Wave, and held a seven-point lead, 42 to 35, entering the fourth period. Rick Black opened with a free throw for the East Siders; Mark Anderson drove through for a Prowler lay-up, and the locals held an 8-point lead. But a goal by Krostue, a pair of free throws by Hangsleben; a field goal by Gerry Olson; and a field goal, on a rebound, by Black, and the score was in a 44-all knot with 5:30 to play.

Anderson hoisted in a long shot, and Rick Jensen followed with a free-throw point. Larson, who tallied 19 points during the game, notched a free-throw and the Prowlers held a 48 to 44 lead with 3:30 to play. Krostue, a freshman, hit for the Green Wave, and the lead was sliced to two points. Rick Nelson, with 1:05 to play, looped in a jump shot from the lane; and when Bob Olson made a free-throw point, the Prowlers held a 51 to 46 lead with less than a minute to play. Gerry Olson, with 29 seconds to play, scored two points on free throws, and the East Siders were within a three-point play of knotting the score. With 15 seconds to play, Jensen was given a free throw, and when Olson recovered the missed free-throw try and shoved in a field goal, the Prowlers had their game "insurance".

The game, which found both teams employing zone defenses, was a comparatively low-scoring tilt, and it was enlivened by the point-scoring duel between the Prowlers' Ken Larson and the East Siders' Rich Hangsleben, with the hard-working Prowler forward gaining a one-point edge, 19 to 18.

Trying for Number Twenty

Since the basketball Prowlers won their first district title, back in 1916, the local school has won nineteen district basketball championships. Coach Jack Junker's 1964 Prowlers will be trying for number twenty on Wednesday night when they meet the Crookston Pirates in the finals of the District 31 tourney at Grand Forks.

The first district basketball title, and gained when the locals edged out Fosston, 11 to 9, was won by a seven-man squad. The Prowlers that season were coached by Albert Johnson, and the starting lineup had captain Roy Brown at left forward, Willis Fasel at right forward, Coleman Linde at center, Al Holzknecht at right guard, and Harold Schmitt at left guard. The reserves were Carl Hovie and Chuck Conner. In their state tournament game, the Prowlers dropped a 27 to 25 decision to Fergus Falls.

And it was not until 1925, when coach Leonard (Lars) Thune came here, that the Prowlers again won a district title. Since that time the locals have won the district title with pleasing regularity. Whether or not tonight's game will be pleasant remains to be seen. Coach Al Droen's Crookston club, with an aggressive zone defense, and a strong rebounder in Bill Reitmeier, will enter the game a slight favorite. And they will have the advantage, perhaps, of having had a pair of "easier" games than the Prowlers.

It is probable that the district pairings, and the tournament setup, is as fair as it is possible to arrange, but it does seem that the sub-district teams to have a grievance. For instance, the Goodridge Huskies won the sub-district title, and they were paired against East Grand Forks, the district's number three team; and the Fisher Flyers, sub-district runners-up, were paired against Thief River Falls, the district's number two team. The subdistrict tournament winner should at least be paired against the district's number four team, but I don't know how this can be arranged. I would like to have seen coach Glen Peters' Goodridge Huskies in another district tourney game; they lost a tough one to East Grand Forks in the first round.

Is It Deductible?

Gladys and Orvis Olen, and Bea and Russ Embury participated in a fishing derby in Ontario this past weekend, and the story I heard bears repeating.

During the afternoon's fishing, Gladys made a catch of a perch, and it was a good-sized Lake of the Woods perch. She tossed the perch into a snowbank. A few moments later a pair of young boys came along, and they asked Gladys whose the fishing luck had been. She told them she had caught a perch, and if they wished they could have the fish, which was wiggling in the snowbank. The boys happily took the perch.

It was some time later that these two boys came back, and they told Gladys that they had registered the perch, and in their name, and that the perch, being largest of that species caught, had won twenty-five dollars for the boys. Gladys nearly fell through the ice And now she wonders whether or not she can deduct that twenty five dollars as a donation to charity!

And speaking of fish and fishing, Grundy Aakhus showed me a picture, and a clipping taken from the McAllen, Texas, Chronicle, telling of the fishing exploits of Grundy's brother, Dan Aakhus of Winger. Dan spends the winter months along the Gulf, and on a fishing trip to Padre Island, off the Texas coast, he caught a 70 pound jewfish. According to the news item, the fish provided fish dinners for 92 people!

Miscellany

Is this a local bowling endurance record? Marv Washnesky, on Sunday afternoon and evening, bowled twenty-nine games on alleys one and two at the Family Bowl lanes. He started bowling at 2:00 p. m. as a member of the Family Bowl lanes team in a match against Roseau, and following that match, which was won by the locals quite handily, Marv continued in informal competition against Dean Anderson, Red Thyren, Junior Harbott, Helmer Skomedal, and others, and did not finish until midnight. . . And did you notice the Friday night City league standings? The Western Oil and Fuel team finally caught, and passed, the Hamm's Beer team. The Hamm's had been leading the league all season until a couple of weekse ago, when in a team-to team match, the Western Oil swept an eight-point two match series. . . For those sports fans who do not make the trip to Grand Forks for tonight's basketball finals, I'll recommend that they drive out to the Fair Grounds curling arena and witness the city championship match between the Ardell Liden and Skippy Knutson rinks. The match will start at 7:00 p. m. . . . Jon Larson returned on Monday from St. Paul where, along with Bob Ekeren, Mark Larson, and Karl Ekstrand, he participated in the St. Paul International bonspiel. Larson's rink reached the finals of the third event, where they were edged out by the Jerry Duguid rink of Winnipeg.

DRIVING the lane for a two-pointer is Kenny Larson of the Prowlers in this first half action of the opening game in District 31 basketball tournament play. Defensive effort by Tom Bentrup (44) of the Fisher Flyers was futile on this play. The Prowlers gained entry into the semi-finals with a 63-45 win. Larson, a doubtful starter because of a leg injury, led the Prowlers with 16 points while Bentrup took high honors for the game with 22.

Sick Children Favor Special Meal Plans

How can you interest a sick child in eating at mealtime? When a child is home from school for a few days with a cold or some childhood disease, getting him to eat can be a real problem for the mother unless she takes the situation as a challenge.

Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent, says the mother who serves an attractive and interesting meal tray to the child, with palatable, satisfying foods can go a long way toward solving the problem.

Color and texture of the food may mean the difference between a child's deciding to eat all of his food or none of it, Miss Offerdahl says. Texture variation is important for both children and adults. But no child enjoys lumpy, gummy or tough-fibered food.

Because time is usually at a premium, the mother should try to make the food on the sick child's tray similar to the menu for the family. Modifications may be necessary, but the basic preparation and ingredients could by the same. Here are ome further suggestions from Miss Offerdahl:

Invest in a lightweight tray of a convenient size that can be used for eating in bed.

Have a setting of attractive plastic dishes that you save for bouts of illness, or you might use colorful paper plates and cups.

For an illness with a digestive upset that has subsided, serve bland, light foods such as milk, white toast, crackers, fruit juices, plain puddings, gelatin desserts, bland cereals, white potatoes, soft cooked or poached eggs and cream soups. Later, add plain cooked fruits, cooked vegetables, cheese and meats that are not fried.

For a child in bed with a cold, provide plenty of liquids in different ways—milk and milk drinks such as malts, shakes, eggnogs, chocolate-flavored milk, tomato juice, fruit juices or a fruit nog made by blending fruit juice with an egg.

Serve small meals and plan the remainder of the food requirements as snacks between meals to make the time pass more quickly. Snacks could include milk drinks or fruit juice with a cookie or cracker, a pudding or fruited gelatin dessert saved from the meal tray, frosted or sugar-coated cereal eaten dry. But be sure snacks don't destroy the appetite for the next meal.

Serve milk in a small pitcher so the child can serve himself. Serve a straw with milk, juice or water.

Try to provide a tray favor, no matter how small. A few flowers from the garden, a cut-out from one of the punch-out type books on the market, a stick man or animal made from a pipe cleaner, a frilly nut cup for nibbled food or a flat cookie with the child's name on it.

MOVED from the village of Holt last week was the above building which formerly housed the Holt Mercantile. The bottom half of the building was torn down to permit moving of the second story to the Gerald Brinkman farm near Greenbush. The store was built in 1910 by the late Tony and Arvid Carlson. In 1947 the business was sold to Raymond and Louis Sagstuen and operated as the Holt Mercantile. Bill Davis bought the business in 1959, later selling the stock and fixtures to Rendahl Sannes who moved them into the Bennes Cafe.

Careful Selection Means Better Sweater

There's more to buying a sweater than the look and the feel. Your new mohair may be ruined in one washing, or it may serve several years if you're a smart shopper, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl Pennington county agent. She passes on some tips on sweater shopping.

Look first for the style and color most flattering to you. This is a good starting point, but don't stop here. Your sweater must also be suited to the activities for which you'll wear it.

Check the labels for fiber content and hang tags for care instructions. Orlon and textured nylon require the least work in laundering because they dry quickly, resist shrinking and retain shape well. These fibers can be machine washed and machine dried without blocking.

Workmanship is an important guide to quality. The finest and most expensive sweaters are full-fashioned throughout. This means that each piece—front, back and sleeves—is knit to the shape of the body. As a result, the whole sweater holds its shape better than those made by any other method. You can recognize a full-fashioned sweater by the little "fashioning marks around armholes and sleeves made by increasing and decreasing the number of stitches.

In cut-and-sewn sweaters, pieces are cut from flat yardage and sewn together. Quality varies greatly. Though many cut-and-sewn sweaters are good buys, the least expensive sweaters are usually made by this method. Unless cutting is done along lengthwise ribs and crosswise rows, your sweater will twist and sag out of shape. Check fronts, sides and sleeves to make certain the sweater was cut straight.

Inspect the knit. Loosely knit bulky sweaters are soft but tend to pill or form little balls on the surface. Closely knit sweaters don't pill so readily but aren't as soft. You'll have to decide whether bulky look or long wear is more important to you.

Ribbing at the neck, cuffs and lower edge should be firmly knit to withstand stretching and spring back to shape. Look to see that seams are closely sewn together to reduce bulkiness and prevent raveling. Buttonholes of cardigans should be firm and cut straight with the knit. Watch out for tight facings that will shrink and pucker your sweater.

Always try a sweater on before buying. If you'll wear it layered over a blouse or another sweater, be sure to try it with that type of clothing underneath.

ASC Asks Keeping Reserve Lands in Vegetative Cover

Makes Plea to Those with Conservation Reserve Contracts Ending In '63

Farmers who have acreage on which the Conservation Reserve contract expired at the end of 1963 are being encouraged to keep such land in vegetative cover, Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee said today. He pointed out that cost-sharing assistance for such a purpose is avilable through several practices included in the Agricultural Conservation Program for this year.

Mr. Dahl mentioned three ACP practices which would be particularly appropriate for widespread us on farms with formerly "retired" acreage. One practice provides assistance for the establishment of grasses and legumes for protection against wind or water erosion. A second available practice provides assistance for the treatment of mineral deficiencies of farmland so as to permit the use of legumes (other than vegetable or truck crops) or perennial grasses for soil improvement and protection.

The third especially appropriate practice provides assistance for improving the already established stands of grasses and legumes in order to provide adequate soil or watershed protection. Some of these areas might be converted to new tree plantings or to wildlife conservation areas. If it is necessary to use some of that acreage for cropland production, ACP may help establish a soil-saving strip-cropping or terrace system on it.

Chairman Dahl stressed the importance of keeping formerly retired acreage out of row and grain crop production, and said that maintaining that acreage in vegetative cover would be a valuable addition to such efforts as the 1964 feed grain program which seek to reduce the burdensome supplies of these commodities.

Nationaly, the acreage on which Conservation Reserve contracts expired at the end of 1963 totals approximately 6.7 million acres, and an additional 700,000 acres were covered under 1963 one-year renewal agreements which expired at the same time.

"When it shall be said in any country in the world, 'My poor are happy; neither ignorance nor distress is to be found among them; my jails are empty of prisoners, my streets of beggars; the aged are not in want, the taxes are not oppressive; the rational world is my friend, because I am a friend of its happiness'—when these things can be said, then may that country boast of its constitution and government." —Thomas Paine

Growing Pains

Interest in the problems of teenagers in the past few years has been intensified by educators and parents alike. Problems are not a great deal unlike those which have existed before, but they have been compounded and made more complex by our present-day society. Dr. Irvamae Applegate, president of the Minnesota Education association, has interesting comment on the situation. Her appraisal is as follows:

"Kids are a bother, particularly when they reach adolescence. When they're home they're mostly on the telephone. A good part of the time they're not home, and the late hours they keep keeps parents awake.

"It can't be controlled, because 'all the kids are doing it'. The clothes—and particularly the girls' hairdos—are a fright, but 'that's the way all the kids dress'. It's easier to let it go than to argue.

"Some parents worry and wonder what, if anything, they can do. Some parents find it convenient to have their offspring past the baby sitter stage and on their own.

"Today's teenagors, puzzling though it might be to many adults, are basically little different from the last generation of teenagers—who were a puzzle to the adults who helped them grow up. The big difference today is in the adults, who find it difficult to resist the demands of teenagers and say 'no.'

"Some parents feel that five dollars a month (or whatever the price of a private phone) is a small investment for peace in the family. The possibility that maybe what the daughter needs more than her own telephone is a lesson in sharing is never considered.

"Permitting one's offspring to behave in ways disturbing to the parents because 'everyone is doing it' or 'everyone has one' is, in fact, turning over to the teenage group the decision-making for what kind of a son or daughter one is to have. There is room—and necessity—for teenagers to conform to certain standards set by the crowd, but parents ought to decide the point at which these standards are not acceptable.

"Perhaps adults who are responsible for guiding young people toward adulthood have assumed there is greater maturity on the part of a youth than they really have. The sixteen-year-old, six-footer, is still a sixteen-year-old who needs guidance and, at times, a firm hand. Resistance to authority is a natural part of growing up. In order to develop respect for authority and to establish acceptable patterns of behavior, the young person needs practice in reacting to authority. But many adults fail to provide this authority, and the young person goes his way until he comes into conflict with the law or similar agency, when it is too late for practice and learning.

"Some parents are pushing their children into adulthood without providing a foundation of experience in dealing with situations calling for maturity.

"Havighurst, a well-known psychologist, has developed the concept of 'developmental tasks'. At each stage of an individual's development there are certain 'tasks' to be mastered in the areas of physical, social, emotional and intellectual development. If these tasks are not mastered when they should be, the individual will be handicapped. These tasks are sequential, i. e., if a particular task is not mastered when it should be, the individual cannot go on to the next stage in his development.

In the area of physical development, the child must walk before he can run. If illness or some other condition prevents his learning to walk until age eight, the individual will be most unlikely to ever have the skill in running and jumping that he would have had, had he learned to walk when he should have.

"Comparable development occurs in the area of emotional growth. The individual must progress from being dependent on adults for all his needs to independence in caring for himself, and, eventually, to independence and maturity in making decisions.

"Children learning to walk are gladly given a steadying hand by parents or by others who have already mastered the task. Children learning to become independent are deprived of needed help if adults say, 'I'm tired of arguing with him—let him make up his own mind.'

"In this critical period of growing up emotionally, if guidance is not given, the young person will stumble, and the bruises will be more severe than the bumps a toddler gets from his tumbles.

" 'As the twig is bent . . .' applies to the teenager as well as to the preschooler. Human growth and development is a life-long process. The adolescent years are as critical as any a human being experiences. The twig is still growing rapidly in the teenage years, particularly in the areas of emotional and social development.

"Many of today's teenagers are being emotionally deprived when their parents and other adults fail to say, 'This is it!'—as deprived as they would be if their parents failed to provide nutritious food."

A New Disease

According to Dr. A. M. Aibinder of New York City, there is a new disease which is termed "TV medicitis". "Certain television viewers watching medical dramas, by identifying with the actors, tend to 'catch' the disease being portrayed. Convinced they have the disease, they visit their doctors and even request the treatment they saw administered on TV."

Have you had symptoms following any of those programs? Do you believe you require a doctor-caseyectomy? Unless your malady is caused by nail-biting during a heart-rending episode or sitting too long in one place, the symptoms could be imagined. An upset stomach is not always from something you ate—it could be from something you watched.

First Place—Wrong Race?

Soviet Russia, in spite of its proud record in a number of fields, has its problems. One of them, admitted by Premier Khrushchev himself, is that nation's agriculture. It is apparently a sore that refuses to be healed.

"The Biddle Survey", published by the Biddle Purchasing company in New York, commented recently on this situation. The article said:

"Rightfully, Soviet Russia can be proud of her ten million men and women with higher and secondary special training. Tsarist Russia had only 190,000 highly trained professionals. In 1962, according to the English-language 'Moscow News,' Soviet Russia had more than 1,325,000 engineers with diploma, while the U. S. had only 650,000. This, says the 'News', is because Soviet schools turn out three times as many engineers annually—125,000 against 43-44,000 in the U. S.

"At the end of 1962 Russia employed 2.3 million of her technical and professional personnel in industry and construction; 377,000 in transport and communication; 416,000 in agriculture (three times more than in 1953); 5.3 million (biggest category) in science, education and medical services. And, significantly, 53 per cent of all Russian specialists with higher education, and 63 per cent of those with secondary special training, are women. (There is no mention of how many were given specialized training for the Winter Olympics.)

"Rightfully, Russia can be proud of her astronauts, and Lidia Skoblikova, who won four gold medals at Innsbruck. But what has happened in agriculture, Mr. Khrushchev? Almost half a million specialists — three times as many as in 1953 — and not enough wheat?

Consumer Protection

Just how bad does the average American consumer need further "protection" from the government? It is a question which must be considered in light of federal attempts to establish a consumer protection department. We doubt that this proposed agency would be either necessary or of major benefit to the buying public.

There are already laws providing for consumer protection which are administered by the Department of Agriculture, Federal Trade commission and the Food and Drug administration. Persons acting in violation of these laws are subject to prosecution by the Justice department. This should be enough regulatory agencies to adequately protect the consumer.

Perhaps the greatest protection lies in the American system of free enterprise itself. Competition exists in virtually every sales field, and inferior products or products with high prices soon are without a market. We believe the value of the "protection" would not warrant the cost. It would merely add to the burden of taxpayers and complicate an already too involved federal system.

A Case in Point

A time for party conventions is coming around soon and the nation's major parties will be considering their candidates. Careful consideration is sure to be given of Presidential candidates, but vice presidential candidates are not always as selectively considered.

"Every vice president is a potential President and should be weighed on the same scales as the nominee for the Presidency," states the New York Times. "We hope that the Republicans in San Francisco and the Democrats in Atlantic City all will recognize that ability, character and experience should count for more than personality, religion or place of residence in filling the second place on their tickets."

As was shown last year by the tragedy of assassination, the vice president may be called on at any moment. In most of these cases, the call comes under extreme pressure and periods of national alarm. It must be a person with a cool head and a steady hand that picks up the reins of government under such conditions. Both parties would do well to consider these possibilities.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Minnesota has more than 11 million acres of farmland in hay and pasture.

Farmers have found that grasses and legumes retard erosion, improve soil structure and tilth, increase and sustain yields of other crops in the rotation and provide feed for livestock.

The heaviest concentration of hay and pasture land is in a belt that extends diagonally across the west. This is mostly due to the small number of farms in the northeast portion of the state. About one-third of the total farm land is in hay, but the proportion varies from one section of the state to another. In the northeast, approximately half is in hay and pasture. This area has high yields of grassland crops when compared with other crops such as corn. Dairying is the chief farm enterprise in this area and dairy cattle utilize a high proportion of this hay and pasture in their rations.

In the southeastern counties grasses and legumes help to control erosion on the hilly land. And just west of Minneapolis and St. Paul there is a high proportion of these grasses and legumes. The relatively high price for fluid milk sold in the urban market, the high number of small farms, and the rolling land are major factors behind this type of farming. Topography, drainage, soils, all play a part in deciding what types of crops will be planted.

New Rules To Favor New Furniture Buyer

If you plan to buy some furniture after the middle of March, read the tags and lables carefully. They will give you much more reliable information than has been the case in the past, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

For example, a table consisting of a solid walnut top with pecan legs can no longer be described as "walnut," which is actually a half truth, but must be described as "walnut top—pecan legs." The word "nylon" cannot be used to describe coverings containing a blend of nylon and other fibers. In cases of non-leather material having the appearance of leather, the composition of the fabric must be stated on the label, for example, "imitation leather," "not leather," "vinyl covering" or 'upholstered in plastic."

The new rules, announced by the Federal Trade commission for the household furniture industry, are designed to foster and promote the maintenance of fair competitive conditions in the interest of protecting the public, the industry, and the trade, says Miss Offerdahl.

They point out that the rules will play an important part in eliminating misrepresentations and deception by unscrupulous manufacturers and dealers. The new regulations will also make it possible for the customer to know exactly what he is getting.

Affected in the new rulings are all kinds of chairs, tables, cabinets, desks, bedsteads and bureaus. Excluded from the order are bed mattresses, bedsprings, metal cots, cedar chests, mirrors, radio and television sets, musical instruments and Venetian blinds, as well as pictures, lamps, clocks, rugs, draperies and such appliances as refrigerators and air conditioners.

Free Church Merger with ALC Ruled Valid

A court order upholding the validity of the merger of the Lutheran Free Church with The American Lutheran Church, consumated Feb. 1, 1963, has been issued by Judge Gordon L. McRae in International Falls.

A permanent injunction restraining a group of congregations from using the name "Lutheran Free Church (not merged)" was issued by Judge McRae on the basis of evidence presented in a trial held in International Falls in June, 1963.

Judge McRae ruled that procedures followed in the decision of the Lutheran Free Church to merge with the ALC did not violate the rights of the minority congregations which opposed the merger.

The right of congregations and clergymen in the Lutheran Free Church to remain outside the merged church was adequately preserved in the procedures followed, Judge McRae's opinion said.

Doctrines of the ALC and the Lutheran Free Church are identical, the judge ruled.

'Differences in organization and policy between the Lutheran Free Church and The American Lutheran Church are all of a minor nature, not doctrinal in character, and the basic organization, structure, and method of operation are substantialy the same,' Judge McRae ruled.

Judge McRae's ruling concludes (except for possible appeal) the legal action which in 1962 resulted in a temporary restraining order against the use of the name "Lutheran Free Church (not merged)" by a group of congrgations opposed to the merger. Since the issuance of the temporary injunction on Dec. 15, 1962 by Judge Lyman Brink of the same court, the anti-merger group has conducted its activities under the name "The Association of Free Lutheran Congregations," with headquarters in Fargo, N. D.

Judge McRae said his order does not prevent congregations from organizing as they choose under a name which does not imply continuation of the Lutheran Free Church policies and practices.

Interstate Route Work Proceeding

Minnesota Leads Area in Projects under Way

Minnesota again leads the five-state regional group in total Interstate Highway mileage 'in the works", according to the Bureau of Public Roads report dated Dec. 31, 1963. Minnesota's total mileage under way is 574.5; followed by: South Dakota, 389.1; Iowa, 314.8; Wisconsin, 190.3; and North Dakota, 174.8.

These mileages can be measured against the total designated systems for each state, which are: Minnesota, 898.1; South Dakota, 679.8; Iowa, 709; Wisconsin, 452.5; and North Dakota, 567.9.

Total mileage open to traffic in each of these states is: Minnesota, 174.9; South Dakota, 246.7; Iowa, 264.3; North Dakota, 267; and Wisconsin, 262.2.

It can be readily seen that when Minnesota's complex and expensive Twin City metropolitan area Interstate problem more nearly reaches a point of completion the state's open-to-traffic mileage representation will be materially increased.

The BPR states that nearly 16,600 miles of the 41,000-mile national system are now open to traffic and construction under way on another 5,000 miles. In 1963, 2,216 miles were added.

In addition to the sections open to traffic, 4,278 miles were under construction as of Dec. 31, and engineering or right of way acquisition was in progress on another 12,031 miles. Thus, some form of work was under way or completed on 33,563 miles of the 41,000-mile system--about 82 per cent of the total.

Snow Lack Cuts Road Upkeep by $1 Million

The Minnesota highway department maintenance section anticipates a savings of about $1 million in winter maintenance of the state's roads this season because of the relatively "open' winter the state has enjoyed.

Spokesmen in the maintenance section are quick to caution, however, that this could be wiped out between now and the end of March. "We are keeping our fingers crossed that March will be no worse than normal," they say.

Minnesota has had less snow than usual this year, but ice problems have been as bad or worse in many sections. Because the department is using more chemicals in ice and snow removal, little savings is anticipated in this item.

The cost of maintenance in the northern part of the state, varies little from year to year, according to these authorities. What savings are possible come mainly through the variations in weather in other parts of Minnesota.

Minnesota's snows this winter have come on week ends, which means that there has been little or no savings on overtime and plowing when such precipitation did occur.

Where the open conditions prevailed the maintenance section has been doing more work on tree trimming, patching, joint sealing, traffic service and minor repairs, some of which would have been delayed for early spring.

Philosophically —as everyone must be about Minnesota weather the maintenance people figure that any savings is better than none, if they can hold the line.

PUBLIC OPINION

To the Editor:

It is apparent, judging by your politically-biased editorials, that you are eminently qualified to succeed Bill Dahlquist as editor of the Times. However, I believe you would be more effective in your attempt to influence your readers if you would document your charges against those whom you wish to critize or berate instead of alleging or insinuating that something is a fact even though it is a half-truth or has no substance at all.

You really displayed your ignorance or disregard for the truth when you said Governor Rolvaag appointed Ben Wichterman head of the State ASC, when the truth is this is a federal job and the appointment is made by the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture. You also hinted that Rolvaag appointed Ben as pay-off for his withdrawal from the congressional race. Sounds kind of absurd, doesn't it?

You cynically remarked that Rolvaag's appointees are all party favorites. This is perhaps true, but how about former governor Anderson? He appointed his henchmen even when the recount was going on and his reelection was in doubt. Why cite Rolvaag's record? By the way, the governor does not set salaries.

You criticized Rolvaag for his stand against the unemployment bill, but you didn't tell your readers that the unions were against it too. This bill was designed by the conservative legislature and cleverly baited to give those workers with steady higher paying jobs more unemployment pay and those workers whose jobs were seasonal or interrupted by short lay-off no employment pay at all. It would disqualify thousands of workers who needed it the most.

You implied that Senator Humphrey and McCarthy had to favor the Civil Rights bill to be in the good graces of the President. This is a ridiculous statement and you know it. They have been outspoken proponents of Civil Rights as long as I can remember. I believe that any person who is a bigot and discriminates against his fellow man because of race or religion isn't fit to be called a citizen of this great country of ours. It's against Christian principles and also, a direct violation of our constitution.

I'm sure your popularity among rural people hit a new low when they read your editorial suggesting that public power be taxed. This is the principle source of power supply for their electric cooperatives and they know it would be a direct tax on them because public utilities and cooperatives do not operate on a profit basis and any tax would be reflected in the cost of production and paid by the consumers.

I respect everyone's right to his opinion or choice of political party. I don't mind if you use your column to polish the pictures of people in your party, and I don't mind if you criticize mine, but I do protest the "smear" tactics.

Stanley Radniecki

Editor The Times:

The Civil Rights Bill, as passed by the House contained Title VII which reads as follows:

It shall be unlawful to refuse employment opportunity to anyone because of race, religion, sex, or national origin.

It shall NOT BE unlawful for anyone to refuse employment opportunity to athiests. This group of people is therefore excluded from civil rights as defined by the bill.

Note that our own Congressman Langen voted for this monstrosity!

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Side Line Observations
By Bill Dahlquist

My first business in Mexico City was a visit to the Economic Section of the American Embassy. A letter of introduction from Congressman Odin Langen had opened the door for an exchange of letters. The officials were very cooperative and had prepared a list of individuals and organizations I probably would find to be informative, and interesting. Ten of the recommended individuals and organizations had to do with business and industry. Eight more were involved in agriculture in some form.

In the comparatively few days I spent in the Mexico City area I was not able to reach all of the Americans and Mexicans on the recommended list. Not all of them were available during the time I was there. But I did reach enough of them, along with many others not on the recommended list, to give me a fair idea of the economic structure of the area and the politics.

Most interesting of the operations I visited were the dairy farm located about thirty miles southeast of the city and a feed mill located in the city, both owned by one family. The family also owns a broiler chicken hatchery which I did not visit.

The herd of 700 registered Holsteins certainly was not typical of dairy operations in Mexico. More typical would be a few scrub cows along with several sheep and goats. But the Santa Monico Rancho is especially interesting because of the contrast. It isn't what you would expect.

The herd includes 400 milking cows maintained in loose housing and with plenty of green alfalfa hay available to them. They are milked at 4:00 o'clock in the morning and at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Two long lines of stalls require the service of only four employees or an average of 100 cows per man.

The dairy is a complete operation from the production to the marketing of the milk, including pasteurization, packageing and delivery. It is a Grade A operation and is checked regularly by sanitation officials.

Bill LaFave tells me that type of operation is not unusual in our southwestern states in the vicinity of large cities. Maybe there is justification for them under some circumstances but I am satisfied that the family size operation will be with us here in Minnesota and Wisconsin for many years to come.

The trend here is to larger processing plants for milk products which is in the interests of greater efficiency and lower manufacturing costs. And the lower manufacturing costs means generally that a larger share of the consumer dollars gets back to the producer, whether that producer is a large or a small operator.

The Santo Monico Rancho is owned by Marcos Ortiz, Sr. His son, Marcos Ortiz, Jr., manages Flagasa, a most modern push-button feed mill that has national distribution.

Executive Board Meeting

A horticulture society executive board meeting for district 13 was held Saturday afternoon at the Gilfred Sannes home. Attending were Mrs. Orlando Chervestad; Oklee, Mrs. Walter Roadfelt; Badger, Mrs. John Thompson; Viking, Mrs. Lynn Hanson; Goodridge, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. A. C. Matheson, Thief Thief River Falls and Bernice Knutson and Mrs. L. A. Meyer. Plans were made for the Campanula Garden club to serve the district workshop in Thief River Falls April 16 in the Zion Lutheran church.

The good thing about the seasons is that all we have to do is wait. We may not like the weather we have now, but something different will come soon. We experience a great variety of weather in a dozen months.

It's a great consolation to have this mighty spectacle of spring and autumn, sun and rain, day and night continually unfold around us.

It's the dependable rhythm of nature, the ebb and flow of seasons, the beauty of earth and sky, which give our lives a firm ground tone.

But Christianity is not a nature religion. It finds the revelation of God in nature alone but even more in human personality — our own, as the children of God, and supremely in Jesus as the Son of God.

That is why it is necessary for us to become an important part of His Church.

We can get in the mood to understand the presence of God when we experience the quietness of the woodlands or hear waves breaking against the cliffs, or look heavenward at the billowing clouds. But, it is not enough to get in a mood. We must join in the communion and fellowship of other believers in order to obtain our purpose and faith.

Come, let us go into the House of the Lord. . . .

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—I have read that the terminal date for the GI loan program is July 25, 1957. Does that apply to all veterans?

A—No. only veterans of World War II. Korean Conflict veterans should add ten years to the date of their first discharge from active wartime service and then add one year for each three months of such service. The date reached by this formula is their personal deadline date for GI loans. However, it cannot be later than January 31, 1975, which is the final date for all Korean Conflict eligibility. World War II veterans have a similar formula but their terminal date is the earlier July 25, 1967.

Q—My term insurance is getting too expensive and will be worse as time goes on. At this time I cannot afford to convert all of it to a permanent insurance plan. Can I convert part now and the rest later?

A—Yes. You may convert as little as $1,000 or more in multiples of $500 after the first thousand.

Q—Is any Korean veteran with a service-connected disability eligible for vocational rehabilitation training?

Q—Are "peacetime" veterans entitled to hospital care?

A—Yes, for his service connected disability or for the disability received in line of duty that caused his discharge from service or if he is receiving or is entitled to receive compensation for a service connected disability.

Q—My service-connected disability is rated at 30 per cent. Can I be entitled to extra compensation because of my dependents?

A—No. Only veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated at 50 per cent or more are entitled to additional compensation for dependents.

Q—As an eligible War Orphan, I have educational rights but I wish to continue working, too. May I attend school for less than half time under the War Orphans Educational program?

A—No. Regulations require that a student must attend school at least half time to be eligible for the War Orphan program payments.

Q—A veteran I know is going to school under the GI bill and is also getting a GI loan to buy a house. How can he get double benefits?

County Organizes Unit of Township Officers Ass'n.

Organization of the Pennington County unit of the Minnesota association of township officers took place at a meeting held Friday afternoon in the basement meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. Officers were elected and by-laws adopted at the session.

Elected directors of the association were Silas Hanson, Silverton, and Edgar Naplin, Polk Center, 3-year terms; Henry Waale, Kratka, and Nels Anderson, Wyandotte, two-year terms; Maurice Newton, Smiley, and Martin Wedul, Mayfield, one-year terms.

Officers elected for one-year terms were Silas Hanson, president; Edgar Naplin, vice president; and Henry Waale, secretary-treasurer. Approximately 40 township officers attended the organizational meeting, representing 13 Pennington county townships, with 11 of the townships represented joining the county unit.

Townships which joined the county unit were Norden, Rocksbury, Kratka, Smiley, Mayfield, Numedal, Cloverleaf, Wyandotte, Deer Park, Silverton and Polk Centre. The Pennington county unit becomes the 72nd unit of the state association which has been in operation for a number of years.

Membership by individual townships in the county unit and state association is on a volunteer basis, the newly-elected officers said. Annual dues will be $25 per township and will include dues to the state association. General purpose of the county unit, as outlined in the by-laws adopted, is as follows:

"...to organize the officers of the townships into a county educational association with other county units; for the exchange of information and ideas pertaining to their duties and responsibilities; to secure cooperation among them; to aid and assist in preserving the township as a municipal entity in the affairs of government; to maintain the jurisdiction of such township and its officers in the construction and maintenance of highways, the levying of taxes, the holding of elections and in general all activities and privileges now enjoyed by such townships."

Photography Will Be Subject for Training Session

Fred Heck, Marshall County Soils Agent, To Teach Class Wednesday

Most people really like the pictures they snap. Many are bothered, though, by a nagging suspicion that they could do even better, but that the price of increased proficiency would be lots of money, lots of intricate equipment, and lots of wrestling with technical complexities.

This is not so, acording to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. The easy way is usually the best and a number of gadgets may swell the ego, but will not necessarily improve either the fun or the results of snapshooting.

Everyone is invited to the open meeting on photography on Wednesday, March 11, in the courthouse meeting room at 1:30 p. m., says Miss Offerdahl. Fred Heck, soil conservation agent in Marshall county, will be presenting the lesson. Photography is Fred's hobby, and he knows a lot about it.

In order to have the necessary equipment to work with, it would be a good idea for persons attending to bring some of their magazines that have lots of pictures, cameras (unloaded), and any other picture taking equipment they may have.

Letters have been sent to the homemakers and the 4-H photography leaders, but anyone else who is interested should feel free to attend this open photography lesson, Miss Offerdahl said.

Music will be presented by members of the Anoka high school band.

Mr. Bye served for about 20 years as superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools before going to Anoka to serve in a similar capacity. He is retiring this summer.

Marshall Board Asks Bids on More Bituminous Jobs

In action by the Marshall county board at Tuesday's meeting a decision to call for bids on 13½ miles of new bituminous highway surfacing and a new highway bridge for 1964 construction was approved. The bids will be opened in Warren on April 7 at 2 p.m.

The new construction projects which include road base and bituminous surfacing are on CSAH No. 5 from the Englund store east to Strandquist, a distance of 8 miles, and on CSAH No. 29 at Strandquist to Highway No. 29, a distance of 1 mile.

Another project will be on CSAH No. 4, which includes constructing base and bituminous surfacing a distance of 5 miles from the Dahlin corner 10 miles north of Alvarado and west to T.H. No. 220. Bids will also be called for constructing a new bridge over the Snake River on this road in Big Woods Township.

Nineteenth annual state meeting of the Future Homemakers of America was held in Minneapolis March 6 and 7. Theme of the meeting was "Wheels of Concern" dealing with "Concern for Leadership", "Concern for Education" and "Concern for Citizenship".

Among the 1,800 delegates to the meeting were Lindy Broughton, Nancy Olson, Cathy Wysoski, Charlotte Myers, and Mrs. Jan Breiland, home economics teacher and advisor to the Thief River Falls junior high F. H. A. Nancy Olson and Cathy Wysoski were the chapter's voting delegates and participated at the house of delegates meeting at noon on Friday.

Speakers for the event were Dr. LaVern Freeh, University of Minnesota short course office; Laurel Pennock, Rochester principal; and the Panel of Americans from the University of Minnesota.

The delegates were challenged to be leaders in their school, to receive and accept as much education as possible and to assume their responsibilities as citizens. The group was also told it was important to communicate these ideas to the 17,200 members throughout the state.

The Future Homemakers is a national organization of a half million girls who have taken or are taking home economics in high school. The organization is co-sponsored by the U. S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare and the American Home Economics association.

The Red Lake River Improvement Association, organized in June, 1962, may finally see its hopes fulfilled this spring toward new flood control and conservation projects in the lower Red Lake River basin.

Earl L. Enright of East Grand Forks, association chairman, said a public hearing has been set for March 30 by the Corps of Engineers to determine if there is a need for further development of water and related land resources in the basin area.

The hearings will be at 1:30 p.m. that day at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston.

Funds are apparently available now for a survey by the corps but a need for it must be proven.

According to Lt. Col. Leslie B. Harding, district corps engineer, St. Paul, "Justification for any federal flood control project must rest upon a clear demonstration that such improvement would produce benefits in excess of the costs involved."

Proponents of the project are asked to submit all important facts and arguments in writing at the hearing and opponents are also asked to make their views known.

The statements are to contain current facts as to height, frequency and duration of floods; monetary estimates of flood damages for the major floods of record; existing improvements and their effect on floods; nature of corrective measures that are proposed; and other related facts.

The Red Lake Improvement Association, in its proposals of 1962, asked for the survey in anticipation of resulting recommendations that will show need for a series of dams that will not only control seasonal flooding, but will conserve large areas of water for industrial and recreational use.

Immunization Is Part of March Health Program

Third grade students and younger pupils at Thief River Falls elementary schools will receive immunization for diphtheria-tetanus on Wednesday at their respective schools, according to Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse. Dr. H. Paul Wendt will conduct the vaccination program.

March is immunization month in Thief River Falls schools, Mrs. Race notes. Third, sixth, ninth and 12th graders are due for diphtheria-tetanus boosters each year and sixth and 12th graders need smallpox re-vaccination. Although the program is geared for certain grades, any student is welcome to participate.

A diphtheria-tetanus booster is recommended by the Minnesota Department of Health every three to five years and a smallpox vaccination every five or six years.

Older students may go to either of the local clinics any day during March to receive protection at 50 cents per vaccination or immunization.

House-to-House Question Session Begins This Week

One of the most far-reaching community service projects undertaken by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in recent years was authorized by vote of the general membership Thursday evening. Jaycees voted to conduct a community development survey, a house-to-house study with a comprehensive questionnaire, which will be valuable in determining public sentiment on a number of questions.

Rick Contos heads the project committee which seeks to gain information from every household in Thief River Falls. The project will begin this week and is expected to be completed by early April. More than 400 man-hours will be required of Jaycee volunteers in the program as they call on householders for information.

City residents will be asked to answer specific questions on city facilities and problems by rating them "excellent", "good", "average", "poor" or "don't know". Names of persons interviewed will not be taken but street address will be listed on the form to provide information on various areas of the city.

Emphasis will be placed on having the survey forms filled in as completely as possible and in having as many returned as possible. Filling out the form will require about 15 minutes of time. There is no cost or obligation to the householder for filling out the form.

"Community service is an important phase of Jaycee activity," Contos told the club members Thursday in presenting his committee report. "By having a good return on this survey form, we will find many projects which can be undertaken for community service in the future. The survey will hlp our chapter as well as being of future assistance to the community."

Persons interviewed will be asked to rate the city's garbage collection, electricity, telephone service, postal service, radio and newspaper news coverage, fire protection, law enforcement, health services, parking, street layout, recreation and many other items. Questions will be asked on schools, job opportunities and general personal information such as number of years lived in the community and number and ages of household members.

Special questions will be asked on street signs, sidewalks, winter sports arena, artificial ice, swimming pool, junior college and shopping.

Jaycee volunteers calling at the city's homes will appreciate cooperation in filling out the forms. Each volunteer will have many homes to contact during the next several weeks. Public cooperation is a necessity to a comprehensive survey.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Original with today's homemaker, this entree has both appetite satisfaction and nutrition. An excellent Lenten choice, it is neither drab nor tasteless, and is a deviation from the usual scrambled eggs. With a bit of imagination, this basic recipe could be adapted to many variations such as the addition of chopped green peppers, for example. Using ingredients usually stocked as staple foods in most households, it can be the answer too, when something quick, hearty, and yet tasty, is called for. With it, Mrs. Schwarz serves a green salad, pickles, milk, and a dessert such as fresh or canned fruit or apple crisp or rhubarb betty.

Noodle Hot Dish

1 large package fine egg noodles
½ cup butter or margarine
5 or 6 eggs
garlic and onion powder to taste
½ teaspoon Accent
2 cans cream of mushroom soup

Cook the noodles 5 minutes in salted water. Drain, and rinse thoroughly in cold water. Let stand while preparing the following:

Place the butter in a large skillet. Break 5 or 6 eggs into it and scramble with a fork until the egg is in small particles. They will brown slightly but this adds to the flavor and attractiveness of the dish. Season to taste with garlic and onion salt and the Accent, which does exactly as the name implies—accents the flavor. Add the mushroom soup and mix thoroughly. Add noodles and stir until they are well coated. Place in a well-oiled casserole and bake 45 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Serves 8 to 10 people.

Native Canadians, the family came here from Williston, N. D., where Pastor Schwarz served in the ministry of the Seventh-Day Adventist church for five years following 11 years serving in Alberta and New Brunswick, Canada. Their children are Linda, 18, a student at Maplewood academy in Hutchinson, Minn.; Wendy, 12, and Arthur, 8, both attending the 7th Day Adventist parochial school here. Besides her busy schedule, Mrs. Schwarz is a nurses' aide at N. W. Hospital, working on night duty, part time. She likes cooking, and the girls also like to help out when she is busy. This noodle dish is the favorite project of 12-year-old Wendy.

Mom knits and sews, and engages in plastic craft also, her specialty being sweater guards, but she had made brooches and earrings on occasion. Some of these articles found ready sale in Williston.

They carry on a Pathfinder club every other week at their home, where she teaches embroidery and sewing to girl members, and her husband instructs the boys in woodworking. Together, they go camping when possible in summer, and Pastor Schwarz accompanies groups of young people on canoe trips. He has such a trip scheduled for July in the wilderness area near Ely.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Congratulations to you Winter Shows demonstrators. You did a fine job. This is evidenced by the blue and red ribbons received on Wednesday. Now that you have a good start, why don't you plan on giving your demonstration at the county fair? It was not difficult, now was it?

This is the time of year when budgets and money saving plans are on everyone's mind. Quite often, the food budget is one of the major budget items examined first for a possible way of saving money. Understandably so, for food is the largest single item planned for in the budget of nearly every American family — roughly one-fourth of the average family's income must be allocated for the purchase of food and food prepaation items.

The exciting challenge of planning penny-wise menus can give 4-H'ers the good foundation they will always find valuable. Homemakers, too, will appreciate these tips that will help them get the most in food value and appetizing meals from their food budgets.

Many factors must be considered in meal planning. No two families are alike in likes and dislikes and way of living. Some homemakers, for instance, do more home food preservation such as canning and freezing than do others. Amount of entertaining varies from family to family, and some homemakers have special dietary problems that must be considered.

Oftentimes, the difference between high cost and economical meals is advance planning. The homemaker who plans meals ahead—as much as a week, if possible—can't help but find ways to cut food costs. For one thing, planning meals ahead of time helps you find ways of using left overs in subsequent meals. Sunday's roast beef may bo Wednesday's beef stew and Thursday's sandwich fixin's.

By planning ahead you can take advantage of seasonal and "best buy" foods at the grocery store. "Shop" the newspapers while you are planning meals to include such foods in your menus.

You are less likely to have "humdrum" meals when you plan ahead, too. Cookbooks and newspapers and magaine food sections—all—offer suggestions for intriguing yet budget-wise dishes. Explore the cooking and eating adventures in foreign dishes; many feature inexpensive foods. Find new ways to prepare nutrient rich, economical "variety" meats like liver.

Food costs often jump because of "impulse" shopping. Planning ahead allows you to buy only what you need. Here's a little trick to show you if impulse spending is hurting your food budget. For one week, keep track of all you spend for food. Add regular meal costs in one column, and in another the amount you have spent for snack items. Then judge for yourself if some of the snack items might be more wisely spent on mealtime needs. It helps, too, to shop on a "full-stomach"!

Good luck on your food budgeting!

Buy now, and pay later! Sounds tempting, doesn't it? Credit is more popular than ever with America's teens. Last year they bought $10 billion worth of snacks, clothing and other soft goods, much of it on credit.

The prospect of getting something for nothing appeals to teens. But it brings nothing but problems if you do not understand how credit works. A charge account is not your "magic pass to unlimited wardrobes," and layby does not increase your allowance.

The term credit refers to any method of postponing payment on a purchase until a later date. Charge accounts and layby are familiar forms to teens.

What is layby? Do not use it until you can pay for it. You must make a down payment when you decide to purchase the garment, then weekly or monthly payments untily ou have paid the full amount.

This favor isn ot free, however. There is an extra 25 or 35 cent fee each time you use layby, although you do not get the garment until you hpve finished paying, no one else can buy it first.

A charge account is a great convenience if you handle it wisely. It avoids carrying large amounts of cash and it lets you buy and take without spending a thing at the time. But never charge more than you will be able to pay when the monthly bill comes.

Just as you have a reputation among friends, you have a reputation with st ores. It is called a credit rat ing and it is based on how you pay your bills. If this reputation is bad, stores will refuse to let you charge. And your credit rating is not just a thing of the present—it stays with you all your life.

Charge accounts come in many forms. Talk to the store management to see which is best for you. Will you pay for all your purchases within 30 days? If so, a "regular" 30-day account may be best since you can charge purchases without paying extra serivce fees or interest.

If you need more time to pay, 60 or 90 daysf or instance, choose a "student", "flexible", "revolving" or "budget" charge account. It gives you longer to pay but it also costs more. You may, for example, be billed $16 for a $15 dress. Learn about the interest or service fees you will have top ay on this type of account before you open one.

Credit is a convenience if you do not let it catch you!

Group Formed to Promote Service by Local Airlines

Committee Expresses Opposition to Subsidy Reductions by the CAB

George M. Robertson, Jr., of Winona, acting secretary, announced today that a local airline service action committee was organized Tuesday at a meeting in the Twin Cities.

The cities were represented at the meeting by Robertson, city attorney of Winona; and Wm. Galewski, honorary airport manager of Winona; Walter Wieland, chairman of the Brainerd-Crow Wing county airport commission; Robert A. Wurst, city attorney of Thief River Falls; and I. L. Samuelson, city engineer of Mankato. Invited but unable to be present were James L. Vance, editor of the Worthington Daily Globe; Kenneth E. Scott, state representative from Fairmont; and Thomas M. Hilligan, city attorney of Bemidji.

Also present were Henry Kuitu, executive director of the Minneapolis St. Paul Metropolitan Airports commission; L. E. McCabe, Minnesota commissioner of aeronautics; G. E. Ascher, research analyst of the Minnesota department of aeronautics, and C. Blaine Harstad, special assistant attorney general.

The cities of Winona, Mankato, Fairmont and Worthington had their airline wervice reduced last year. The airline states that since their federal subsidy has been reduced they must cut expenses by reducing service. Further subsidy cuts will mean further cuts in service.

The purpose of LASAC is to alert Congress to the grass-roots opposition to the Civil Aeronautics Board's announced program of subsidy cuts and to secure congressional review of the need for local airline service.

Crippled Children Society Advances

Agency Is Supported by United Funds in State

W. B. Schoenbohm, executive director of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, termed 1963 'the best year in the history of the Society, both from the standpoint of increased income as well as expanded service," at the society's annual meeting held February 28-29 in St. Paul.

In 1963, for the first time in the history of the Minnesota Society the total yearly income passed the half-million mark.

'Our service program has not only been continued, but has taken a big leap forward since we disaffiliated from Easter Seals nearly two years ago and joined United Funds," Mr. Schoenbohm stated.

The Society now participates in over 340 United Funds and does not send out Easter Seals.

Mr. Schoenbohm said, 'United Fund participation has decreased our fund-raising costs, stabilized our income, and has improved, rather than destroyed, our public image and our individual identity".

The recent mailing of Easter Seals to many Minnesota citizens was not done by the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., but by a new group, calling themselves the Minnesota Easter Seal Society. Income raised by Easter Seals will not go to the support of any of the traditional service programs of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Odd Fellows To Go to Warren Mar. 10

To Present Traveling Bible to Warren Lodge

On Tuesday evening, March 10, the local Odd Fellows lodge will journey to Warren to visit Friendship Odd Fellow lodge.

The district's "Traveling Bible" will be the focal point of the visit, with the local lodge presenting it to the Warren lodge. They in turn use the Bible while in their possession, and when their lodge makes a visitation, they deliver it to their host lodge, thus keeping the Bible in circulation.

A record is made of the members accompanying each visitation and comparisons made on a percentage basis. The plan is used to promote more inter-lodge visitations, with the Grand Lodge making awards to winning lodges.

The members are to meet at the Odd Fellows Hall at 7 p. m. to arrange the necessary cars for the trip.

The local lodge will hold its regular meeting Thursday, March 12, at 8 p. m.

A NOTE ON BABY FOOD JARS
As a convenience, some baby food manufacturers now use screw cap closures. The jars are easy to open — but may present a health hazard. Some people open jars of baby food in the store, perhaps taste them, and return them to the shelves. The contaminated jars then present a health hazard. Many baby foods are vacuum sealed. Two types of caps are commonly used to indicate whether the jar has been opened. One has a "button" in the center of the cap which is held in a depressed position by the vacuum. If the vacuum is lost, the "button" humps up. Another safety cap is in two sections with continuous parallel lines running across the top. Once the jar is opened the lines no longer match. On opening a jar with vacuum closure, listen for the characteristic sound, and avoid use of the food if the sound is not heard. Once opened, baby foods should be covered and kept in the refrigerator.

The Library Corner

By Virginia Gjernes

"Facts and figures" (whether 'plain vanilla' or something a little more fancy) are items of merchandise your librarians are called upon to dispense many, many times a day. Grade school children, high school and college students and employed adults find reference books invaluable.

Oftentimes a grade school student wants to know more about, for instance, "Alaska", especially after the state has been studied at school and the child's imagination has been stimulated. The young learner has many other requests, too.

"I want to start an aquarium, have you got a book on it?" Or, "I collect rocks, have you got a book about them?" These are just two of the jillions of subjects in which children are interested today. Books about electricity, or one on "how to build weather instruments"; even electronic computers are of interest to elementary school borrowers.

We are in the "Age of Science". School curricula and library requests are indicative of the trend. Young minds are bent early by the due processes of education — and generally speaking, early interest leanings developed gradually will remain with the individual throughout life.

Young readers search for their "facts" and "figures" on the juvenile side of their library and in juvenile reference books. Whether it be rocks, fish, space or atomic energy, the intellectually inquisitive child supplements his formal school with public library material. This is the way it should be.

When a boy or girl reaches secondary school he discovers more and more of his text book material must be supplemented by either school or public library reference books. The student soon learns to search for additional information. He begins to learn the meaning of the term "reference work". He begins to find that all the known "facts and figures" covering one subject cannot, usually, be found in any one book. It takes a whole lot more than "one source" to complete the course.

"Reference" material is an essential portion of our educational process today. No longer are "reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic" considered adequate. The three subjects must be supplemented and applicable to the busy, intricate, scientific lives we lead today.

College students spend more and more time in the library, using reference materials. The more complicated their classroom-work schedule, the more complicat e d their reference—work schedule. Hours before and after the school day are spent searching for additional "facts and figures" in the library...school or public.

After school...what? Then comes the day his education is put to use...the student goes to work! He becomes a wage earner. His formal education comes to a halt...but not his informal "seeking of information". He turns more and more to his public library, seeking (and FINDING!!) the informative "facts and figures" which have now turned into his "bread and butter". The things he learned at school are now working for him! But he must keep abreast of the times.. so he uses his library. He must have relaxation...he turns to his library. He never outgrows his need for his library...if anything, as his age increases, so does his need!

A librarian who is conscientious fulfills the needs of the community she serves. She places on the shelves the books her people need and want.

The smaller the world grows, the more scientific our civilization becomes, the greater our need for "facts and figures"...more and more of them will be written down and put between covers and called "books." The more books written, the better-informed we are, and will be, individually and collectively. Knowledge is vital in our way of life.

Your local library is your source of information...it is a public library. It is "free" education. Take advantage of it. You have only a lot to gain!

See you at the library—your public cost-free information center.

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to all sorts of things! Things such as what to plant in the corner of the yard by the big tree; what to do about the leak in the drain spout; where to go for a vacation (or where not to go). And, since he can't do all that thinking on an empty stomach..aromatic ideas of food flicker through too!

Young women think in the springtime also! They think about weddings and parties and luncheons (their own or some one else's!). They think about food, too, because chances are theyLL have to think of something 'fit for a king', if she's to keep him working at his chosen project of planting, or painting or pleasuring.

With all these plans to be made, what better place is there to visit than your library? Books and more books await your arrival. There's a recent volume entitled "Water", containing the story of water.

It also contains information on where it comes from and where it goes...not to mention what to do with it, project-wise. It explains irrigation...the problems and answers. In fact, there isn't much to be said about water that isn't said in this book published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Naurally water is most important when it comes to gardening (not to mention farming) so perhaps before you plant you'll want to read this book. (There are several shelves filled with books about plantings which you'll want to study carefully, no doubt.)

While we're still on the subject of water, how about that drain spout leak?

Perhaps you're undecided about whether to fix it or just plunge in and buy a new one! Maybe you're thinking about remodleing...and wondering if it'll be worth it? Maybe you should buy a new home (and let someone else fix the drain spout!) If you're on the fence" come in and check out the latest book on remodleing, improvement and repair. A.M. Watkins has written a most enlightening volume which answers all the questions you've thought of...and will probably bring up some you haven't thought of...such as, "when are brand-name products a reliablo guide to quality and when are they not?". Whether you're planning on remodeling one room, or the whole house of fixing the drain spout, this book is an excellent one. You should read it from cover-to-cover before your plans even begin to take form whether under your own hand or the hand of a contractor!

Pleasure trips are in the planning stage, too. Winter is about gone, spring is just around the corner and summer is only a block behind. Have you given much thought to Italy? It is a long way away, to be sure, but it is one of the most beautiful (and romantic and artistic) countries abroad. A new Little, Brown release is "Hill Towns of Italy" by Lucy Lilian Notestein. The travelogue is one which will make you well acquainted with all the Italy you've dreamed of visiting. The author knows well the locales of which she writes. Reading her book is the next best thing to seeing it through your eyes instead of hers.

Some people cook with gas, some with electricity...and some...with wine! Greyton Taylor has compiled treasures of recipes (there's even one for meat loaf which turns it into ambrosia...fit for that king!) (This is a volume for the young man who likes to prove his culinary arts to the distaff side!) For those more concerned with the health side of food try "Eat Well and Stay Well" by Ancel and Margaret Keyes...it might not taste as good but maybe you'll live longer!

"The Best Plays of 1962-1963", edited by Henry Hewes, is now on the shelf. There are several etiquette books on the shelf...and they come in handy when wedding dates are on the calendar.

So...a young man's fancy turns to many things...in the spring! What does yours turn to? No doubt there's a book about it at the library!

Come down, check the shelves and see for yourself. Surely there is something you're interested in and want to know more about!

See you soon at your library!

Mr. and Mrs. Calmer Brenna of Middle River spent Wednesday at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wegge.

Farmers Union Asks Wheat Legislation

Citing the need for "additional farm income and the need to raise prices of agricultural products in the face of the present cost-price squeeze," National Farmers Union officials recently urged the Senate committee on agriculture and forestry to enact wheat legislation which will apply to the 1964 crop. James Patton, national Farmers Union president, presented the statement.

The Farmers Union wheat proposal, Patton said, is designed to increase farm income $387 million above 1963, reduce government costs, simplify and streamline administration and would not justify an increase in the price of a loaf of bread.

Without wheat legislation farm income is expected to plunge as much as $600 million in 1964.

The Farmers Union plan would give wheat growers 100 per cent of parity price on domestic consumption and exports of 460 million bushels.

The plan provides for price support certificates of $1.20 on wheat consumed domestically and direct payments of $1.20 on wheat exported. This is added to the CCC loan level of $1.30.

A family farm cut-off at 12,000 bushels, approximately 500 acres, would apply in the allocation of each family's pro-rata share of price support certificates and export payments under the program.

In stressing the need for action, Patton said "The operators of the 3.6 million United States farms do not receive an equitable share of the nation's income. While farm output has increased 21 percent since 1947-49, net farm income has dropped by 21 percent. Farmers have received no reward for their increased efficiency—in fact, they have been penalized because of it."

Other features of the NFU plan are: Voluntary 10 per cent cut in wheat, meaning 49.5 million acres annually; Interchange of wheat and feed grain plantings is permitted if producers participate in both the voluntary wheat and feed grain programs;

Also sales of wheat stocks by the Commodity Credit Corporation would be at 115 per cent of the support level, plus handling charges; and cooperators in the program could grow oil seed crops on the 10 per cent of diverted acres, but without price support.

ONLY the chimney remained standing Tuesday after a fire of unknown origin destroyed the Oklee Recreation, causing a loss estimated at $150,000. The 70x104 building was modernized in 1958 and housed a six-lane bowling alley and steak house. Firemen from Oklee, Red Lake Falls and Plummer were only able to contain the fire to the building and save an adjoining apartment house. The fire was discovered at about 1:45 a.m. Constructed in about 1926 by Sandeen Brothers, the building was a garage for many years, later housed general merchandise stores and was subjected to extension and extensive remodeling in 1958.—Photo Courtesy Oklee Herald

To the Editor:

May I say a word of praise to the Park Board for the nice job they do? They have been trimming the trees along the river bank by the First Street bridge and fill has been added to the east bank. It would be wonderful if the approaches to that bridge could be beautified, perhaps even a park made of the old mill yard before it disappears completely.

A historical park depicting some of the community's early history, uncovering the remains of the old mill or making a replica of the Indian thief after whom the town was named would make a tourist attraction for our city.

Bemidji has it's Paul Bunyun and Baudette it's Willie Walleye. Why can't we have something too?

Mrs. Emmett Mousley.

Corporation Tax Return Due Mar. 16

Director of Internal Revenue Gives Reminder

Corporation federal income tax returns for 1963 must be filed on or before March 16, George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue in St. Paul, announced today.

He pointed out that corporations must file their returns on Form 1120. If reasonable cause exists for a corporation's inability to file a return on time, application may be made on Form 7004 for an extension for filing the return. This application, however, does not apply to payment of the tax, he said, 50 per cent of which must be submitted by March 16, and the balance is due within three months.

A partnership or sole proprietorship which has elected to be taxed as a corporation is subject to the same requirements, Mr. Lethert said. Small businesses which have elected not to be subject to the income tax imposed on corporations must file their 1963 returns on Form 1120-S on or before March 16, Mr. Lethert indicated.

Partnership and fiduciary tax returns for 1963 must be filed on or before April 15, one month later, Mr. Lethert stated. All partnerships must file returns on Form 1065 regardless of the amount of income or loss. Fiduciaries whose gross income for 1963 exceeds $600 must file on Form 1041.

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

In January of 1962 the Midwest Feed Manufacturers Association held its 18th annual convention in Houston, Texas. The transcript of the proceedings of that convention gave considerable space to a "South of the Border Party" following the convention space to a cluded a "Mexico City Feed Conference and Agricultural Tour". In referring to this tour the proceedings report:

> "Besides visiting many historical and governmental buildings in the city, this tour included the inspection of a modern pushbutton feed mill—Flagasa, and one of the most modern dairy farms in the world where every cow is given a shower bath before entering the milking parlor."

I will have to admit that I am not an authority on feed mixing operations but I can report that I was greatly impressed by the inspection of the huge plant which really was a push-button marvel. Sr. Ortiz spoke excellent English and I liked him for his enthusiasm. I am sorry that I cannot make a more informed report on the operation. I came away with a bundle of pamphlets that were loaded with facts about the organization and its products but, unfortunately for me, they were printed in Spanish, a language with which, shall I say, I am not conversant.

The push-button gadget that controlled the production had more than 200 buttons that might be pushed, and these buttons set in motion the machines that released the proper ingredients in the proper amounts to meet the particular requirements and specifications of each order. Incidentally this magic machine was manufactured in Sweden, which reminded me that we do not have a monopoly in the field of automation. There are smart people in other countries too, and in some of these countries the manufacturers have substantially lower production costs.

But getting back to the Flagasa operation, the huge feed mill had only nine manual workers per shift. The office was loaded with I. B. M. machines and secretaries and the laboratory, with its research staff, obviously maintained quite a payroll. Flagasa was not one of the things I expected to see in Mexico and, frankly, I was pleasantly surprised.

Mexico is a country of contrasts. The poor are very poor and the rich are very rich. But I came away with the feeling that the middle-class group is becoming increasingly important and the lot of the extremely poor is not hopeless. After a century of revolutions, Mexico has had fairly stable government during the last forty years. There seems to be no revolution in the making and continued stability may be expected.

Mexico is an important neighbor, certainly the most important of our Latin-American neighbors. American industry is heavily involved in the future and the stability of the Mexican government and its economy. A visit with the Executive Vice President of the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico City was encouraging in that it strengthened the belief that American industry is being welcomed by the Mexicans and that American products, now being assembled largely in Mexico by Mexicans, are accepted favorably by our neighbors. On this problem, more to come.

Congressman Odin Langen offended our North Dakota neighbors by voting against the Missouri River diversion project for irrigation purposes. Langen takes the position that with millions of acres taken out of production to reduce food surpluses, to add more acres and further increase production by irrigation in any state doesn't make sense. Langen was right.

The government is going to start buying beef for a give-away program in order to bolster sagging cattle prices. These sagging prices are attributed to huge increases of imports from Australlia and New Zealand. Cattlemen have been asking for import curbs but the administration favors its own spending program with further import increases for 1965 and 1966. This way we will be bolstering the American market with our tax—or borrowed—dollars, making it still more appealing to Australian and New Zealand cattle growers. To start with, I had high hopes for this man Johnson.

Where do crop diseases come from? Some are home-grown and some are foreign intruders. And now and then we get a brand new race of an old disease, through those genetic processes called hybridization and mutation.

This question source is as important for crop diseases as it is for ailments of humans and animals.

It's difficult to classify the sources of crop diseases, partly because there are so many. The fungi that cause corn stalk rot, for example, come from the soil and old corn stubble. The potato late blight fungus is harbored in seed potatoes. The flax pasmo fungus stays in old stubble and the barley loose smut fungus is carried in the seed embryo.

With some diseases, the story has a tinge of romance. Wheat rust spores have long been known to ride high altitude winds from the South to Minnesota. Some oats crown rush spores blow in the same way. Aster yellows virus (flax) often gets a ride from leaf hoppers that migrate in from the south, or the hoppers may get the virus from local perennial plants and carry the disease to flax.

Dutch elm disease originally moved in via elm bark beetles and infected logs. But once it's in an area, the biggest source of infection is infected trees themselves. Oak wilt also comes from infected trees.

Some crop disease sources have changed, partly through efforts of man himself. A half century ago, the biggest source of wheat rust was the common barberry bush, on which the rust grows before going back to grain plants. But a long-term eradication campaign practically eliminated the barberry from Minnesota, meaning rust infections now come mostly on the high winds from southern areas.

Many soil diseases don't have to be brought to any place; they seem to have been there all the time, just waiting for a susceptible crop. One example is root rot diseases. When Minnesota farmers started raising peas, the root rot hit the crop. And the worst part of it was that as peas were grown repeatedly, the root rot built up in the soil.

A more recent case of soil disease build-up is sclerotinia root and stalk rot that attacks sunflowers apparently occur just about everywhere in the soil.

We've often heard of the mutation and hybridization processes. As an example, look at race 300 of flax rust. We may never know exactly where this race came from, but there are three distinct possibilities.

First, race 300 may be due to hybridization. We may have had the rust organisms that contained the genes for this race, and two lines may have crossed somewhere in nature, producing the new race.

Secondly, it may have been due to a mutation, which is a specific change in a gene caused by some disturbance. Mutations can be accelerated in laboratories, through exposure of spores to radiant energy. They also are known to occur in nature, but at reduced rates. Actually, most mutations are failures, but an occasional one can succeed, and it's these rare occasional ones that may account for radical changes in the crop disease picture.

Thirdly, race 300 of flax rust may have been brought in from outside, much as occurs with other disease-causing agents.

Then there are diseases that go through a cycle of living first on one plant, then another. A case frustrating to fruit producers is cedar apple rust. This is a fungus disease that has a two-year cycle. The rust comes from galls in cedar trees, infects apples and then goes back to the cedar. Wherever apple trees are near Eastern red cedars, there may be trouble.

Animals may play a role in plant disease spread, too, but the extent of this factor isn't completely known.

Plan Stall Barns For Happier Cows

Cows suffering from mid-winter blues? They may be tired of crowded barn conditions. Both cows and dairymen may be waiting anxiously for the pasture season.

Where barn crowding is a problem, here are some hints that may be helpful.

Remodeling is carried out for two main reasons — to increase the size of the stalls and to make the arrangement more convenient. You must consider the recommended stall size and the width of the gutter as fixed when remodeling. Some of the other dimensions normally considered as fixed in a new barn can be altered when remodeling.

If the shell of your old barn doesn't warrant remodeling, then a new barn should be carefully planned.

The size of the new barn must be determined by the number of cows you want to house. This is primarily a management decision based on farm size, available labor supply, production and a number of other factors peculiar to each operation. Never plan the barn size and try to fit a certain number of cows into it.

Stall arrangement is an important factor in minimizing expense and work load. Two rows of stalls facing out is the most desirable.

Only one litter way is needed in this arrangement. A gutter cleaner and a milk transfer system can be installed with the least amount of expense and the walking distance during milking is held to a minimum. You should also allow plenty of room for the use of feed carts in your arrangement.

There are four types of stalls available — stanchion, tie, comfort and the inverted V stall. The stanchion offers the cow the least freedom of all.

A new stall idea consists of an inverted V crossbar which prevents the cow from moving forward when standing. However, she has plenty of freedom at the front of the stall when lying down.

It is advisable to have two stall sizes, since cows aren't all the same size. Stalls should be long enough so the cow's udder is completely on the platform when she lies down. Cows can be kept very clean in long stalls when cow trainers are used.

To determine stall length, measure your cows from the shoulder to the tail setting. Add three inches for stanchions, six inches for comfort stalls and nine inches for tie stalls. There are tables which you can also consult to determine the proper stall size.

Specialists suggest that calves and young stock be housed in another barn for health and convenience. However, a maternity pen and one calf pen are usually needed. Adequate insulation and ventilation will also improve the environment in the barn.

It is also important to allow room for future expansion. Never let yourself get boxed in so you can't expand.

More detailed information concerning plans for a stall dairy barn can be obtained from bulletin M-132, "How to Plan Your Stall Dairy Barn," from the bulletin room at the University of Minnesota, St. Paul, 55101.

Calls for Noting Leif Ericsson Day

Langen Sponsors Joint Resolution in Congress

Congressman Odin Langen testified March 4 before a house judiciary subcommittee holding hearings on Langen's joint resolution to authorize the President to proclaim October 9th of each year as Leif Erikson Day.

"We as a nation have long recognized through our proclaimed holidays our many historical events. The adventurous explorations of the Vikings are in the very spirit of our great country, and Leif Erikson should take his rightful place among the heroes whose exploits have sparked the imaginations of our school boys."

Langen explained that the Viking explorations to Greenland and the American continent were as remarkable as the thrust being made into outer space today. "It's generally believed that one expedition penetrated into Minnesota, probably by way of Hudson Bay, along the Nelson River, across Lake Winnipeg and down the Red River of the North."

The Congressman told the Subcommittee of some of the artifacts that have been found in Minnesota, such as the Kensington Runestone near Alexandria and a Viking sword near Ulen.

PUBLIC OPINION

To The Editor:

May I say a word of praise to the Park Board for the nice job they do? They have been trimming the trees along the river bank by the First Street bridge and fill has been added to the east bank. It would be wonderful if the approaches to that bridge could be beautified, perhaps even a park make of the old mill yard before it disappears completely.

A historical park depicting some of the community's early history, uncovering the remains of the old saw mill or making a replica of the Indian thief after whom the town was named would make a tourist attraction for our city.

VISITING Minnesota dealers who sell Homelite chain saws last week was Gerry Van Der Werff, sales representative from Homelite's European branch in Amsterdam, Holland. Amsterdam serves as the central distribution point for the company and distributes to 15 countries in West Europe. Van Der Werff attended a training session at the firm's head office in Port Chester, N.Y. He is shown at right with Donald M. Olson (center), manager of the local Coast-to-Coast store, and Dave Tilton, sales representative from St. Paul, discussing a new model saw which will soon be placed on sale in Europe.

Prize of a Lifetime Contest Set March 18

Prizes valued at more than $3,500 — including an all-expense paid trip for two to Hawaii and $100 pocket money — will be offered to Thief River Falls Times readers next week with the appearance of the exciting new "Product of the Month — Prize of a Lifetime" supplement in the Times.

Appearing for the first time in any publication, the program is being pre-tested in 23 key Minnesota communities prior to statewide distribution this fall through more than 350 Minnesota weekly and small daily newspapers.

Sponsored locally by the Times and Thief River Falls retail merchants, this first two page, full color supplement will be distributed exclusively in this area in the March 18 Times and will be carried simultaneously by 22 other newspapers in the state. This is the largest single promotion ever undertaken jointly by the state's rural and suburban weekly newspapers in cooperation with their local retail merchants.

The supplement appearing March 18 will feature eight "Products of the Month" in redeemable coupon form. Each coupon will consist of two portions, one half offering real bargains on nationally-advertised brand products. The other portion, or stub, is a free registration blank for one of the 49 prizes offered.

Rules are amazingly simple. Coupons must be deposited in the official coupon boxes located in the stores featuring "Products of the Month" no later than April 11. Anyone may enter except participating publishers, their employees and immediate families. Only one prize will be awarded per family and cash will not be substituted for any prize awards. An independent judging firm will conduct the prize drawing immediately after the close of the program and winners will be announced in the Times.

The grand prize — an all-expense paid trip for two to Hawaii and the Reef Tower Hotel at Waikiki Beach for 10 days — must be completed by Dec. 31, 1964.

Fourth through seventh prizes are Helbros diamond wristwatches, a $150 value. Winners may have their choice of a man's (Hadley) or woman's (Oberon) model.

Prizes eight and nine are weekends for two at the fabulous Golden Steer Motor hostel in St. Paul, including dinner and cocktails. Six West Bend Fiesta-Perk electric coffee percolators, 10 Coleman miniature camp stoves and 23 fresh-frozen Minnesota turkeys and insulated picnic bags round out the prize list.

Area residents and shoppers are urged to look for the "Product of the Month—Prize of a Lifetime" Insert in the March 18 Times. Shoppers are urged to take advantage of the money-saving bargains offered and deposit coupons in the boxes provided in participating stores. One single ticket can make a winner out of any person who signs.

522 Deer and 140 Moose Counted on Refuge and State Management Areas

Annual inventory of big game animals was taken at Agassiz National Wildlife refuge and the adjoining Elm Lake and Eckvoll state wildlife management areas on February 26, according to Ralph Town, assistant refuge manager. Making the count from the air were pilot-biologist John Winship, and assistant managers Town and Dave Olsen.

Combined federal and state acreage of big game habitat totals approximately 76,800 acres or 120 square miles. A total of 522 deer and 140 moose were counted in the aerial survey.

No dead deer or moose were observed in the inventory, Town said. All deer and moose appeared to be in good condition. "With light snow cover and ample browse, the animals are wintering in excellent condition," he commented.

Respective total census for deer and Moose on the Agassiz refuge was 620 and 74 in 1960, 690 and 104 in 1961, 380 and 68 in 1962, 394 and 80 in 1963 and 392 and 100 in 1964.

Elm Lake and Eckvoll unit inventory showed the following respective deer and moose totals: 298 and 54 in 1960, 272 and 26 in 1961, 152 and 66 in 1962, 126 and 56 in 1963 and 130 and 40 in 1964.

Total deer and moose count respectively was 918 and 128 in 1960, 962 and 130 in 1961, 532 and 134 in 1962, 520 and 136 in 1963 and 522 and 140 in 1964.

NOTICE OF SALE
$350,000 Refunding Bonds
Independent School District No. 564
(Thief River Falls, Minnesota)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the School Board of Independent School District No. 564, Minnesota, will meet at the office of the Superintendent of Schools in the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on Wednesday, March 18, 1964, at 11:00 o'clock A.M., to open and consider sealed bids for, and award the sale of, $350,000 negotiable coupon, general obligation Refunding Bonds of the School District. The bonds will be dated as of April 1, 1964, and will be in bearer form, numbered consecutively. The bonds will be in the denomination of $1,000 or $5,000 each, whichever is designated by the purchaser within 48 hours after award of sale, and will bear interest at the rate or rates designated by the successful bidder, subject to the limitations stated below, payable on January 1, 1965, and semiannually thereafter on each July 1 and January 1. The bonds will mature in order of serial numbers on January 1 in the amount of $30,000 in each of the years 1966 through 1971, $35,000 in each of the years 1972 through 1981, and $20,000 in the year 1982. Bonds maturing in the years 1978 thru 1982 will each be subject to redemption and prepayment at the option of the District and in inverse order of serial numbers January 1, 1977, and any interest payment date thereafter, at par and accrued interest. The School District will furnish without cost to the purchaser and within 40 days after award of sale the printed, executed bonds and the unqualified legal opinion of Messrs. Dorsey, Owen, Marquart, Windhorst & West, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, together with the customary no-litigation certificate. The legal opinion will be printed on the bonds. The bonds will be delivered without cost to the purchaser anywhere in Minnesota or Chicago, Illinois; delivery elsewhere will be made at the expense of the purchaser. Principal of and interest on the bonds will be made payable at any suitable banking institution designated by the successful bidder within 48 hours after award of sale, subject to approval of the School Board, and the School District will pay reasonable and customary paying agency charges.

Sealed bids marked "Bid for $350,000 Refunding Bonds" may be mailed or delivered to the undersigned Clerk, and must be received prior to the time of said meeting. Each bid must be unconditional except as to legality, which may be conditioned upon the above mentioned legal opinion, and must be accompanied by a cashier's or certified check or bank draft in the amount of $11,000, payable to "School District Treasurer, Independent School District No. 564," to be forfeited as liquidated damages if the bid is accepted and the bidder shall fail to comply therewith. The bids must state a single, uniform basic rate of interest from date of issue to maturity for all bonds having a common maturity date. Not more than five such basic rates are to be specified, and the maturities of the bonds may be split not more than five ways for the purpose of designating such basic rates. Bids may also specify that some or all of the bonds shall bear additional interest, represented by supplemental or "B" coupons, for any portion of the term of the bonds, but such additional interest may not exceed $3,500 in total amount. Each interest rate, and any combination of rates applicable to any bond for any portion of its term, must be expressed in integral multiples of ¼ or 1/10 of 1%, and may not exceed 6% per annum. Bids will be compared on the basis of net interest cost (total interest from date of issue to stated maturity, less any premium). No oral bid, nor any bid of less than par and accrued interest to the date of bond delivery, will be considered. The School Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid.

Prowler Quint Wins District Title; Enters Regional Event

With center Bobby Olson truning in a 23-point performance to spearhead the offense, coach Jack Junker's Prowlers made a successful defense of their District 31 basketball title on Wednesday night by scoring a 54 to 29 win over the Crookston Central Pirates in the championship finals of the tournament played on the UND field house court.

On Tuesday, with the tip-off scheduled for 9:00 p.m. in the UND fieldhouse, the Prowlers, as champions of District 31, will meet the District 29 champion in a Region Eight first-round tournament game. At 7:30 p.m. the Region Eight tourney will be opened by a game between the representatives of District 30 and District 32. The winners of the Tuesday night's game will play for the Region Eight title on Wednesday night, with the tip-off billed for 9:00 p.m. The championship finals will be preceded by a consolation game between the losers of Tuesday night's first-round games.

In Wednesday night's championship tilt between the Prowlers and the Pirates, coach Al Droen's Crookston Central squad, with Dave Peterson looping four field goals into the east basket, raced away to an early 13 to 2 and 15 to 4 first-period lead. The Prowlers, refusing to wilt under the sharpshooting of the Pirates, began to chip away at the Crooston lead, and at the end of the period, the Pirates held a 17 to 11 advantage.

In the second period, with Mark Anderson pumping in a pair of field goals from the outside, and with Olson rolling in three field goals and a free throw, the Prowlers outpointed Crookston, 16 to 9, to gain a one-point lead, 27 to 26, at the intermission.

The Pirates, with guard Roger Parkin scoring on three field goals to lead the attack, gained a 39 to 34 lead late in the third period, but the Prowlers, on field goals by Olson, who drove in for a couple of layups, and a corner shot by Rich Nelson, came back to knot the game at 43-all at the period's end.

In the final period the Prowlers, outpointing the Pirates, 11 to 6, maintained control of the game, and late in the period, tring to overcome the Prowler lead, the Pirates were forced to commit fouls. The Prowlers failed to capitalize on the free-throw attempts, and the Pirates continued within reach of the Prowlers until the final minute of play when Olson, fouled in the act of shooting, made the second of his two free throw tries and boosted the Prowlers' winning point-spread to five points, 54 to 49.

RATED high in the opinion of Chet Anderson, wrestling coach at Bemidji State college, is Roger Wilson of Thief River Falls. Wilson, a former member of Coach Al Shaff's wrestling team at Lincoln high school, has won six, lost six and tied one in dual matches in the 120-pound division at the school. Last week he entered the 115-pound division of the Northern Intercollegiate conference tourney at Mankato State college. Coach Anderson say Wilson ". . . promises to be an excellent college wrestler."

Elementary Boys Invited to Join Wrestling Clinic

Practice Sessions Will End With Tournament For Grades 4, 5 and 6

Third annual elementary wrestling clinic and tournament begins tonight, March 9, in the small gym of Lincoln high school with sessions slated for every Monday, Wednesday and Friday for the next three weeks.

Grades 4, 5 and 6 will have boys participating in the school fundamentals and ends with a tournament. The only equipment required is a pair of tennis shoes and some rugged pants in which to practice.

Members of the wrestling coaching staff and 1964 varsity squad will be on hand to provide instruction. Safety factors are such that little chance of injury is possible.

One of the major factors is that the boys are divided into weight classes so boys are always wrestling against competitors of their own size. Ten weights are decided after a weigh-in of all boys.

Sessions will run from 4 to 5:30 p. m. on the three nights each week and the whole program ends with a tournament where every boy gets a chance to vie for honors in his own weight class. Over 100 boys have participated in the program in each of the two previous years and it has proven to be a popular program with elementary school officials.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Some Good Ones

There were a number of first-rate basketball players in action in last week's District 31 tournament at Grand Forks, and it's pretty certain that several of these boys will go on to college and become valuable members of some college team's roster.

Unfortunately, four of the eight teams in the tournament were eliminated in the first round, and the players on these four teams had only one game in which to show their basketball talents.

Some of the players who caused favorable comment by the sideline and locker-room "experts" were Tomy Bentrup of Fisher, Lon Szymanski of Goodridge, Mike Dudinsky of Alvarado, Ken Larson and Bob Olson of the Prowlers, Rich Hangslben of East Grand Forks, Bill Reimeler and Steve Erie of Crookston; and Warren's two southpaws, Paul Knutson and Peter Gilbert.

And, too, there were a pair of freshmen in action in the tournament and it's a cinch that they will be factors in District 31 play for the next three years. Kim Krostue, the bespectabled blond on the East Grand Forks squad, and who had the faculty of inspiring the Green Wave whenever he entered the game, will be standout for coach Larry Selk's And the Climax Vikings showed a capable guard in freshman Bill Keller, who will be around to provide coach Rich Halvorson with a playmaker for several years.

But it was the Prowlers' Bob Olson who monopolized the honors in Wednesday nights championship finals. Said Ed Bohnhoff, the former Grand Forks Central coach and now a commentator on KNOX radio. "Olson is perhaps the most under-rated player in the tournament. He is not a flashy type of a player, but he gets the job done, and he is very effective in maneuvering around the basket. He is a good boy to have on a team. And that's pretty true. Against East Grand Forks, in a tense semi-finals game, Babe came through with a field goal, after garnering a rebound, that gave the Prowlers' a five-point lead; and in the finals against Crookston, Bob finished off a Pirate threat by scoring a field goal in the final minute of play.

A Scoring Outburst

The other week I mentioned that Jack Quesnel, a member of the state hockey Champion Prowlers of 1954, was playing hockey with the University of Illinois Hockey club and competing with the Illini in the Tri-States league.

I have received a news clipping that enlarges upon the play of Quesnel with Illinois. In commenting on a game between Peoria and the Illini, and which was won by Peoria, 9 to 7, the item states "But through the work of center Jack Quesnell, whose scoring with every game, the Illini lessome Peoria lead. Easitly the outstanding player of the game again Quesnell beat the Peoria goalie with two goals in the first period within 20 seconds of each other, then added two more tallies in the second period and a final score in the third period.".

As I mentioned, Jack, who is a graduate of St. John's University, is attending Illinois U under the auspices of the U. S. Army.

A Long Tie

It will be nice to see the Middle River Skippers in Region Eight Tuesday evening when, at 7:30 p. m. they meet the Ada Vikings in a first-round game. Middle River won the District 32 title on Saturday night by defeating a stubborn Newfolden club, 54 to 50, in the finals of the tournaent held at Roseau. In meeting the Ada Vikings of District 30, the Skippers will be up against a squad that has posted a rearkable 23 wins and one loss record, and are rated, along with Bemidji as a Region Eight favorite.

And it has been a long time since the Skippers were in a Region Eight tournament. You will have to dig back into the records of the 1939 tournaent before you find Middle River in competition for the regional basketball title. And in that season the Skippers, coached by Larry Iten, reached the Region Eight finals, and dropped a 28 to 19 decision to the Prowlers, who were the defending state champions that year.

In first round tournament play that season (and the tourney was held at Fosston), Thief River Falls defeated Ada, 38 to 24; and Lumberjacks, winning by a 40 to 35 score. In the championship finals, the Prowlers, with all-state center Loren (Bones) Stadum turning in a strong game, were held on even terms until the second half when coach John Lindenmeger's squad was able to build up a "cushion". The score at the end of the first period was in a 4-all knot; at the intermission the Prowlers held a 11 to 9 advantage, and were ahead, 19 to 15, entering the final period.

I've mentioned this before, but that Middle River lineup, which averaged at better than six feet in height per player and with the player weight averages at a 160-pounds plus, was unique in that the first name of the five players who were coach Iten's starters began with an R—Richard Luoto, Rodney Hallquist, Roger Isaacson, Robert Carriere, and Raymond Maljala.

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Regional Tourney Starts Tuesday

The Region Eight high school basketball tournament—the 40th annual tournament—will begin play on the Fielhouse court on the UND campus in Grand Forks on Tuesday night, March 10. The first-round pairings will find the Ada Vikings of District 30 meeting the Middle River Skippers of District 32 at 7:30 p. m.; and the Thief River Falls Prowlers of District 31 playing the defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks of District 29 at 9:00 p. m.
